Ang, 1999-12-14 This book looks at the changing shape of children's literature in English from the eighteenth to the twentieth century In particular it examines the dialect between enclosure and exposure control and freedom of both fictional child and child reader how the balance of these forces has altered over time and the possible reasons for these changes It also looks at the representation of the child in the English novel from the 1830s to the 1860s the period preceding the publication of Alice in Wonderland the first major work of literature for children and the influence of such representation in later children's books Writers as well known as Lewis Carroll Louisa M Alcott Rudyard Kipling and Charlotte Bront are examined in the course of this work but this study also considers works which have been unfairly neglected till now and which deserve to be better known this list includes the Marlow series by Antonia Forest Jane Gardam's Bilgewater and Henry Handel Richardson's The Getting of Wisdom A Guide for Using Summer of the Swans in the Classroom Jane S.
