Liberatores Women:

Women's Football in a Global, Professional Era Alex Culvin, Ali Bowes, 2023-03-09 Women's Football in a Global Professional Era is an important addition to discussions on sport as work for women and an essential reference point for students, researchers and sports professionals interested in the debates around the professionalisation of women's football internationally

Whitetail Liberator R. Cameron Riley, 2015-11-13 DVaunte Rocket Liberator lives at the end of the law enforcement food chain as a low level private investigator. His is a life of cheating spouses, thieving family members and runaway teens. However, he has successfully used his career to avoid his personal battles with drugs, sex, violence and even his own irresistible charm. When he returns to his native Whitetail Village to memorialize his deceased mother, Rocket makes a choice to cash in on his biggest payday opportunity yet. Things soon spin out of control though as his new investigation puts him in the crosshairs of homicide detectives and drug dealers. A fire fight explodes on the quiet streets of his childhood. Rocket's actions soon get people killed including a childhood friend and even an assassin. He can't turn his back and run at the risk of losing more of the people he loves. Instead, he independently takes on the bad guys in a desperate attempt to liberate the innocent from a world of vengeful sociopaths and self-righteous policemen

Women's Club Football in Brazil and Colombia Mark Biram, 2024-01-15 The first women's football book on Latin America centring the perspectives of players brings rare interview material that cuts through the clichés to uncover the lived reality of women footballers. It includes the first large scale survey of South American women footballers' views into dialogue with institutional and media perspectives. The early chapters consider the backdrop Latin American women footballers operate in: a media and institutional panorama that privileges a heteronormative athletic femininity whilst ensuring women's football is never portrayed as anything other than an inferior version of the hegemonic men's game. Following this, drawing on nine months of ethnographic fieldwork in which 33 semi-structured interviews were carried out with players and institutional figures, this pioneering book foregrounds the lived reality of women's football in three strategic locations. Firstly, three months were spent in the Amazon region of Brazil where Esporte Clube Iranduba provides a fascinating alternative model for the growth of women's football. This is contrasted with Santos FC where women's football tends to be constantly overshadowed by the presence of banal patriarchy and finally with another fleeting glimpse of how another model is possible at Atlético Huila of Colombia, the surprise winner of the women's Copa Libertadores in 2018

Muslim Women and Agency: an Australian Context Ghena Krayem, Susan Carland, 2021-11-01 Muslim women's freedom or assumed lack thereof has long been a Western obsession. Almost never do we ask what does agency look like to Muslim women? Who or what do they think constrains them and how do they challenge that? Focussing on the little researched area of the Australian Muslim community, this book brings together for the first time diverse accounts from Australian Muslim researchers, leaders and community workers to interrogate how Muslim women understand experience and fight for agency. Academic and activist, personal and political, this ground breaking book features Stories of Female Explorers and Adventurers Danielle Thorne, 2019-12-30 In Hidden in History: The Untold Stories of Female Explorers and Adventurers, travel the globe and history. While it's fairly common to have women researchers, pilots, and captains in the 21st century, this was not always the case. Exploring and adventuring, even in the name of science and research, were privileged activities reserved solely for men. But some women just couldn't stay put, even when faced with the harsh resistance of those who favored the norm. These women broke with convention and trekked into the unknown, paving the way for women of today to seek adventure as they see fit. In 1766, Jeanne Baret performed botanical research as she made a complete voyage around the world, making her the first woman ever recorded to do so. Marguerite Hay Drummond Hay became the first woman to circumnavigate the globe from the sky when she flew around the world in a zeppelin prior to World War II. Louise Arner Boyd traveled to the Arctic in 1926, a hard journey even in modern times. Now we have women like Sylvia Earle, a world-renowned oceanographer and the first woman to walk on the ocean floor, and Barbara Hillary, the first woman of color to travel to both the North and the South Pole. With this installment in the Hidden in History series, readers can explore for themselves the exciting stories, harrowing adventures, and meaningful research conducted by these daring women. No longer forgotten in the past, the adventurous women of yesterday can once again inspire tomorrow's explorers to chart their own expeditions into the great unknown.

'Muslim Woman'/Muslim women Patricia Jeffery, Kaveri Qureshi, 2024-11-25 This book addresses South Asian Muslim women's lived experiences whilst questioning dominant concepts of agency. Negative homogenising constructions of the Muslim Woman are not the result of a knowledge deficit but constitutive of Euro American and Hindu nationalist forms of civilizational self-assurance. Portraying the richness and diversity of Muslim women's voices and agency cannot therefore rectify discourses casting Muslim women as invisible or silent so long as the vision of agency is shackled to dominant feminist precepts. Mindful of this problem, the book examines Muslim women's legal agency with respect to the family, their claims-making upon the state, livelihoods, and the impact of male outmigration on left-behind wives. Working across these domains of everyday life, contributors highlight how women's vulnerabilities within their families dovetail with oppressions experienced in the local state, the labour market, and in the streets. Women's economic locations continue to shape their agency in crucial ways, with upward mobility often entailing greater restrictions on women's mobility and independence, yet the chapters caution against romanticising the ironic independence of poverty. Collectively, this volume showcases Muslim women's diverse identities and desires that may be sidelined in dominant concepts of agency. This book will be beneficial for scholars and students of South Asian Studies interested in gender justice, politics, and the intersection of religion, culture, and identity. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Contemporary South Asia.

Leadership, Authority and Representation in British Muslim Communities Sophie Gilliat-Ray,Riyaz Timol,2021-01-26 The contributions explore Muslim religious leadership in multiple forms and settings While traditional authority is usually correlated with theology and piety as in the case of classically trained ulema the public advocacy of Muslim community concerns is often headed by those with professionalized skillsets and civic experience In an increasingly digital world both women and men exercise leadership in novel ways and sites of authority are refracted from traditional loci such as mosques and seminaries to new and unexpected places This collection provides systematic focus on a topic that has hitherto been given rather diffuse consideration It complements historical work on community leadership as well as more contemporary discussion on the training and role of Islamic religious authorities It will be of interest to scholars in Religious Studies Sociology Political Science History and Islamic Studies

Islam and the Liberal State Stephen H. Jones, 2020-11-26 National identity and liberal democracy are recurrent themes in debates about Muslim minorities in the West Britain is no exception with politicians responding to claims about Muslims lack of integration by mandating the promotion of fundamental British values including democracy and individual liberty This book engages with both these themes addressing the lack of understanding about the character of British Islam and its relationship to the liberal state It charts a gradual but decisive shift in British institutions concerned with Islamic education Islamic law and Muslim representation since Muslims settled in the UK in large numbers in the 1950s Based on empirical research including interviews undertaken over a ten year period with Muslims and analysis of public events organized by Islamic institutions Stephen Jones challenges claims about the isolation of British Islamic organizations and shows that they have decisively shaped themselves around British public and institutional norms He argues that this amounts to the building of a distinctive British Islam Using this narrative the book makes the case for a variety of liberalism that is open to the expression of religious arguments in public and to associations between religious groups and the state It also offers a powerful challenge to claims about the insularity of British Islamic institutions by showing how the national orientation of Islam called for by British policymakers is in fact already happening

Driving Identities Ken McLeod, 2020-04-30 Driving Identities examines long standing connections between popular music and the automotive industry and how this relationship has helped to construct and reflect various socio cultural identities It also challenges common assumptions regarding the divergences between industry and art and reveals how music and sound are used to suture the putative divide between human and non human This book is a ground breaking inquiry into the relationship between popular music and automobiles and into the mutual aesthetic and stylistic influences that have historically left their mark on both industries Shaped by new historicism and cultural criticism and by methodologies adapted from gender LGBTQ and African American studies it makes an important contribution to understanding the complex and interconnected nature of identity and cultural formation In its interdisciplinary approach melding aspects of ethnomusicology sociology sound studies and business studies it pushes musicological scholarship into a new consideration and awareness of the complexity of identity construction and of influences that inform our musical culture The volume also provides analyses of the confluences and coactions of popular music and automotive products to highlight the mutual influences on their respective aesthetic and technical evolutions Driving Identities is aimed at both academics and enthusiasts of automotive culture popular music and cultural studies in general It is accompanied by an extensive online database appendix of car themed pop recordings and sheet music searchable by year artist and title
