Liberty Equality And The Law Selected Tanner Lectures On Moral Philosophy:

Liberty, Equality, and Law John Rawls, 1987 Selected Tanner lectures on moral philosophy T p Speaking of Equality P. Westen, 2014-07-14 Aristotle noted that equality is the plea not of those who are satisfied but of those who seek change and the word has long been invoked in the name of social reform It retains its force because arguments for equality put arguments for inequality on the defensive But why is equality laudatory and inequality pejorative In this first book length analysis of the rhetorical force of equality arguments Peter Westen argues that they derive their persuasiveness largely from the kind of word that equality is rather than from the values it incorporates By focusing on ordinary language and using commonplace examples from law and morals Westen argues that equality is a single concept that lends itself to a multiplicity of conceptions by virtue of its capacity to incorporate diverse standards of comparison by reference Equality arguments draw rhetorical force in part from their tendency to mask the standards of comparison on which they are based and in so doing to confound fact with value premises with conclusions and uncontested with contested norms Originally published in 1990 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Moral Perspectives Kim Chong Chong, 1992 While interdisciplinary work on morality has largely been confined to a dialogue between psychologists and philosophers on the one hand and economists and philosophers on the other this volume brings together papers from a wider field than is usual in looking at the nature of morality Three of these are about moral education three others discuss the relation between morality on the one hand and law economics and psychiatry on the other two more are concerned with relativism and the role of the personal in morality Those with an academic interest in the subject of morality as well as lawyers psychologists educationalists and other general readers should find the contents of this book interesting and thought provoking Nussbaum and Law Robin West, 2017-07-05 The essays collected in this volume reflect the profound impact of Martha Nussbaum's philosophical writings on law and legal scholarship The capabilities approach that she has largely authored has influenced the approach scholars take to the law of disabilities both in the United States and in Canada as well as to international human rights and to domestic private law's protections of vulnerable populations Her analyses of the relationship between our emotions and our thought and action has triggered a re-assessment of the legal regulation and recognition of emotion in a range of fields most particularly in the field of criminal law and her writing on the nature of dignity has informed an understanding of the emerging civil rights of gay and lesbian citizens worldwide Our appreciation of the role of narrative in legal thought and discourse and the contributions of literature to law and legal culture have also been broadened and deepened by her contributions Taken together and including the introduction by the editor the essays collected in this volume demonstrate the far reaching impact of Nussbaum s philosophical oeuvre The Political Philosophy of Needs Lawrence A.

Hamilton,2003-08-14 This ambitious and lively book argues for a rehabilitation of the concept of human needs as central to politics and political theory Contemporary political philosophy has focused on issues of justice and welfare to the exclusion of the important issues of political participation democratic sovereignty and the satisfaction of human needs and this has had a deleterious effect on political practice Lawrence Hamilton develops a compelling positive conception of human needs the evaluation of needs must be located within a more general analysis of institutions but can in turn help to justify forms of coercive authority that are directed toward the transformation of political and social institutions and practices His argument is animated throughout by provocative and original discussions of topics such as autonomy recognition rights civil society liberalism and democracy and will interest a wide range of readers in political and social philosophy political theory law development and policy The Death and Life of the Urban Commonwealth Margaret Kohn,2016-09-21 The city is a paradoxical space in theory belonging to everyone in practice inaccessible to people who cannot afford the high price of urban real estate Within these urban spaces are public and social goods including roads policing transit public education and culture all of which have been created through multiple hands and generations but that are effectively only for the use of those able to acquire private property Why should this be the case As Margaret Kohn argues when people lose access to the urban commons they are dispossessed of something to which they have a rightful claim the right to the city Political theory has much to say about individual rights equality and redistribution but it has largely ignored the city In response Kohn turns to a mostly forgotten political theory called solidarism to interpret the city as a form of common wealth In this view the city is a concentration of value created by past generations and current residents streets squares community centers schools and local churches Although the legal title to these mixed spaces includes a patchwork of corporate private and public ownership if we think of the spaces as the common wealth of many actors the creation of a new framework of value becomes possible Through its novel mix of political and urban theory The Death and Life of the Urban Commonwealth proposes a productive way to rethink struggles over gentrification public housing transit and public space On Human Rights James

Griffin,2008-02-14 What is a human right How can we tell whether a proposed human right really is one How do we establish the content of particular human rights and how do we resolve conflicts between them These are pressing questions for philosophers political theorists jurists international lawyers and activists James Griffin offers answers in his compelling new investigation of the foundations of human rights First On Human Rights traces the idea of a natural right from its origin in the late Middle Ages when the rights were seen as deriving from natural laws through the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries when the original theological background was progressively dropped and natural law emptied of most of its original meaning By the end of the Enlightenment the term human rights droits de l homme appeared marking the purge of the theological background But the Enlightenment in putting nothing in its place left us with an unsatisfactory incomplete idea of a human right Griffin shows how the language of human rights has become debased There are scarcely any accepted criteria either in the academic or the public sphere for correct use of the term He takes on the task of showing the way towards a determinate concept of human rights based on their relation to the human status that we all share He works from certain paradigm cases such as freedom of expression and freedom of worship to more disputed cases such as welfare rights for instance the idea of a human right to health His goal is a substantive account of human rights an account with enough content to tell us whether proposed rights really are rights Griffin emphasizes the practical as well as theoretical urgency of this goal as the United Nations recognized in 1948 with its Universal Declaration the idea of human rights has considerable power to improve the lot of humanity around the world We can't do without the idea of human rights and we need to get clear about it It is our job now the job of this book to influence and develop the unsettled discourse of human rights so as to complete the incomplete idea

Liberal Rights Jeremy Waldron, 1993-03-26 9 Rights in conflict

Spiritual and Religious Education Mal Leicester, Sohan Modgil, 2005-07-15 Volume V distinguishes religious and spiritual education and takes a multi-faith approach to pedagogic curricular and resource issues The important area of collective worship is also addressed

Interpreting Censorship in Canada Allan C. Hutchinson, Klaus Petersen, 1999-01-01 Socially organized activity cannot occur without censorship Going beyond ideological arguments this collection of essays explores the extent of censorship in Canada today the forms censorship takes and the interests it serves

Ethical Deliberation in Multiprofessional Health Care Teams Saint Paul University (Ottawa, Ont.). Centre for Techno-Ethics, 2001 This study analyzes both pragmatic and theoretical perspectives of ethical deliberation as well as the professional and philosophical backgrounds for the ethical deliberation of social workers nurses and doctors working in the field of chronic illness In doing so this volume expands the scope of current research through an analysis of the process and its dynamics Published in English

Restoring Humane Values to Medicine John Miles Little, 2003 Does reading poetry make you a better clinician Can euthanasia be understood in terms of the meaning of a life What is the moral and existential significance of life threatening experiences Australian surgeon poet philosopher and humanist Miles Little addresses these and other fascinating questions in this collection of papers Miles Little is one of the most original and engaging voices in contemporary medical ethics and philosophy He ranges across the sciences and the humanities creating hybrid fields of inquiry ethnomics interrogating orthodoxies and engaging different fields of human knowledge and experience The papers in this collection were chosen by his readers who also engage here with Miles Little's work in a short commentary that follows each paper The range of the commentators reflects the breadth of Little's appeal and influence academics and clinicians philosophers and ethicists novelists public health practitioners and cancer survivors each reflects agrees or disagrees Like Little's work itself this Reader is an open and unfolding dialogue that includes many different perspectives Commentators include Murray Bail

Robin Downie Nancy Dubler Stan Goulston Jill Gordon Paul Komesaroff Steve Leeder Paul McNeill Gavin Mooney and Bernadette Tobin     Climate Change and the Moral Agent Elizabeth Cripps,2013-03-28 Climate Change and the Moral Agent examines the moral foundations of climate change and makes a case for collective action on climate change by appealing to moralized collective self interest collective ability to aid and an expanded understanding of collective responsibility for harm     Justice for an Unjust Society H.P.P. (Hennie) Lötter,2021-11-01 This book presents a theory of justice whereby people living in radically unjust societies may transform such societies in the direction of justice The identification of injustice is addressed since a radically unjust society may well conceal its injustice from its victims The book considers a range of moral and pragmatic requirements of political action in the transformation of society A special feature of this work of theory is that it is illustrated by troubling examples drawn from the history of South Africa The case made here is that justice is not just for just societies It is for all of us everywhere     The Science of Dignity Steven Hitlin,Matthew A. Andersson,2023 In the twenty first century each life in a democratic society is considered sacred at least abstractly Yet from calls for social justice to worker layoffs and strikes to conversations about the effects of cyberbullying and cancel culture it has become essentially impossible for a person in America to avoid thinking about their social relationships and how those relationships might be different or better     Values and Education ,2021-10-25 This book brings together eighteen essays on education and matters of evaluative concern to which it gives rise The essays range from discussions of basic issues on the nature of education and the importance of its two sides teaching and learning to practical issues that bear on curricular development Several of the authors focus on liberal education and its place in a liberal state Some authors take up the topic of moral education while others examine the notion of multicultural education Broad social issues of educational opportunity and affirmative action are also considered A number of authors speak to educational reforms and conditions in particular countries including Italy Canada and the United States For anyone with an interest in formal education or a love of life long learning the essays in this book offer fresh ideas for reflection     The Future of Economic and Social Rights Katharine G. Young,2019-04-11 Captures significant transformations in the theory and practice of economic and social rights in constitutional and human rights law     Rationality and Freedom Amartya Sen,2002 Rationality and freedom are among the most profound and contentious concepts in philosophy and the social sciences In this the first of two volumes Amartya Sen brings clarity and insight to these difficult issues     Liberalism: Rights, property and markets G. W. Smith,2002 Encompassing the relationship between the state and the individual society and the individual the nature of freedom and the concept of the person this four volume set covers the main tenets of the liberal tradition The collection includes material from the rich background and history of classical writings and also emphasizes modern scholarship and contemporary issues Fully indexed and including a new introduction by the editor this is an invaluable reference tool for both researchers and students in the field     A New Deal for the World Elizabeth Borgwardt,2007-09-30 In a work of sweeping scope and luminous detail Elizabeth Borgwardt describes how a cadre of World War II American planners inaugurated the ideas and institutions that underlie our modern international human rights regime Borgwardt finds the key in the 1941 Atlantic Charter and its Anglo American vision of war and peace aims
