Life And Death In Nature:

The Nature of Life and Death Patricia Wiltshire, 2020-09-01 From the Queen of Forensic Science The Wall Street Journal comes a riveting blend of nature writing and true crime narrative that explores the often shocking cases of a trailblazing scientist and investigator From mud tracks on a quiet country road to dirt specks on the soles of walking boots forensic ecologist Patricia Wiltshire uses her decades of scientific expertise to find often overlooked clues left behind by criminal activity She detects evidence and eliminates hypotheses armed with little more than a microscope eventually developing a compelling thesis of the who what how and when of a crime Wiltshire s remarkable accuracy has made her one of the most in demand police consultants in the world and her curiosity humility and passion for the truth have guided her every step of the way A riveting blend of science writing and true crime narrative The Nature of Life and Death details Wiltshire s unique journey from college professor to crime fighter solving murders locating corpses and exonerating the falsely accused Along the way she introduces us to the unseen world all around us and underneath our feet plants animals pollen spores fungi and microbes that we move through every day Her story is a testament to the power of persistence and reveals how our relationship with the vast natural world reaches far deeper than we might think Death and Life of Nature in Asian Cities Anne Rademacher, K. Sivaramakrishnan, 2021-09-10 Death and Life of Nature in Asian Cities explores the encounter between two processes that are unfolding in diverse patterns across Asia the rapid urbanization of Asia across big cities smaller towns and the newest urban concentrations and the contentious debates and novel schemes by which nature is figured and emplaced in cities and their conurbations Contemporary Asian cities displace nature by causing its death and withering but also embrace it through acts of renewal and the pursuit of sustainability Contributors in this volume gather case studies from across Asia to address projects of urban greening and reimagining nature in urban life The book illustrates how the intersection of urban growth and urban nature is a place rich with fresh ideas about urban planning governance and social life This book illuminates a continuing process of discovery and regeneration through which urban natures may well be moving from taken for granted infrastructures to more consciously experienced sites of interplay between non human life and materials and daily human life experiences Debates and efforts to recover nature in the city provoke moral and ethical evaluations of the human ecology of city life and direct ecologies of urbanism into new avenues like aesthetics care perception and stewardship This fascinating collection of essays brings together a series of cutting edge insights into Asian cities caught in the maelstrom of global environmental change A particular strength of this book is its commitment to forms of interdisciplinary dialogue and conceptual engagement that unsettle existing geographies of knowledge Matthew Gandy University of Cambridge author of Natura Urbana Ecological Constellations in Urban Space This impressive collection on urban ecologies moves beyond the anthropocentric city to expand our understanding of cities as multispecies spaces of active collaboration decay and regeneration offering new possibilities for the flourishing of urban life both human and non human

Making Sense of Life and Death, The complaint or Night-thoughts on life, death, and immortality Edward Young, 1860 Death of an Exquisite Nature Maggie Stephens-Dykes, 2018-05-09 Youve heard it many times before nothing is for certain but death and taxes Even though the end of life eventually comes for us all that doesnt mean death is a topic everyone is eager to discuss For nearly a year Maggie chronicled the ebb and flow of her sadness about the slow pace of mourning and how her life was reclaimed through journaling after the deaths of her sister and mother in law In this riveting account she poignantly embraces her range of emotions as she grapples with the enigma of death Death of an Exquisite Nature reflects on Maggies plight to overcome her feelings of worries fears and frustrations after the fact The book introduces the reader to many of the curiosities that the D word has to offer Although death isnt a topic easily discussed theres humor to be found in the book to help the reader as they proceed Raw: Architectural Engagements with Nature Solveig Bøe, Hege Charlotte Faber, 2016-04-08 Through cross disciplinary explorations of and engagements with nature as a forming part of architecture this volume sheds light on the concepts of both nature and architecture Nature is examined in a raw intermediary state where it is noticeable as nature despite but at the same time through man s effort at creating form This is done by approaching nature from the perspective of architecture understood not only as concrete buildings but as a fundamental human way both of being in and relating to the world Man finds and forms places where life may take place Consequently architecture may be understood as ranging from the simple mark on the ground and primitive enclosure to the contemporary megalopolis Nature inheres in many aesthetic forms of expression In architecture however nature emerges with a particular power and clarity which makes architecture a raw kind of art Even though other forms of art as well as aesthetic phenomena outside the arts are addressed the analogy to architecture will be evident and important Thus by using the concept of raw as a focal point this book provides new approaches to architecture in a broad sense as well as other aesthetic and artistic practices and will be of interest to readers from different fields of the arts and humanities spanning from philosophy and theology to history of art architecture and music Nature and Life Robert Collyer, 1867
