Dennett,2004-01-27 Can there be freedom and free will in a deterministic world Renowned philosopher Daniel Dennett emphatically answers yes Using an array of provocative formulations Dennett sets out to show how we alone among the animals have evolved minds that give us free will and morality Weaving a richly detailed narrative Dennett explains in a series of strikingly original arguments drawing upon evolutionary biology cognitive neuroscience economics and philosophy that far from being an enemy of traditional explorations of freedom morality and meaning the evolutionary perspective can be an indispensable ally In Freedom Evolves Dennett seeks to place ethics on the foundation it deserves a realistic naturalistic potentially unified vision of our place in nature Food and Faith Norman Wirzba,2019 Provides a comprehensive theological framework in which good eating contributes to the healing of communities and the world Apocalyptic California MaryKate Messimer,2023-04-25 This book explores concepts of environmentalism and feminism in science fiction novels written by women By extrapolating the future of climate change the authors of these texts model how readers can apply utopian feminist and environmental theories in their own lives Chapter One establishes an understanding of ecofeminist environmental thinking through original research conducted at the Ursula K Le Guin archive at the University of Oregon Chapter Two shows an example of climate change dystopia set in California in Claire Vaye Watkins novel Gold Fame Citrus The final chapters explore utopian visions of queer ecologies in books by Octavia Butler and N K Jemisin Because climate change is so difficult for individuals to grapple with a new perspective is needed to survive it The queer ecological philosophy in these novels points to a way of life that can reduce environmental harm in an era of climate change The Emergence of Subjectivity in the Ancient and Medieval World Jon Stewart,2020-03-24 The Emergence of Subjectivity in the Ancient and Medieval World An Interpretation of Western Civilization represents a combination of different genres cultural history philosophical anthropology and textbook It follows a handful of different but interrelated themes through more than a dozen texts that were written over a period of several millennia and by means of an analysis of these texts presents a theory of the development of Western civilization from antiquity to the Middle Ages The main line of argument traces the various self conceptions of different cultures as they developed historically reflecting different views of what it is to be human The thesis of the volume is that through examination of these changes we can discern the gradual emergence of what we today call inwardness subjectivity and individual freedom As human civilization took its first tenuous steps it had a very limited conception of the individual Instead the dominant principle was that of the wider group the family clan or people Only in the course of history did the idea of what we now know as individuality begin to emerge and it took millennia for this idea to be fully recognized and developed The conception of human beings as having a sphere of inwardness and subjectivity subsequently had a sweeping impact on all aspects of culture including philosophy religion law and art indeed this notion largely constitutes what is today referred to as modernity It is easy to lose sight of the fact that this modern conception of human subjectivity was not simply something given but rather the result of a long process of historical and cultural development The Routledge Handbook of Identity and the Environment in the Classical and Medieval Worlds Rebecca Futo Kennedy, Molly Jones-Lewis, 2016-01-08 The Routledge Handbook of Identity and the Environment in the Classical and Medieval Worlds explores how environment was thought to shape ethnicity and identity discussing developments in early natural philosophy and historical ethnographies Defining environment broadly to include not only physical but also cultural environments natural and constructed the volume considers the multifarious ways in which environment was understood to shape the culture and physical characteristics of peoples as well as how the ancients manipulated their environments to achieve a desired identity This diverse collection includes studies not only of the Greco Roman world but also ancient China and the European Jewish and Arab inheritors and transmitters of classical thought In recent years work in this subject has been confined mostly to the discussion of texts that reflect an approach to the barbarian as other The Routledge Handbook of Identity and the Environment in the Classical and Medieval Worlds takes the discussion of ethnicity on a fresh course contextualising the concept of the barbarian within rational discourses such as cartography medicine and mathematical sciences an approach that allows us to more clearly discern the varied and nuanced approaches to ethnic identity which abounded in antiquity The innovative and thought provoking material in this volume realises new directions in the study of identity in the Classical and Medieval worlds
