Form And Meaning In Word Formation A Study Of Afrikaans Reduplication:

Form and Meaning in Word Formation Rudolf P. Botha, 2006-04-27 This study of reduplication in Afrikaans provides a unified and principled analysis of an unusual and highly complex word formation process shedding new light on the scope and content of various fundamental lexicalist principles of word formation      Morphology Peter Hugoe Matthews, 1991-10-17 Originally published in 1974 this updated and substantially revised edition includes chapters on inflectional and lexical morphology derivational processes and productivity compounds paradigms and much new material on markedness and other aspects of iconicity      Word-Formation Peter O. Müller, Ingeborg Ohnheiser, Susan Olsen, Franz Rainer, 2015-03-30 This handbook comprises an in depth presentation of the state of the art in word formation The five volumes contain 207 articles written by leading international scholars The XVI chapters of the handbook provide the reader in both general articles and individual studies with a wide variety of perspectives word formation as a linguistic discipline history of science theoretical concepts units and processes in word formation rules and restrictions semantics and pragmatics foreign word formation language planning and purism historical word formation word formation in language acquisition and aphasia word formation and language use tools in word formation research The final chapter comprises 74 portraits of word formation in the individual languages of Europe and offers an innovative perspective These portraits afford the first overview of this kind and will prove useful for future typological research This handbook will provide an essential reference for both advanced students and researchers in word formation and related fields within linguistics

Reduplication at the Word Level Haritini Kallergi, 2015-07-24 Contrary to earlier approaches this study suggests that Modern Greek MG is a language that exhibits reduplication in the form of Total Reduplication TR The analysis addresses the morphosyntactic phonological semantic and pragmatic aspects of the types of TR in MG and the constraints and or preferences of speakers concerning their use The typology of TR focuses on four cross linguistically common meanings functions identified as the intensive the contrastive the distributive and the iterative Part of the analysis of these functional types is based on data that come from two experiments with native speakers the one confirms or refines earlier assumptions on to the relation of the above meanings functions with word classes and semantic features of words the other clarifies the idea of prosodic unity in TR and sheds light into various aspects of the relation of intonation with the interpretation of TR constructions Also the formal and lexical constraints on the use of TR are discussed with respect to the status of TR particularly the grammatical lexical opposition In general TR seems to be a borderline case between grammar and the lexicon and a heterogeneous category in that it involves grammatical pragmatic and lexical construction types However the constructions in question meet highly specific criteria for their status as TR types and the process is productive and considerably regularized rule governed in MG In this sense TR should not be merely taken as a strategy for emphasis but should be systematically represented in grammar textbooks      Types of Reduplication Veronika Mattes, 2014-08-19 The book systematically discusses the formal and functional properties as well as the rules of the manifold productive reduplication types of Bikol an Austronesian language of the Philippines Based on the author s own fieldwork this case study demonstrates the highly complex and grammaticized status of reduplication In addition the formal and semantic properties of unproductive reduplicative forms of the language are also investigated Creole Languages and Linguistic Typology

Parth Bhatt,Tonjes Veenstra,2013-12-15 It is generally assumed that Creole languages form a separate category from the rest of the world s languages The papers in this volume written by internationally renowned scholars in the field of Creole studies seek to explore more deeply this commonly held assumption by comparing the linguistic properties of specific Creole languages to each other and also to non Creole languages Using a variety of methodological and analytical approaches the contributions to this volume show that the linguistic classification of Creole languages continues to be a topic of intense debate that requires the re examination of the premises of linguistic typology What is the linguistic motivation for considering that languages are related or unrelated How and why do common linguistic properties arise Are Creoles indeed exceptional This volume examines these questions and provides a strong foundation for continued research into the phonological morphological syntactic and semantic features found in Creole languages Most of these articles were previously published in the Journal of Pidgin and Creole Languages 26 1 2011 The article by Jeff Good was previously published in the Journal of Pidgin and Creole Languages 27 1 2012 Handbook of Word-Formation Pavol Štekauer,Rochelle

Lieber,2006-03-30 This is the most comprehensive book to date on word formation in terms of scope of topics schools and theoretical positions All contributions were written by the leading scholars in their respective areas Exact Repetition in Grammar and Discourse Rita Finkbeiner,Ulrike Freywald,2018-09-24 Most scholars define reduplication as a formally restricted grammatical process neatly distinguishing it from mere repetition as a discursal option However there is a fuzzy grey area between the two processes that has rarely been explored so far In this timely collection the phenomenon of exact repetition understood broadly as the systematic iteration of one and the same linguistic item within relatively close syntactic proximity is investigated from a number of angles The volume contains studies from phonology morphology syntax semantics and pragmatics and deals with a broad range of languages including alleged reduplication avoiders In bringing together different theoretical perspectives phenomenological domains and methodologies and in linking the fields of syntax and discourse to those of morphology and morphophonology the volume provides new insights into the structure and meaning of exact repetition phenomena and more generally into their status within a theory of language The collection will appeal to formally and functionally oriented scholars from all subfields of linguistics including typology The Oxford Handbook of Morphological Theory Jenny Audring,Francesca Masini,2019 This volume is the first handbook devoted entirely to the multitude of frameworks adopted in the field of morphology It offers critical discussions of the main theoretical issues in word formation and inflection a detailed guide to each morphological theory and explorations into the relationship between morphological theory and other fields      Studies on Reduplication Bernhard Hurch, 2005 The series is a platform for contributions of all kinds to this rapidly developing field General problems are studied from the perspective of individual languages language families language groups or language samples Conclusions are the result of a deepened study of empirical data Special emphasis is given to little known languages whose analysis may shed new light on long standing problems in general linguistics      Concise Encyclopedia of Languages of the World, 2010-04-06 Concise Encyclopedia of Languages of the World is an authoritative single volume reference resource comprehensively describing the major languages and language families of the world It will provide full descriptions of the phonology semantics morphology and syntax of the world's major languages giving insights into their structure history and development sounds meaning structure and language family thereby both highlighting their diversity for comparative study and contextualizing them according to their genetic relationships and regional distribution Based on the highly acclaimed and award winning Encyclopedia of Language and Linguistics this volume will provide an edited collection of almost 400 articles throughout which a representative subset of the world's major languages are unfolded and explained in up to date terminology and authoritative interpretation by the leading scholars in linguistics In highlighting the diversity of the world's languages from the thriving to the endangered and extinct this work will be the first point of call to any language expert interested in this huge area No other single volume will match the extent of language coverage or the authority of the contributors of Concise Encyclopedia of Languages of the World Extraordinary breadth of coverage a comprehensive selection of just under 400 articles covering the world's major languages language families and classification structures issues and dispute Peerless quality based on 20 years of academic development on two editions of the leading reference resource in linguistics Encyclopedia of Language and Linguistics Unique authorship 350 of the world's leading experts brought together for one purpose Exceptional editorial selection review and validation process Keith Brown and Sarah Ogilvie act as first tier guarantors for article quality and coverage Compact and affordable one volume format makes this suitable for personal study at any institution interested in areal descriptive or comparative language study and at a fraction of the cost of the full encyclopedia      Iconic Investigations Lars Elleström, Olga Fischer, Christina Ljungberg, 2013 The contributions to Iconic Investigations deal with linguistic or literary aspects of language While some studies analyze the cognitive structures of language others pay close attention to the sounds of spoken language and the visual characteristics of written language In addition this volume also contains studies of media types such as music and visual images that are integrated into the overall project to deepen the understanding of iconicity the creation of meaning by way of similarity relations Iconicity is a fundamental but relatively unexplored part of signification in language and other media types During the last decades the study of iconicity has emerged as a vital research area with far reaching interdisciplinary scope and the volume should be of interest for students and researchers interested in scholarly fields such as semiotics cognitive linguistics conceptual metaphor studies poetry intermediality and multimodality

Exploring Intensification Maria Napoli, Miriam Ravetto, 2017-09-30 This book is the first collective volume specifically devoted to the multifaceted phenomenon of intensification which has been traditionally regarded as related to the expression of degree scaling a quality downwards or upwards In spite of the large amount of studies on intensifiers there is still a need for the characterization of intensification as a distinct functional category in the domain of modification The eighteen papers of the volume contribute to this aim with a new approach mainly corpus based They focus on intensification from different perspectives both synchronic and diachronic and theoretical frameworks concern ancient languages Hittite Greek Latin and modern languages mainly Italian German English Kiswahili and involve different levels of analysis They also identify and examine different types of intensifiers applied to different forms and structures such as adverbs adjectives evaluative affixes discourse markers reduplication exclamative clauses coordination prosodic elements and shed light on issues which have not been extensively studied so far

Studies in Linguistic Motivation Günter Radden, Klaus-Uwe Panther, 2004 How much of language is motivated Recently cognitive and functional linguists have proposed new solutions to this intriguing question The thirteen articles collected in this volume cover various aspects of motivation in grammar and in the lexicon The phenomena discussed in the contributions can be grouped into four types of motivation which along with other types are explicated in the introductory chapter ecological motivation i e motivation of a linguistic unit due to its place or ecological niche within a system genetic motivation i e motivation of present day linguistic behavior or structure due to historical factors experiential motivation i e motivation that is based on embodied experience and cognitive motivation i e motivation that is based on human knowledge and cognitive operations such as metonymy and metaphor The languages studied in some detail include Afrikaans Croatian Dutch English French German Hausa and Hungarian This volume makes a strong case for the pervasiveness of motivation in natural language It will be of interest to teachers researchers and students of linguistics especially of functional and cognitive linguistics

The Construction of Words Geert Booij, 2018-04-13 This volume focuses on detailed studies of various aspects of Construction Morphology and combines theoretical analysis and descriptive detail It deals with data from several domains of linguistics and contributes to an integration of findings from various subdisciplines of linguistics into a common model of the architecture of language It presents applications and extensions of the model of Construction Morphology to a wide range of languages Construction Morphology is one of the theoretical paradigms in present day morphology It makes use of concepts of Construction Grammar for the analysis of word formation and inflection Complex words are seen as constructions that is pairs of form and meaning Morphological patterns are accounted for by construction schemas These are the recipes for coining new words and word forms and they motivate the properties of existing complex words Both schemas and individual words are stored and hence there is no strict separation of lexicon and grammar In addition to abstract schemas there are subschemas for subclasses of complex words with specific properties This architecture of the grammar is in harmony with findings from other empirical domains of linguistics such as language
