The Missionary conference: south India and Ceylon, 1879 South India missionary conference, 1880      Perfect Madness Judith Warner, 2006-02-07 A lively and provocative look at the modern culture of motherhood and at the social economic and political forces that shaped current ideas about parenting What is wrong with this picture That's the question Judith Warner asks in this national bestseller after taking a good hard look at the world of modern parenting at anxious women at work and at home and in bed with unhappy husbands When Warner had her first child she was living in Paris where parents routinely left their children home with state subsidized nannies to join friends in the evening for dinner or to go on dates with their husbands When she returned to the States she was stunned by the cultural differences she found toward how people think about effective parenting in particular assumptions about motherhood None of the mothers she met seemed happy instead they worried about the possibility of not having the perfect child panicking as each developmental benchmark approached Combining close readings of mainstream magazines TV shows and pop culture with a thorough command of dominant ideas in recent psychological social and economic theory Perfect Madness addresses our cultural assumptions and examines the forces that have shaped them Working in the tradition of classics like Betty Friedan's The Feminine Mystique and Christopher Lasch's The Culture of Narcissism and with an awareness of a readership that turned recent hits like The Bitch in the House and Allison Pearson's I Don't Know How She Does It into bestsellers Warner offers a context in which to understand parenting culture and the way we live as well as ways of imagining alternatives actual concrete changes that might better our lives     Home Progress ,1912     Children of France Ethel Maxtone Graham,1914     The Watchword ,1909     The Bastable Children Edith Nesbit,1929 Three books on the six British siblings who seek treasure to make their families lives easier     Childhood Chris Jenks,2004-11 Childhood is an extremely complex and highly contested concept It refers to a life phase as well as to the age group defined as children but is also a cultural construction part of the social and economic structure of communities The key scholarship collected introduced and reprinted in these volumes reflects this complexity and introduces the reader to the wide variety of interpretations that have been and continue to be placed on it It might be suggested that the push or initiative in theorizing childhood has derived from advances within sociology and anthropology However the future provides potential for interdisciplinary study which this collection also reflects The contemporary study of childhood must comprise a conjoining of disciplines sociology anthropology psychology social geography history philosophy and socio legal theory all have something to add to the field and are represented within the collection     Unforgiven Berriedale,1869     The Works of Charlotte Smith, Part III vol 11 David Lorne Macdonald,2020-03-19 Includes the works of Charlotte Smith revealing a writer who wrote well in many genres and in whatever form she undertook was innovative with the forms she inherited and strongly influential on those who followed her
