two decades of the nineteenth century this richly illustrated book positions luxury within the turbulent politics of dispersal disinheritance and dispossession Exploring exceptional works created from silver silk wood and porcelain as well as unrealized architectural projects Iris Moon presents new perspectives on the changing meanings of luxury in the revolutionary and Napoleonic periods a time when artists were forced into hiding exile or emigration Moon draws on her expertise as a curator to revise conventional accounts of the so called Louis XVI style arguing that it was only after the revolutionary auctions liquidated the king s collections that their provenance accrued deeper cultural meanings as objects with both a royal imprimatur and a threatening reactionary potential Lively and accessible this thought provoking study will be of interest to curators art historians scholars and students of the decorative arts as well as specialists in the French Revolution     Porcelains in the Forsyth Wickes Collection Carl Christian Dauterman, 1968
