The Marxist and the Movies Larry Ceplair, 2007-11-16 As part of its effort to expose Communist infiltration in the United States and eliminate Communist influence on movies from 1947 1953 the House Committee on Un American Activities subpoenaed hundreds of movie industry employees suspected of membership in the Communist Party Most of them including screenwriter Paul Jarrico 1915 1997 invoked the Fifth Amendment and refused to answer questions about their political associations They were all blacklisted In The Marxist and the Movies Larry Ceplair narrates the life movie career and political activities of Jarrico the recipient of an Oscar nomination for his screenplay for Tom Dick and Harry 1941 and the producer of Salt of the Earth 1954 one of the most politically besieged films in the history of the United States Though Jarrico did not reach the upper echelon of screenwriting he worked steadily in Hollywood until his blacklisting He was one of the movie industry's most engaged Communists working on behalf of dozens of social and political causes Song of Russia 1944 was one of the few assignments that allowed him to express his political beliefs through his screenwriting craft Though MGM planned the film as a conventional means of boosting domestic support for the USSR a wartime ally of the United States it came under attack by a host of anti Communists Jarrico fought the blacklist in many ways and his greatest battle involved the making of Salt of the Earth Jarrico other blacklisted individuals and the families of the miners who were the subject of the film created a landmark film in motion picture history As did others on the blacklist Jarrico decided that Europe offered a freer atmosphere than that of the cold war United States Although he continued to support political causes while living abroad he found it difficult to find remunerative black market screenwriting assignments On the scripts he did complete he had to use a pseudonym or allow the producers to give screen credit to others Upon returning to the United States in 1977 he led the fight to restore screen credits to the blacklisted writers who like himself had been denied screen credit from the late 1940s to the mid 1960s Despite all the obstacles he encountered Jarrico never lost his faith in the progressive potential of movies and the possibility of a socialist future The Marxist and the Movies details the relationship between a screenwriter's work and his Communist beliefs From Jarrico's immense archive interviews with him and those who knew him best and a host of other sources Ceplair has crafted an insider's view of Paul Jarrico's life and work placing both in the context of U S cultural history

The Race of Ratings Lawrence Hazelrigg, Brenda Hughes, 2025-07-24 Our book presents results of an analysis of the time series of ratings during the lifetime of each of 400 prime time US televised comedies and dramas 1963 to 1994 based on more than 13 000 time stamped observations of show specific ratings The research was motivated substantively by one question was the process that generated ratings per show uniform across all shows or was it differentiated by the racial composition of the show's main cast members In order to answer that question we first had to construct a model of the actual ratings time series of each show using a uniform basic model that allowed show to show differences on multiple variables Then second cross show differences of process parameters plus the compositional variables were estimated using both linear mainly OLS regression and non linear mainly spectral analysis techniques The presentation is gradual and narrative as well as mathematical Analytic techniques are explained in simple terms The book is therefore a manual of instruction in the analysis of time series data as well as a research monograph reporting the results of one substantive study

Primetime Blues Donald Bogle, 2015-08-18 A landmark study by the leading critic of African American film and television Primetime Blues is the first comprehensive history of African Americans on network television Donald Bogle examines the stereotypes which too often continue to march across the screen today but also shows the ways in which television has been invigorated by extraordinary black performers whose presence on the screen has been of great significance to the African American community Bogle's exhaustive study moves from the postwar era of Beulah and Amos n Andy to the politically restless sixties reflected in I Spy and an edgy ultra hip program like Mod Squad He examines the television of the seventies when a nation still caught up in Vietnam and Watergate retreated into the ethnic humor of Sanford and Son and Good Times and the politically conservative eighties marked by the unexpected success of The Cosby Show and the emergence of deracialized characters on such dramatic series as L A Law Finally he turns a critical eye to the television landscape of the nineties with shows such as The Fresh Prince of Bel Air I ll Fly Away ER and The Steve Harvey Show Note The ebook edition does not include photos

Stuntwomen Mollie Gregory, 2015-11-19 They've traded punches in knockdown brawls crashed biplanes through barns and raced to the rescue in fast cars They add suspense and drama to the story portraying the swimmer stalked by the menacing shark the heroine dangling twenty feet below a soaring hot air balloon or the woman leaping nine feet over a wall to escape a dog attack Only an expert can make such feats of daring look easy and stuntwomen with the skills to perform and survive great moments of action in movies have been hitting their mark in Hollywood since the beginning of film Here Mollie Gregory presents the first history of stuntwomen in the film industry from the silent era to the twenty first century In the early years of motion pictures women were highly involved in all aspects of film production but they were marginalized as movies became popular and more important profitable Capable stuntwomen were replaced by men in wigs and very few worked between the 1930s and 1960s As late as the 1990s men wore wigs and women's clothes to double as actresses and were even painted down for some performances while men and women of color were regularly denied stunt work For decades stuntwomen have faced institutional discrimination unequal pay and sexual harassment even as they jumped from speeding trains and raced horse drawn carriages away from burning buildings Featuring sixty five interviews Stuntwomen showcases the absorbing stories and uncommon courage of women who make their living planning and performing action packed sequences that keep viewers hearts racing

Torriano Berry,Venise T. Berry,2015-05-07 As early as 1909 African Americans were utilizing the new medium of cinema to catalogue the world around them using the film camera as a device to capture their lives and their history The daunting subject of race and ethnicity permeated life in America at the turn of the twentieth century and due to the effect of certain early films specific television images and an often biased news media it still plagues us today As new technologies bring the power of the moving image to the masses African Americans will shoot and edit on laptop computers and share their stories with a global audience via the World Wide Web These independently produced visions will add to the diverse cache of African American images being displayed on an ever expanding silver screen This wide range of stories topics views and genres will finally give the world a glimpse of African American life that has long been ignored and has yet to be seen This second edition of Historical Dictionary of African American Cinema covers its history

Godfrey,2013-09-13 For more than half a century broadcast recordings have reflected an important aspect of our culture and history An increasing number of archivists and private collectors have restored and exchanged radio and television materials However despite the awareness of these primary resource materials there is still some reluctance to utilize this aural and visual history resource A part of this reluctance is due to the fact that little is known about the existence of many collections throughout the nation This volume provides a comprehensive directory of electronic media archives in the United States and Canada It describes each collection focusing on its speciality providing the serious researcher with ready access information to these electronic media program resources Focusing on both private and institutional collections it is organized by state and city with indexes to provide the scholar with subject and location of specific topics of interest The A to Z of African American Cinema S.
