Albert, 2017-07-12 Transatlantic Engagements with the British Eighteenth Century revisits eighteenth century cultural artifacts through the lens of creative works produced by contemporary writers Beryl Gilroy Guyana Derek Walcott St Lucia Wole Soyinka Nigeria and David Dabydeen Guyana While early studies of post colonization literature focused on how revisions of historical works write back to the British empire this study argues that trans historical cross cultural dialogues also reveal the global complexity of eighteenth century cultural forms i e the periodical essay travel narrative pantomime satirical engraving and slave narrative By transforming the generic form of their eighteenth century sources the African and Caribbean writers in this study strategically call attention to the modes of storytelling utilized by eighteenth century writers Richard Steele Daniel Defoe Jonathan Swift William Hogarth Isaac Bickerstaff and Ignatius Sancho and subsequently expose how the encounters exchanges and acts of resistance taking place around the world influenced aesthetic experimentation in England Transatlantic Engagements with the British Eighteenth Century is thus a reconsideration of eighteenth century literature art and drama However because these engagements with British literature art and drama concurrently reflect twentieth century encounters with neocolonial oppression political violence and racism this study also proposes that engagements with the British eighteenth century double as inquiries into whether the modern world has progressed since the eighteenth century

The Culture of Commerce in England, 1660-1720 Natasha Glaisyer, 2006 Late seventeenth and early eighteenth century England the period between the Restoration and the South Sea Bubble was dramatically transformed by the massive cost of fighting wars and significantly a huge increase in the re export trade This book seeks to ask how commerce was legitimated promoted fashioned defined and understood in this period of spectacular commercial and financial revolution It examines the packaging and portrayal of commerce and of commercial knowledge positioning itself between studies of merchant culture on the one hand and of the commercialisation of society on the other It focuses on four main areas the Royal Exchange where the London trading community gathered sermons preached before mercantile audiences periodicals and newspapers concerned with trade and commercial didactic literature Dr NATASHA GLAISYER teaches in the Department of History at the University of York

Re-membering the Black Atlantic Lars Eckstein, 2006 The Atlantic slave trade continues to haunt the cultural memories of Africa Europe and the Americas There is a prevailing desire to forget While victims of the African diaspora tried to flee the sites of trauma enlightened Westerners preferred to be oblivious to the discomfiting complicity between their enlightenment and chattel slavery Recently however fiction writers have ventured to re member the Black Atlantic This book is concerned with how literature performs as memory It sets out to chart systematically the ways in which literature and memory intersect and offers readings of three seminal Black Atlantic novels Each reading illustrates a particular poetic strategy of accessing the past and presents a distinct political outlook on memory Novelists may choose to write back to texts images or music Caryl Phillips s Cambridge brings together numerous fragments of slave narratives travelogues and histories to shape a brilliant montage of long forgotten texts David Dabydeen s

A Harlot's Progress approaches slavery through the gateway of paintings by William Hogarth Sir Joshua Reynolds and J M W Turner Toni Morrison's Beloved finally is steeped in black music from spirituals and blues to the art of John Coltrane Beyond differences in poetic strategy moreover the novels paradigmatically reveal distinct ideologies their politics of memory variously promote an encompassing transcultural sense of responsibility an aestheticist creative amnesia and the need to preserve a collective black identity

The Cultural Politics of Opera, 1720-1742 Thomas McGeary, 2024-09-24 Explores the intersection of the world of opera literature and partisan politics to show how Italian opera was put to use in the culture wars of the day This last of a trilogy of books on opera and politics in Britain examines the cultural politics of opera during the ministerial reign of Sir Robert Walpole from 1720 to 1742 The book explores the intersection of the world of opera literature and partisan politics to show how Italian opera with its associations with the court ministry and Britain's social political elite was put to use in the culture wars of the day how Italian opera was used for partisan political advantage how political work could be accomplished by means of opera It shows that attacks on opera had ulterior targets The book surveys a range of often overlooked verse and prints to show how critique or satire of opera were a means for oppositional writers to delegitimize the Walpole ministry Polemicists framed opera as a consequence of the corruption luxury and False Taste generated by Walpole's ministry It closes in the watershed year 1742 Handel had produced the last of his Italian operas the previous year Walpole fell from power and Alexander Pope published the last book of his Dunciad project

Verbal-Visual Configurations in Postcolonial Literature Birgit Neumann, Gabriele Rippl, 2020-04-23 Examining a range of contemporary Anglophone texts this book opens up postcolonial and transcultural studies for discussions of visibility and vision It argues that the preoccupation with visual practices in Anglophone literatures addresses the power of images vision and visual aesthetics to regulate cultural visibility and modes of identification in an unevenly structured world The representation of visual practices in the imaginative realm of fiction opens up a zone in which established orders of the sayable and visible may be revised and transformed In 12 chapters the book examines narrative fiction by writers such as Michael Ondaatje Derek Walcott Salman Rushdie David Dabydeen and NoViolet Bulawayo who employ word image relations to explore the historically fraught links between visual practices and the experience of modernity in a transcultural context Against this conceptual background the examination of verbal visual relations will illustrate how Anglophone fiction models alternative modes of representation that reflect critically on hegemonic visual regimes and reach out for new more pluralized forms of exchange
