commonly blamed culprits overpopulation poor farming practices lack of financial support were causing the decline of once healthy ecosystems He also noted that in many parts of the world once land has become degraded letting it rest seldom helps revitalize it Savory came to realize that environmental problems are caused by human management decisions and only through wholesale changes in the way decisions are made can functioning ecosystems be restored In response to his discoveries Savory developed a revolutionary new approach to decision making and management Known initially as Holistic Resource Management and now as simply Holistic Management it considers humans their economies and the environment as inseparable At the heart of the approach lies a simple testing process that enables people to make decisions that simultaneously consider economic social and environmental realities both short and long term Holistic Management is a newly revised and updated edition of Holistic Resource Management Island Press 1988 which was the first book length treatment of Savory s decision making framework and how it could be applied This is an essential handbook for anyone involved with land management and stewardship and a valuable guide for all those seeking to make better decisions within their businesses communities or in any aspect of their personal lives Ecological Management of Agricultural Weeds Matt Liebman, Charles L. Mohler, Charles P. Staver, 2001-07-19 This book presents principles and practices for ecologically based weed management in a wide range of temperate and tropical farming systems Special attention is given to the evolutionary challenges that weeds pose and the roles that farmers can play in the development of new weed management strategies

Sustainable Farming: Managing the whole farm ,1994 A Place for Dialogue Sharon McKenzie Stevens, 2007-05 In A Place for Dialogue Sharon McKenzie Stevens views the contradictions and collaborations involved in the management of public land in southern Arizona and by extension the entire arid West through the lens of political rhetoric Revealing the socioecological relationships among cattlemen and environmentalists as well as developers and recreationists she analyzes the ways that language shapes landscape by shaping decisions about land use Stevens focuses on the collaborative Sonoran Desert Conservation Plan initiated by Pima County Arizona the ubiquitous use of scientific argument to defend contradictory practices and the construction and negotiation of rancher environmentalist identities to illuminate both literally and metaphorically the dynamics of land use politics Drawing specifically upon extensive interviews with a diverse array of agents on all sides of the debate ranchers environmentalists scientists land managers government officials on historical narratives and on her own conflicting experiences as someone who grew up with those who work the western lands she demonstrates that it is possible to use differences to solve rather than to aggravate the entrenched problems that bridge land and language By integrating her richly textured case study of a fragile region with rhetorical approaches to narrative science based argument and collective identities Stevens makes a significant contribution to the fields of rhetoric land management and cultural studies The Small Dairy Resource Book Vicki H.
