No Fortunate Son Philip Michaels, 2012-04-17 Patrick Golden is a student at Berkeley during the turbulent and vibrant late 1960s The product of working class Jewish and Irish Catholic parents he takes a huge step out of his social comfort zone when he makes the move to the storied walls of the Ivy League Soon he's surrounded by old moneyed aristocrats as he joins his affluent and socially well connected college roommate Charles Comstock at Harvard in the summer of 1968 At Harvard Patrick meets Morgan Thackeray a stunningly beautiful and free spirited coed from one of Boston's oldest wealthiest and stodgiest families Despite her bigoted father's virulent objections and threats their romance blooms until it is torn apart by the dark secret Morgan must keep from Patrick To protect him she disappears leaving his heart in tatters without an explanation or even a good bye Forty one years later Patrick finds himself back in Boston on sad business the funeral of his old college roommate Charles In a twist he could never have predicted he reconnects with his long lost love After decades of doubt and confusion he's about to learn her secret and his life will be dramatically altered by her confession Vividly describing Harvard Berkeley and San Francisco as they were in the late 1960s No Fortunate Son recreates the sights sounds mood and culture that defined this colorfully tumultuous and politically pivotal era Barbara Keer Editor of Chicago Splash Magazine Splash Magazine's Worldwide It isn't often that I find a book I can't put down and feel a loss when I finish because the characters have become my friends No Fortunate Son is that kind of book I found the book interesting in several ways as a first novel as an example both of a self published book and re-careering Patrick Golden the protagonist has a very different story Glancing by chance at the obituary section which until then had been concealed from view he gasped when a photograph of his friend Charles Comstock leaped at him from the page Patrick lives near San Francisco and Charles died in Boston And so begins a tale that is filled with intrigue as it weaves its way through the period of the Viet Nam War one shocking event following the next and the young people trying to find their lives in the midst of it all The stories of that time come vividly to life

Chernaik,1983-02-10 This book unites the disciplines of literature and history in an attempt to set the writings of Andrew Marvell in their seventeenth century context of revolutionary upheaval and counter revolution Marvell is seen as a representative figure illustrating the problems the intellectual inevitably faces when he enters the political arena Dr Chernaik traces the evolution of Marvell s writings from impartiality to political engagement under the pressure of events He shows in the earlier part of the book how both An Horatian Ode and Upon Appleton House two of the greatest political poems in the English language written during the unsettled period of the Commonwealth are complex works of historical analysis which present the problem of the choices facing men at a given historical moment However after the collapse of Puritan hopes at the Restoration Marvell moves towards a literature of commitment Throughout his writings Chernaik argues Marvell is both a Puritan and a wit a fastidious ironist and a moralist like his friend Milton Performing Early Modern Trauma from Shakespeare to Milton Thomas Page Anderson,2006 An examination of political and cultural acts of commemoration this study addresses the connection of representation of violence in literary works to historical traumas such as royal death secularization and regicide Incorporating contemporary theories of trauma Thomas Anderson here analyzes works by Shakespeare Marlowe Webster Marvell and Milton By interrogating the difficulty in representing historical crises in poetry drama and political prose Anderson demonstrates how early modern English identity is the fragile product of an ambivalent desire to flee history
