

LA FENOMENOLOGÍA DE HUSSERL COMO FUNDAMENTO FILOSÓFICO PARA LA TEOLOGÍA

THE PHENOMENOLOGY OF HUSSERL AS A PHILOSOPHICAL FOUNDATION FOR THEOLOGY

Prof. Dr. Francisco-Javier Herrero-Hernández¹
Universidad Pontificia de Salamanca, España

Resumen: El principal objetivo de este trabajo es lograr una comprensión de la fenomenología de Husserl como fundamento filosófico para la teología. Sostiene, en primer lugar, la idea de que la teología y la filosofía hacen algo más que converger. Profundiza, en segundo lugar, en la conexión entre fenomenología y teología, así como en la concepción husserliana de Dios como entelequia y évéryeta. Este estudio concluye con una reflexión, en tercer lugar, sobre la posibilidad de elaborar una teología de inspiración fenomenológica. La tesis que se defiende es que la fenomenología supone para la teología, literalmente, una auténtica Herausforderung, es decir, una provocación que desde fuera interpela a un discurso, el teológico, que muchos juzgaban ya agotado y en riesgo de extinción. En las conclusiones se detallan las principales aportaciones que la fenomenología hace a la teología.

Abstract: The main objective of this work is to achieve an understanding of Husserl's phenomenology as philosophical foundation for theology. It sustains, in the first place, that theology and philosophy do more than converge. It deepens, in second place, in the connection between phenomenology and theology, as well as in the Husserlian conception of God as entelechy and évéryeta. This study concludes with a reflection, in third place, on the possibility of elaborating a theology from the phenomenological inspiration. The thesis that is defended is that phenomenology means for theology, literally, an authentic Herausforderung, that is to say, a provocation that from outside interpellates a discourse, the theological one, that many judged already exhausted and at risk of extinction. In the conclusions are detailed the main contributions that the phenomenology makes to theology.

Phenomenology of the Noema J.J. Drummond, Lester Embree, 2013-06-29 Philosophers contributing new ideas are commonly caught within a received philosophical vocabulary and will often coin new technical terms Husserl understood himself as advancing a new theory of intentionality and he fashioned the new vocabulary of noesis and noema But Husserl's own statements regarding the noema are ambiguous Hence it is no surprise that controversy has ensued The articles in this book elucidate and clarify the notion of the noema the book includes articles which phenomenologically describe and analyze the noemata of various experiences as well as articles which undertake the metaphenomenological explication of the doctrine of the noema These two enterprises cannot be isolated from one another Any analysis of the noema of a particular type of experience will necessarily illustrate at least by instantiating the general notion of noema And any metaphenomenological account of the noema itself will guide particular researches into the noemata of particular experiences Edmund Husserl

Bibliography Steven Spileers, 2013-03-09 This bibliography contains the publications of Husserl and the main secondary literature on Husserl from Husserl's earliest publication 1887 till today 1997 As the collection of material was concluded in June 1997 the list of publications for the year 1997 is of course incomplete In this bibliography publications in the following languages have been included German English French Italian Spanish Portuguese and Dutch for both primary and secondary literature Since this bibliography has been based primarily on the consultation of the included documents and not restricted to copying already existing bibliographies it was not possible to include publications in languages other than those mentioned The bibliography has been constructed in the following way 1 The list of Husserl's works and secondary literature by individual authors is preceded by a list of all edited volumes in which a text by or on Husserl is published This list is ordered chronologically and runs from 1921 till 1997 inclusive Edited volumes of the same year are classified according to language and this in the order mentioned above German English French etc Edited volumes with a title in more than one language are classified according to the above order of languages this of course concerns only the title of the edited volume not the titles of the individual contributions This order is maintained throughout the other parts of the bibliography

Phenomenology of Religion Archana Barua, 2009-01-01 Out of the wide variety of themes covered by Husserl's phenomenology and later developed by Heidegger, Merleau-Ponty and others in different possible directions, the present work attempts to indicate the few features of the method that derives from Edmund Husserl's basic themes of the phenomenological movement and its methodology. Barua explores the manner in which this method has been applied to the study of art and religion by other phenomenologists and accordingly introduces the problem of this profound bulk, namely the phenomenological approach to religion, mostly in their terms.

Towards a Theory of Relativity of Truth in Morality and Religion Charles Goossens, 1990 This study argues for a model in which moral truth is presented as truth in the perspective of certain social commitments while religious truth is interpreted as truth in the perspective of religious experience. It theorizes that relativity need not conflict with universality. Truth from the perspective of the outsider is therefore truth without qualification.

Designed for accessibility, each of the thirty-four chapters includes background information on the key thinker, an overview of the main themes, concepts, and concerns that occupy his or her attention, and a discussion of the religious and theological elements present in his or her thought in light of contemporary issues. Given the scope of the volume, Religion and European Philosophy will be the go-to guide for understanding the religious and theological dimensions of European philosophy for both students and established researchers alike.

Who One Is J.G. Hart, 2009-04-21 If I am asked in the framework of Book 1, 'Who are you?' I might say, 'I don't know who in the world I am.' Nevertheless, there is a sense in which I always know what I refer to and can never not know, even if I have become an amnesiac. Yet in Book 2, 'Who are you?' has other senses of oneself in mind than the non-sortal 'myself.' For example, it might be the pragmatic context, as in a bureaucratic setting, but 'Who are you?' or 'Who am I?' might be more anguished and be rendered by 'What sort of person are you?' or 'What sort am I Such a question often surfaces in the face of a limit situation such as one's death or in the wake of a shameful deed where we are compelled to find our centers what we also will call Existenz Existenz here refers to the center of the person In the face of the limit situation one is called upon to act unconditionally in the determination of oneself and one's being in the world In this Book 2 we discuss chiefly one's normative personal moral identity which stands in contrast to the transcendental I where one's non-sortal unique identity is given from the start This moral identity requires a unique self-determination and normative self-constitution which may be thought of with the help of the metaphor of vocation We will see that it has especial ties to one's Existenz as well as to love This Book 2 claims that the moral personal ideal sense of who one is is linked to the transcendental who through a notion of entelechy The person strives to embody the I-ness that one both ineluctably is and which however points to who one is not yet and who one ought to be The final two chapters tell a philosophical theological likely story of a basic theme of Plotinus We must learn to honor ourselves because of our honorable kinship and lineage Yonder Traces of Understanding Patrick L. Repetition is set out in two parts. The first part situates Macquarrie in relation to thinkers from the radical theology of the 1960s through to the postmodernists of the late twentieth century. The second part explores the intersection of key themes in Macquarrie's theology with the thinking of Kant, Hegel, Heidegger, and representative postsecular and postmodern figures including but not limited to Emmanuel, Levinas, Jacques Derrida, and Jean-Luc Marion.
