Everyday Phenomenology Derek Mitchell, 2012-11-30 No one who reads this book will ever see the world the same again Derek Mitchell's aim is to pursue phenomenology and therefore appearances obliquely in a number of areas Predominantly these are the appearances of houses landscapes places people and history but these specific studies coalesce into a more general theory about appearances place and time and thereby provide a phenomenology of the everyday In this pursuit the author brings together works of philosophy literature history and art in order to circumvent the apparent paradox of the ubiquity and inaccessibility of the everyday This makes the work wide ranging and extensive but by the end a delicate coherence and unity emerges from allowing the coming together of these different avenues of approach to appearances Philosophically

speaking the author's guides through all of this are Martin Heidegger Hans Georg Gadamer and Gaston Bachelard with assistance notably from Descartes Hume Kant Hegel and Sartre although Mitchell endeavours to add some insights of his own as the book progresses Other significant contributions come from the works of W G Sebald Dennis Severs Rainer Maria Rilke Irene Nemirovsky the writing of David Hockney and some Dutch artists

New Makers of Modern Culture

Wintle Justin, 2013-05-13 New Makers of Modern Culture is the successor to the classic reference works Makers of Modern Culture and Makers of Nineteenth Century Culture published by Routledge in the early 1980s. The set was extremely successful and continues to be used to this day due to the high quality of the writing, the distinguished contributors, and the cultural sensitivity shown in the selection of those individuals included. New Makers of Modern Culture takes into full account the rise and fall of reputation and influence over the last twenty-five years and the epochal changes that have occurred: the demise of Marxism and the collapse of the Soviet Union, the rise and fall of postmodernism, the eruption of Islamic fundamentalism, the triumph of the Internet. Containing over eight hundred essay-style entries and covering the period from 1850 to the present, New Makers includes artists, writers, dramatists, architects, philosophers, anthropologists, scientists, sociologists, major political figures, composers, film makers, and many other culturally significant individuals and is thoroughly international in its purview. Next to Karl Marx is Bob Marley; next to John Ruskin is Salmon Rushdie; alongside Darwin is Luigi Dallapiccola; Deng Xiaoping runs shoulders with Jacques Derrida; Julia Kristeva with Kropotkin. Once again, Wintle has enlisted the services of many distinguished writers and leading academics such as Sam Beer, Bernard Crick, Edward Seidensticker, and Paul Preston. In a few cases, for example, Michael Holroyd and Philip Larkin, contributors are themselves the subject of entries. With its global reach, New Makers of Modern Culture provides a multi-voiced witness of the contemporary thinking world. The entries carry short bibliographies, and there is thorough cross-referencing. There is an index of names and key terms.

Magic in the Landscape Nigel Pennick, 2020-05-05 Learn to cultivate a traditional beneficial relationship with the land by embracing the forgotten practices of our ancestors. Details the ancient art of geomancy and Earth magic, including how to work with ley lines, astrology, and the four directions to honor a space and make it a place of power. Explores the magic of the land around us and how our ancestors interacted with Earth energies and the forces of Nature. Discusses the power of boundaries and magic circles, the proper feng shui of graveyards and cemeteries, and magically powerful places such as crossroads, fairgrounds, and the mystic triangles found in no man's lands. Our ancestors were deeply aware of the magical power of their local landscape, no matter where they lived. Every interaction with their environment, from building to farming, to the layout of ancient cities, took into account terrestrial energies, ancestral memory, and the many seen and unseen presences in Nature. They developed sophisticated procedures for orienting their living spaces and respectfully working with the magic of the landscape. Yet much of the art of geomancy and of working with the forces of Nature has been forgotten by modern builders, architects, foresters, gardeners, and homeowners. The treatment of land as mere property has led to a loss of its meaning for those who dwell upon it. Our landscape has become disenchanted. In this book, geomancy expert and scholar Nigel Pennick details the ancient and sacred practices of geomancy and Earth magic and reveals how we can reenchant and reconnect to the sacred landscape that surrounds us, whether you live rurally in the suburbs or in cities. Pennick begins with a vivid look at our modern wasteland and what he calls the ensouled world, with specific examples from Britain and Iceland of our ancestors way of perceiving the world they lived in Exploring the art of geomancy he examines how its techniques work with ley lines astrology and the old understanding of the four directions and the eight winds to honor a space and make it a place of power He looks at the power of boundaries and magic circles including laying ghosts and dismissing spirits as well as the proper feng shui for cemeteries and graveyards The author then takes the reader back into the traditional landscape to discuss magically powerful places such as crossroads the occult nature of the fairground and the mystic triangles found in what are popularly known as no man s lands Revealing how the landscape can be reenchanting Pennick shows how the magic of place is a living system that each of us can interact with

Romantic Moderns Alexandra Harris, 2023-04-06 While the battles for modern art and society were being fought in France and Spain it has seemed a betrayal that John Betjeman and John Piper were in love with a provincial world of old churches and tea shops In this multi award winning book Alexandra Harris tells a different story In the 1930s and 1940s artists and writers explored what it meant to be alive in England Eclectically passionately wittily they showed that the modern need not be at war with the past Constructivists and conservatives could work together and even the Bauhaus migrant L szl Moholy Nagy was beguiled into taking photographs for Betjemans nostalgic Oxford University Chest This modern English renaissance was shared by writers
