Hollywood In The Information Age:

Hollywood in the Information Age Janet Wasko, 2013-05-02 This is a major new assessment of the American movie industry in the 1990s focusing on the development of new communication technologies such as cable and home video and examining their impact on the production and distribution of motion pictures Hollywood in the Information Age Janet Wasko, 1994 Collection of essays some published previously Published first in UK Movies and the Reagan Presidency Chris Jordan, 2003-06-30 The 1980s were unique in both American history and the history of American cinema It was a time when a United States president a former B movie actor and Cold War industry activist served as a catalyst for the coalescence of trends in Hollywood's political structure mode of production and film content Ronald Reagan championed a success ethos that recognized economic and moral self governance as the basis of a democratic society His agenda of tax reform and industry deregulation simultaneously promoted the absorption of Hollywood's major studios into tightly diversified media conglomerates and concentrations of ownership promoted the production and release of movies with maximum revenue potential Indeed the most commercially successful movies of the decade put forth the ideologies of WASP America nuclear family self sufficiency and conspicuous consumption Three genres in particular the biracial buddy movie the MTV music video movie and the yuppie movie provide case studies of how Reagan era cinema addressed issues of race gender and class in ways very much in tune with Reaganomics and the President's cultural policies Author Chris Jordan provides a complete overview of both the influence of Reagan's presidency on the film industry and on the films themselves Exploring 80s genres and movies with both a sociocultural and aesthetic eye this book will be invaluable to historians cinema scholars and film buffs Hollywood or History? Tim Monreal, Jesús A. Tirado, 2025-06-20 Hollywood or History helps classroom teachers include more accurate Latinx stories in their classroom We believe that when used intentionally and critically media representations of Latinx communities and histories are powerful tools for high quality curriculum and instruction The Routledge Companion to Cinema and Politics Yannis Tzioumakis, Claire Molloy, 2016-07-01 The Routledge Companion to Cinema and Politics brings together forty essays by leading film scholars and filmmakers in order to discuss the complex relationship between cinema and politics Organised into eight sections Approaches to Film and Politics Film Activism and Opposition Film Propaganda Ideology and the State The Politics of Mobility Political Hollywood Alternative and Independent Film and Politics The Politics of Cine geographies and The Politics of Documentary this collection covers a broad range of topics including third cinema cinema after 9 11 eco activism human rights independent Chinese documentary film festivals manifestoes film policies film as a response to the post 2008 financial crisis Soviet propaganda the impact of neoliberalism on cinema and many others It foregrounds the key debates concepts approaches and case studies that critique and explain the complex relationship between politics and cinema discussing films from around the world and including examples from film history as well as contemporary cinema It also explores the wider relationship between politics and entertainment examines cinema's response to political and social transformations and questions the extent to which filmmaking itself is a political act

Videoland Daniel Herbert, 2014-01-24 Videoland offers a comprehensive view of the tangible phase of consumer video when Americans largely accessed movies as material commodities at video rental stores. Video stores served as a vital locus of movie culture from the early 1980s until the early 2000s, changing the way Americans socialized around movies and collectively made movies meaningful. When films became tangible as magnetic tapes and plastic discs, movie culture flowed out from the theater and the living room entered the public retail space and became conflated with shopping and salesmanship. In this process, video stores served as a crucial embodiment of movie culture's historical move toward increased flexibility, adaptability, and customization. In addition to charting the historical rise and fall of the rental industry, Herbert explores the architectural design of video stores, the social dynamics of retail encounters, the video distribution industry, the proliferation of video recommendation guides, and the often surprising persistence of the video store as an adaptable social space of consumer culture. Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork, cultural geography, and archival research, Videoland provides a wide-ranging exploration of the pivotal role video stores played in the history of motion pictures and is a must-read for students and scholars of media history.

Political Economy of Media Industries Randy Nichols, Gabriela Martinez, 2019-10-28 This book provides a critical political economic examination of the impact of increasingly concentrated global media industries. It addresses different media and communication industries from around the globe, including film, television, music, journalism, telecommunication, and information industries. The authors use case studies to examine how changing methods of production and distribution are impacting a variety of issues, including globalization, environmental devastation, and the shifting role of the State. This collection finds communication at a historical moment in which capitalist control of media and communication is the default status, and so because of the increasing levels of concentration globally, allows those in control to define the default ideological status. In turn, these concentrated media forces are deployed under the guise of entertainment but with a mind towards further concentration and control of the media apparatuses many times in convergence with others.

Introduction to Film Nick Lacey, 2016-04-28 This core textbook offers a concise yet complete introduction to film, responding to shifts in the medium while addressing all of the main approaches that inform film studies. The rise of on-demand, internet-based video has transformed the way films are distributed and exhibited, with many previously unobtainable and obscure films becoming available for global audiences to view instantly. Interweaving historical and current theoretical approaches, Nick Lacey presents a tightly focused and coherent overview of a discipline in transition, which can be read cover to cover or in distinct chapters. With its original narrative line and student-oriented philosophy, the text greatly enriches student's appreciation of cinema while equipping them with the essential skills and vocabulary to succeed in film studies. This is an ideal foundational text for all lecturers, undergraduate or A-level students of film and cinema studies, as well as enthusiasts of film and cinema looking for a comprehensive guide. New to this Edition.

Content reflecting the increasing importance of production contexts in chapters focusing exclusively on the film business distribution and exhibition A more detailed chapter on representation and greater emphasis on audience Updated content addressing the significance of transnational cinema drawing on a more global non Hollywood range of film examples and case studies from Europe Asia and Latin America Text is broken up by a wider variety of film stills representing world cinema from the classics to the latest in contemporary cinema

Story/telling Bronwen Ann Levy, Ffion Murphy, 2001 Story telling is an eclectic and fascinating collection of stories and stories about stories With passion and verve some of Australia's finest writers range through vast territory exploring new directions in film and media enigmas and creativity histories of mothering narratives of indigenous and migrant experience folk country and multicultural music traditions and dilemmas of interpretation These writers appreciate the power of stories for good and ill They interrogate narratives of Australia's past and present and call for new stories for changing times We hear voices raised one moment subdued the next as if we were sitting in the Forum tent at the Woodford Festival knowing that here and just beyond in paint dance music and words stories are happening in delicious abundance
