

Let me tell you a story

So theres this woman going about her day she just recently got her drivers license and so shes on the road everything is smooth sailing until one day she gets pulled over , so the cop walks up to her window and says

„ Goodevening, my partner was down about 3 blocks from here and he told me that he saw a red caravan speeding.“

„ Do you mind stepping out of the vehicle and doing a breathalyzer test?“

No of course not (she knew she wasnt drunk)

Do you feel stiff or dizzy?

Breathalyzer turns out to be positive and this woman is shocked cause well she didnt have anything to drink only thing she had time to eat today was some poultry and a few fizzy drinks

The cop found it weird as well because she wasnt showing any of the usual symptoms

One thing escalates to another after she was found guilty and pow court is scheduled so this woman goes to the doctor and gets her blood taken

Doctor checks her from head to toe

No fractures no sprains no injuries

She wasnt showing any signs of ingesting alchochol or anything else that could mess with her driving sure she was a bit down with the flu at the time but being congested wouldnt affect your driving no matter how you put

Blood results come back in woman reads them okay

Time for court they go in she pulls out the blood test that proved this woman had a natural production of the chemichal that makes you seem as if you were drunk
