The Structure of Style Shlomo Argamon, Kevin Burns, Shlomo Dubnov, 2010-09-13 Style is a fundamental and ubiquitous aspect of the human experience. Everyone instantly and constantly assesses people and things according to their individual styles. Academics establish careers by researching musical artistic or architectural styles and entire industries maintain themselves by continuously creating and marketing new styles. Yet what exactly style is and how it works are elusive. We certainly know it when we see it but there is no shared and clear understanding of the diverse phenomena that we call style. The Structure of Style explores this issue from a computational viewpoint in terms of how information is represented organized and transformed in the production and perception of different styles. New computational techniques are now making it possible to model the role of style in the creation of and response to human artifacts and therefore to develop software systems that directly make use of style in useful ways. Argamon Burns and Dubnov organize the research they have collected in this book according to the three roles that computation can play in stylistics. The first section of the book Production provides conceptual foundations by describing computer systems that create artifacts musical pieces texts artworks in different styles. The second section Perception explains methods for analyzing different styles and glean useful information viewing style as a form of communication. The final section Interaction deals with reciprocal interaction between style producers and perceivers in areas such as interactive media improvised musical accompaniment and game playing The Structure of Style is written for researchers and practitioners in areas including information retrieval computer art and music digital humanities computational linguistics and artificial intelligence who can all benefit from this comprehensive overview and in depth description of current research in this active interdisciplinary field How to Implement and Supervise a Learning Style Program Rita Dunn Dunn,1996-04-01 This how to book is for supervisors interested in understanding implementing and guiding staff in the proven educational methods of learning styles Learning how to learn is what the learning styles approach is all about Advocate Rita Dunn explains learning styles and how they develop and describes how to teach students with diverse learning styles International studies and testimonials indicate statistically higher standardized achievement test scores for students who are taught to use their learning style strengths and yield evidence that this approach makes a difference for all kinds of learners As an award winning educator and a supervisor Dunn offers tips on how to introduce learning styles to your staff and students and how to respond to the cognitive physiological and sociological aspects of learning that influence the students in your school and district Relational Thinking Styles and Natural Intelligence: Assessing Inference Patterns for Computational Modeling Chiasson, Phyllis,Tristan, Jayne,2012-04-30 This book explores a specific set of intelligence theories unifying and quantifying to create a verifiable model of various inferencing habits Provided by publisher Good Furniture ,1918 How Civic Action Works Paul Lichterman,2021 This book develops a new way to think about how social advocacy works in everyday life Varied scholarly approaches to social advocacy over the past four decades have tended to highlight skilled actors who craft rhetorical appeals and pursue resources and opportunities strategically to win their ends Lichterman argues that this approach presents a thin view of culture and oversimplifies action as a product of collective actors whose speech and action do not vary by setting In this study of housing advocacy he turns the analytic lens away from the actors to the social settings and the cultural contexts of unfolding action which allows him to develop a more precise explanation of success and failure Lichterman draws on four years of ethnographic research on four campaigns three coalitions and twelve organizations that took up affordable housing homelessness and related problems in Los Angeles The author follows how the actors identities claims and strategies unfold in specific settings as they promote new legislation oppose gentrification build affordable housing and pursue health and environmental issues alongside housing problems He finds that the discursive fields are crucial contexts that influence the work and that organization style powerfully shapes civic action How Civic Action Works offers a new conceptual framework and research agenda for studies of social advocacy Style, Mediation, and Change Janus Mortensen,Nikolas Coupland,Jacob Thøgersen,2016-11-17 Technologically mediated talk is organized around familiar styles styles of person relationship and genre But media also consistently remake and re style these familiar patterns This book brings together original research on media styling in different national contexts and languages written by authors at the forefront of sociolinguistic research on mediated talk It highlights and theorizes how creative acts of mediated styling can promote social and sociolinguistic change The globalized world is already massively mediatized what we know about language people and society is necessarily shaped through our engagement with media But talking media are caught up in wider currents of rapid change too Creative innovations in media styling can heighten reflexive awareness but they can also unsettle existing understandings of language society relations In reporting new investigations by expert researchers this book gives an original and timely account of how style media and change need to be integrated further to advance the discipline of sociolinguistics
