Kornerups Gronland. Sketches from Greenland 1876-79. Introduction by Thorkild Hansen Andreas Kornerup,1978     The Icelandic Colonization of Greenland and the Finding of Vineland Daniel Bruun,1918     Recent Geographical Literature, Maps, and Photographs Added to the Society's Collection ,1923     Recent Geographical Literature, Maps and Photographs Royal Geographical Society (Great Britain),1923     Lands that Hold One Spellbound Spencer Apollonio,2008 Offers an history of East Greenland This book summarises indigenous settlements over four millennia and describes European explorations since the Norse It recounts each of the European and American expeditions relying on the explorers original accounts as well as on the author s narration     Greenland in Art Enchanted Cristina Berna,Eric Thomsen,2025-04-04 This volume presents the work of various artists that have visited the enchanted frozen island of Greenland and caught its charms They have mostly been visiting or living here for a period in connection with their work or simply because they have been smitten by the lore of this alluring ice wonder Many of the artists have been associated with Denmark which has ruled Greenland for many centuries actually getting a stake here via the Norse Erik the Red in 953 AD when Norway and Denmark became united in the Middle Ages They had a great pasture farming and hunting society Later the Inuit came over from Siberia and invaded Greenland and wiped out the Norse settlements Only with the Danish Norwegian missionary Hans Egede in 1721 was appointed royal missionary to Greenland did the Danish king again get to actually rule this part of the kingdom The Greenlanders of today s Greenland are a mix of Danish Inuit and some other European blood They are a hardy lot it takes guts and perseverance to brave it out under these harsh and challenging conditions We salute this proud people and hope you will approve of our selection of works     Newsletter from the Commission for Scientific Research in Greenland ,1979     New Geographical Literature and Maps Royal Geographical Society (Great Britain),1979     The Mineral Resources of Greenland Sydney Hobard Ball,1923     Grønland Thomas Neergaard Krabbe,1929     Ilímaussaq Alkaline Complex, South Greenland Henning Sorensen,2006 The Ilimaussaq alkaline complex South Greenland the type locality of agpaitic nepheline syenites and of thirty minerals among which arfvedsonite eudialyte and sodalite has been studied since 1806 The paper reviews the outcome of 200 years of geological investigations and presents an overview and a synthesis of the petrology of the complex According to one model for the evolution of the complex the nepheline syenites formed by consolidation of one magma batch in a closed system The lujavrites were formed from the residual melts left after the formation of the roof series and the floor series and were sandwiched between these A second model implies that the kakortokites and lujavrites formed from one or more separate magma pulses which intruded the already consolidated roof series rocks This model is supported by new information on contact relations and especially on the petrology and geochemistry of a marginal pegmatitic fades that forms a rim around the kakortokite lower aegirine lujavrite part of the complex It consists of a massive textured matrix intersected by pegmatites The matrix was the first rock to form in the lowermost exposed part of the complex and gives information about the composition of the initial magma of the kakortokite lujavrite sequence. It is concluded that the agpaitic rocks of the complex were formed from at least two successive magma injections which formed respectively the roof series and the kakortokite lujavrite sequence.
