Kuei Yeh Chi Sunflower Splendor:

Ideology, Power, Text Yi-tsi Mei Feuerwerker, 1998-10-01 The division between the scholar gentry class and the people was an enduring theme of the traditional Chinese agrarian bureaucratic state Twentieth century elites recast this as a division between intellectuals and peasants and made the confrontation between the writing intellectual self and the peasant other a central concern of literature The author argues that in the process they created the peasantry the downtrodden rural masses represented as proper objects of political action and shifting ideological agendas Throughout this transition language or discourse has been not only a weapon of struggle but the center of controversy and contention Because of this primacy of language the author's main approach is the close reading or rather re-reading of significant narrative fictions from four literary generations to demonstrate how historical ideological and cultural issues are absorbed articulated and debated within the text Three chapters each focus on one representative author The fiction of Lu Xun 1881-1936 which initiated the literary preoccupation with the victimized peasant is also about the identity crisis of the intellectual Zhao Shuli 1906-1970 upheld by the Communist Party as a model peasant writer tragically exemplifies in his career the inherent contradictions of such an assigned role In the post-Mao era Gao Xiaosheng 1928 uses the ironic play of language to present a more ambiguous peasant while deflating intellectual pretensions The chapter on the last of the four generations examines several texts by Mo Yan 1956 Han Shaogong 1952 and Wang Anyi 1954 as examples of root-searching fiction from the mid-1980s While reaching back into the past this fiction is paradoxically also experimental in technique the encounter with the peasant leads to questions about the self-construction of the intellectual and the nature of narrative representation itself Throughout the focus is on texts in which some sort of representation or stand-in of the writer-intellectual self is present as character as witness as center of consciousness or as first person or obtrusive narrator Each story catches the writer in a self-reflective mode the confrontation with the peasant other providing a theater for acting out varying dramas of identity power ideology political engagement and self-representation Social Suffering Arthur Kleinman, Veena Das, Margaret M. Lock, 1997-12-30 Social Suffering takes in the human consequences of war famine depression disease and torture problems that result from what political economic and institutional power does to people Experts have joined together to investigate the cultural representations of Sunflower Splendor Wuji Liu, Irving Yucheng Lo, 1975 A comprehensive anthology of Chinese poetry from the 12th century B.C. to the present This magnificent collection has the effect of a complete library rather than of an anthology of poetry A lyric quality comes through into our own language Every page is alive with striking and wonderful things immediately accessible Publishers Weekly Sunflower Splendor is the largest and on the whole best anthology of translated Chinese poems to have appeared in a Western language The New York Times Book Review This remarkably fine anthology should remain standard for a long time Library Journal excellent translations by diverse hands Open to any page and listen to the still sad music Washington Post Bookworld Flower Imagery in the Poetry of Wu Wen-ying Sharon

Shih-jiuan Hou,1984 中國書畫, Irving Yucheng Lo,1976 Words and Images Alfreda Murck,Wen Fong,1991 In May of 1985 an international symposium was held at The Metropolitan Museum of Art in honor of John M Crawford Jr whose gifts of Chinese calligraphy and painting have constituted a significant addition to the Museum's holdings Over a three day period senior scholars from China Japan Taiwan Europe and the United States expressed a wide range of perspectives on an issue central to the history of Chinese visual aesthetics the relationships between poetry calligraphy and painting The practice of integrating the three art forms known as san chieh or the three perfections in one work of art emerged during the Sung and Yuan dynasties largely in the context of literati culture and it has stimulated lively critical discussion ever since This publication contains twenty three essays based on the papers presented at the Crawford symposium Grouped by subject matter in a roughly chronological order these essays reflect research on topics spanning two millennia of Chinese history The result is an interdisciplinary exploration of the complex set of relationships between words and images by art historians literary historians and scholars of calligraphy Their findings provide us with a new level of understanding of this rich and complicated subject and suggest further directions for the study of Chinese art history The essays are accompanied by 255 illustrations some of which reproduce works rarely published Chinese characters have been provided throughout the text for artists names terms titles of works of art and literature and important historical figures as well as for excerpts of selected poetry and prose A chronology also containing Chinese characters and an extensive index contribute to making this book illuminating and invaluable to both the specialist and the layman Catalog of Copyright Entries.
