The Marginalized Passenger Steve Nickodemski, 2022-07-08 I sometimes question why I would make an effort to sit down and transcribe the very things that caused me so much pain in my life I would venture to say probably because it is somewhat cathartic and in doing so maybe I can help others comprehend why they become the way they are and some of the reasons that cultivate this It is not entirely our fault it is not entirely your fault We are not born fucked up We are created formed and molded by someone or by some unforeseen circumstances entirely beyond our control Damage can be done in a multitude of ways to a child be it by divorce psychological or physical abuse or childhood trauma It seldom starts with intentional malice It is forged by a series of unfortunate events and in turn causes irreparable damage which can and will carry forward to Let me first mention that this is a memoir Although I've endeavored not to stray from the story's main events as much as possible occasionally I have altered some names for anonymity and some artistic license has also been added for flavor However each event is accurate to the best of my recollection at the time of writing I have spent countless hours writing this book in hopes of somehow coming to grips with my father's death So many tears and anguish fill these pages Writing this book has dredged up years of feelings that I had compartmentalized and forgotten about So thank you for choosing to read my memoir By your reading it I can finally have that voice that had been silenced all these years

Serving Grandfamilies in Libraries

Sarah Gough, Pat Feehan, Denise Lyons, 2013-11-26 Gough Feehan and Lyons have taken everything learned from their research on developing GrandFamily Resource Collections and leading grandfamily programming in several states and put it in this easy to use guide They share the successes and failures of existing programs so other librarians can hit the ground running rather than trudge through a time consuming and costly period of trial and error It is a lot more efficient to learn from someone else's mistakes than to make your own The target population grandfamilies and most specifically grandparents raising grandchildren have become a statistically significant group worthy of attention in many communities but library practitioners may not have explored further due to a lack of resources and money Special features include List of Web resources government agencies support groups etc List of grants and funding opportunities Sample grant applications List of possible community partners for the library Sample surveys or some tactic for getting to know the needs of one's target population Sample marketing plans Sample promotional materials Sample activity sheets Sample release forms etc With this practical and comprehensive guide your library will be ready to jumpstart or easily expand a stellar program for the grandfamilies in your community

The Conversation B.A. Archibald, 2023-10-16 Why are there so many things we never say and questions we never ask not realizing their importance until it's too late All of us have made that mistake and Bruce Archibald is no exception His late father John Jack Archibald was a brilliant man Driven ambitious and community minded he was a role model to his children in many ways But he could also be a terrible bully opinionated inflexible and harsh even with his own family After living a parallel life in many ways for better or worse Bruce has long wished for a chance to get answers from his father and finally understand why he'd been so firmly set in his ways determined to follow a pre set linear path through life even at the expense of his own happiness and determined that everyone around him follow in his footsteps Sadly this man of baffling contradictions had passed away decades earlier and it seemed his son's questions would remain unanswered indefinitely But then while vacationing in Australia with his wife a chance encounter with a white lorry lands him in hospital heavily medicated and the normal rules of past and present cease to exist Then the telltale glow of a White Owl Invincible cigar from the shadowed corner of his room announces the presence of an unexpected and impossible visitor
