Anthropology and Politics Joan Vincent, 1994-09-01 In considering how anthropologists have chosen to look at and write about politics Joan Vincent contends that the anthropological study of politics is itself a historical process Intended not only as a representation

but also as a reinterpretation her study arises from questioning accepted views and unexamined assumptions This wide ranging cross disciplinary work is a critical review of the anthropological study of politics in the English speaking world from 1879 to the present a counterpoint of text and context that describes for each of three eras both what anthropologists have said about politics and the national and international events that have shaped their interests and concerns It is also an account of how intellectual social and political conditions influenced the discipline by conditioning both anthropological inquiry and the avenues of research supported by universities and governments Finally it is a study of the politics of anthropology itself examining the survival of theses or schools of thought and the influence of certain individuals and departments

Theologically Engaged Anthropology J. Derrick Lemons, 2018-08-16 After years of discussion within the field of anthropology concerning how to properly engage with theology a growing number of anthropologists now want to engage with theology as a counterpart in ethnographic dialogue Theologically Engaged Anthropology focuses on the theological history of anthropology illuminating deeply held theological assumptions that humans make about the nature of reality and illustrating how these theological assumptions manifest themselves in society This volume brings together leading anthropologists and theologians to consider what theology can contribute to cultural anthropology and ethnography It provides anthropologists and theologians with a rationale and framework for using theology in anthropological research

The Anthropology of Morality in Melanesia and Beyond John Barker, 2016-04-01 The Anthropology of Morality in Melanesia and Beyond examines how Melanesians experience and deal with moral dilemmas and challenges Taking Kenelm Burridge's seminal work as their starting point the contributors focus upon public situations and types of people that exemplify key ethical contradictions for members of moral communities While returning to some classical concerns such as the roles of big men and sorcerers the book opens new territory with richly textured ethnographic studies and theoretical reviews that explore the interface between the values associated with indigenous village life and the ethical orientations associated with Christianity the state the marketplace and other facets of modernity A major contribution to the emerging field of the anthropology of morality the volume includes some of the most prominent scholars working in the discipline today including Bruce Knauft Joel Robbins F G Bailey Deborah Gewertz and Frederick Errington

From Time Immemorial Richard J. Perry, 2010-01-01 An examination of the similar patterns inherent in state conquest and incorporation of indigenous peoples in North America Australia Asia and Africa Around the globe people who have lived in a place from time immemorial have found themselves confronted by and ultimately incorporated within larger state systems During more than three decades of anthropological study of groups ranging from the Apache to the indigenous peoples of Kenya Richard J Perry has sought to understand this incorporation process and more importantly to identify the factors that drive it This broadly synthetic and highly readable book chronicles his findings Perry delves into the relations between state systems and indigenous peoples in Canada the United States Mexico and Australia His explorations show how despite differing historical circumstances encounters between these state systems and native peoples generally followed a similar pattern invasion genocide displacement assimilation and finally some measure of apparent self determination for the indigenous people which may however have its own pitfalls After establishing this common pattern Perry tackles the harder question why does it happen this way Defining the state as a nexus of competing interest groups Perry offers persuasive evidence that competition for resources is the crucial factor in conflicts between indigenous peoples and the powerful constituencies that drive state policies These findings shed new light on a historical phenomenon that is too often studied in isolated instances This book will thus be important reading for everyone seeking to understand the new contours of our postcolonial world Potlatch at Gitsegukla Marjorie M. Halpin, Margaret Seguin Anderson, 2011-11-01 William Beynon was born in 1888 in Victoria to a Welsh father and a Tsimshian mother He was an accomplished ethnographer and had a long career documenting the traditions of the Tsimshian Nisga'a and Gitksan In 1945 he attended and actively participated in five days of potlatches and totem pole raisings at Gitksan village of Gitsegukla There he compiled four notebooks containing detailed and often verbatim information about the events he witnessed For over 50 years these notebooks have seen limited circulation among specialists who have long recognized them as the most perceptive and complete account of potlatching ever recorded In Potlatch at Gitsegukla the almost 200 pages of the notebooks are published for the first time Sketches and a selection of photographs taken by Beynon are also included augmented by photographs taken by Wilson Duff in 1952 In addition to meticulously transcribing and annotating the text of the notebooks Margaret Anderson and Marjorie Halpin provide a comprehensive introduction that puts Beynon's account into a Gitksan cultural perspective as well as extensive appendices listing names places and Gitksan terms in the notebooks There is also an excellent timeline of key events in Gitksan history by James McDonald and Jennifer Joseph William Beynon's notebooks are among the most significant written records of Northwest coast potlatching and are an unsurpassed resource documenting these activities among the Gitksan This rare first hand ethnographic account of a potlatch reveals the wonderful complexities of the events that took place in Gitsegukla in 1945

Dream Travelers R. Lohmann, 2003-11-13 In dreams part of the self seems to wander off to undertake both mundane tasks and marvellous adventures Anthropologists have found that many peoples take this experience of dreaming at face value assuming that their spirits literally leave the body to travel meet other spirits and acquire valuable knowledge with dramatic consequence for relationships social organization and religions Dream Travellers is about Melanesian Aboriginal Australian and Indonesian peoples who hold this assumption Several leading anthropologists contribute theoretically and ethnographically rich chapters showing that attention to these peoples dream lives deeply enhances our understanding of their cultures and waking lives as well Ethnographic Encounters in Israel Fran Markowitz, 2013-06-11 Essays on the challenges of anthropological work in a complicated country A compelling anthology Ruth Behar Israel is a place of paradoxes a small country with a diverse population and complicated social terrain Studying its culture and social life means confronting a multitude of ethical dilemmas and methodological challenges These first person accounts by anthropologists engage contradictions of religion politics identity kinship racialization and globalization to reveal fascinating and often vexing dimensions of the Israeli experience Caught up in pressing existential questions of war and peace social justice and national boundaries the contributors explore the contours of Israeli society as insiders and outsiders natives and strangers as well as critics and friends

Hamlet's Castle Gordon H. Mills, 2014-03-07 Hamlet's Castle is both a theoretical and a practical examination of the interactions that take place in a literary classroom The book traces the source of literature's power to the relationship between its illusional quality and its abstract meaning and relates these elements to the process by which a group typically an academic class forms a judgment about a literary work In focusing on the importance of the exchange of ideas by readers Gordon Mills reveals a new way of looking at literature as well as a different concept of the social function of the literary classroom and the possible application of this model to other human activities The three fundamental elements that constitute Mills's schema are the relationship between a reader and the illusional quality of literature the relationship between a reader and the meaning of a text and the concept of social experience within the environment of a text The roles of illusion and meaning in a text are explored in detail and are associated with areas outside literature including science and jurisprudence There is an examination of the way in which decisions are forced by peers upon one another during discussion of a literary work an exchange of opinion which is commonly a source of pleasure and insight sought for its own sake In the course of his study Mills shows that the act of apprehending a literary structure resembles that of apprehending a social structure From this relationship he derives the social function of the literary classroom In combining a theoretical analysis with the practical objective of determining what value can be found in the study of literature by groups of people Mills has produced a critical study of great significance Hamlet's Castle will change concepts about the purpose of teaching literature affect the way in which literature is taught and become involved in the continuing discussion of the relationship of literary studies to other disciplines

Of Revelation and Revolution, Volume 1 Jean Comaroff, John L. Comaroff, 2008-04-15 Of Revelation and Revolution is at once a highly imaginative richly detailed history of colonialism Christianity and consciousness in South Africa and a theoretically challenging consideration of the most difficult questions posed by the nature of social experience Although primarily concerned with the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Of Revelation and Revolution also looks forward to the age of apartheid and beyond

Christianity, Conflict, and Renewal in Australia and the Pacific, 2016-06-21

Cultural expressions of Christianity show great diversity around the globe While scholarship has tended to consider charismatic practices in distinct geographical contexts this volume advances the anthropology of Christianity through ethnographically rich comparative insights from across the Australia Pacific region

Christianity Conflict and Renewal in Australia and the Pacific presents new perspectives on the performative dynamics of Christian belief conflict and renewal Addressing experiences of cultural and spiritual renewal contributors reveal how tensions can arise between spiritual and political expressions of culture and identity opening up alternative spaces for spiritual realization and religious change These local processes further mobilize responses of individuals and groups to state forces and political reforms in turn influencing the shape of translocal and transnational Christian practices Contributors are Diane Austin Broos John Barker Alison Dundon Yannick Fer Kirsty Gillespie Jessica Hardin Rodolfo Maggio Fiona Magowan Gwendoline Malogne Fer Debra McDougall Joel Robbins Carolyn Schwarz and John Taylor Classifying Christians Todd S. Berzon, 2021-05-25 Classifying Christians investigates late antique Christian heresiologies as ethnographies that catalogued and detailed the origins rituals doctrines and customs of the heretics in explicitly polemical and theological terms Oscillating between ancient ethnographic evidence and contemporary ethnographic writing Todd S Berzon argues that late antique heresiology shares an underlying logic with classical ethnography in the ancient Mediterranean world By providing an account of heresiological writing from the second to fifth century Classifying Christians embeds heresiology within the historical development of imperial forms of knowledge that have shaped western culture from antiquity to the present Cadence of Life Sheila Aketch Orero, 2024-12-24 This book explores the multifaceted realities of religious conversion challenging conventional notions of faith identity and change Using sociological concepts of the study of every day and lived religion it examines the lifestyles of the Adventist Massai in Arusha and Manyara Guided by the multimodal approach the study seeks to understand conversion from the Massai perspectives highlighting their experiences of change and the negotiations they undergo as reflected in their everyday practice and routines
