Herbert Marshall McLuhan 1911-1980 received his PhD in English literature from Cambridge University and taught in the United States and Canada He is best known however as the founding father of media studies McLuhan was Director of the Center for Culture and Technology at the University of Toronto Among his groundbreaking works on the psychic and social dimensions of communication technology are The Gutenberg Galaxy 1962 Understanding Media the Extensions of Man 1964 and The Medium Is the Message An Inventory of Effects 1967 Michel Moos premise is that Marshall McLuhan's importance derives from his achievements in rethinking the entire process of education and training itself not with his popular fame as media guru and he analyzes McLuhan's work from the feedback effect his vision continues to provide rather than from the perspective of interpreting McLuhan's pronouncements on the electronic media Moos contrasts McLuhan's thoughts with those of such thinkers as Roland Barthes Fredric Jameson Friedrich Kittler Donna Haraway and Deleuze and Guattari and renders an updated account of the effect of the mass media

on our society and ourselves The concept the medium is the message is the hub around which Marshall McLuhan's explorations revolved McLuhan's interests ranged from sixteenth century literature to twentieth century business practices With wit and literary flair he reported the media's influence on society and on the individual He concluded that we could not escape being transformed by the forces that are hidden deeply within the electronic telecommunications revolution of the sixties For McLuhan the new mediums of film television and the emerging realm of the digital were the modern equivalent of Gutenberg's printing press Essays by M McLuhan Edited and with a Commentary by M A Moos Airport Aura Lilia Mironov, 2020-02-26 Throughout the 20th century and into the 21st the emergence of airports as gateways for their cities has turned into one of the most important architectural undertakings Ever since the first manned flight by the Brothers Orville and Wilbur Wright on December 17th 1903 utilitarian sheds next to landing strips on cow pastures evolved into a completely new building type over the next few decades into places of Modernism as envisioned by Le Corbusier and Frank Lloyd Wright who themselves never built an airport to eventually turn into icons of cultural identity progress and prosperity Many of these airports have become architectural branding devices of their respective cities regions and countries created by some of the most notable contemporary architects This interdisciplinary cultural study deals with the historical formation and transformation of the architectural typology of airports under the aspect of spatial theories This includes the shift from early spaces of transportation such as train stations the synesthetic effect of travel and mobility and the effects of material innovations on the development occupation and use of such spaces The changing uses from mere utilitarian transportation spaces to ones centered on the spectacular culture of late capitalism consumption and identity formation in a rapidly changing global culture are analyzed with examples both from architectural and philosophical points of view The future of airport architecture and design very much looks like the original idea of the Crystal Palace and Parisian Arcades to provide a stage for consumption social theatre and art exhibition

Distant Early Warning Alex Kitnick, 2021-07-13 In Distant Early Warning Alex Kitnick reveals the story of Marshall McLuhan's entanglement with the art and artists of the twentieth century avant garde It is a story packed with big names Marcel Duchamp Robert Rauschenberg Claes Oldenburg Andy Warhol Nam June Paik Tom Wolfe Harold Rosenberg Max Kozloff and more Kitnick though is not focused on celebrity instead he carefully forges connections between McLuhan his theories and the artists of his time with thorough research and superb use of McLuhan's own words McLuhan's writings on media spread quickly and his provocations about what art should be and what artists should be responsible for fueled then current debates McLuhan observed that artists are first to act in response to change and he believed they should be the ones to which we entrust new media and technologies Thus Rauschenberg's desire to connect with culture through things is met with McLuhan's faith in artists as bellwethers of the networked world In his postscript Kitnick overlays McLuhan's faith onto the state of contemporary and post internet art This final channeling of McLuhan is a swift and beautiful analysis with a personal touch of art's recent transgressions and what its future may hold

The Promise of Sociology Rob Beamish, 2016-01-01 The second edition of this award winning introduction to sociology has been substantially revised throughout including improved connections between the discussion of millennials and Mills's concept of the sociological imagination

Transferred Illusions Marilyn Deegan, Kathryn Sutherland, 2016-02-24 This is a study of the forms and institutions of print newspapers books scholarly editions publishing libraries as they relate to and are changed by emergent digital forms and institutions In the early 1990s hypertext was briefly hailed as a liberating writing tool for non linear creation Fast forward no more than a decade and we are reading old books from screens It is however the newspaper for around two hundred years print's most powerful mass vehicle whose economy persuasively shapes its electronic remediation through huge digitization initiatives dominated by a handful of centralizing service providers funded and wrapped round by online advertising The error is to assume a culture of total replacement The Internet is just another information space sharing characteristics that have always defined such spaces wonderfully effective and unstable loaded with valuable resources and misinformation that is both good and bad This is why it is important that writers critics publishers and librarians in modern parlance the knowledge providers be critically engaged in shaping and regulating cyberspace and not merely the passive instruments or unreflecting users of the digital tools in our hands
