Higher Education Assessments Gary L. Kramer, Randy L. Swing, 2010-10-16 Higher Education Assessments Leadership Matters reflects the work of a select group of researchers scholars and practitioners in higher education assessment with the goal of identifying strategies that assist senior campus leaders as they respond to the challenges of a changing economic landscape and political climate The contributors experts in the field bring to the forefront key issues relevant to advancing assessments in higher education principles that culminate in improving student learning and development Kramer and Swing provide a tool for presidents vice presidents provosts and deans to determine which areas of assessment matter most in their institutions and how they can measure progress in aligning claims with outcomes The contributors deftly address assessment in student affairs documentation of student learning student engagement to bridge learner outcomes assessment in the disciplines assessments that can transform a culture and putting students first as partners in the learning enterprise In doing so they have focused on what a campus president and his or her team need to know and do to lead assessment successfully on campus and as they set the tone for and facilitate institutional assessments

Post Covid 19 Learning Recovery S. Veena, Covid 19 has impacted and changed the education sector to a different level Due to the widespread effects of COVID 19 schools and other educational institutions had to close In an effort to lessen the effects of COVID 19 the majority of governments first chose to temporarily close schools Children s learning has suffered as a result of the pandemic s prolonged school closures In this way a whole school year has passed with little to no curriculum learning in the present class However this is merely one type of learning loss The pervasive problem of pupils forgetting what they learned in a previous session is equally concerning because it represents a setback in their academic learning This involves losing fundamental skills that are the cornerstone of additional learning such reading comprehension and addition and multiplication which they had previously mastered Systemic diverse and well coordinated activities are necessary for learning recovery In addition to focusing on teacher capacity and support and disseminating ideas that all instructors can apply the strategy needs to be comprehensive and long term For learning recovery to be effective equitable and long lasting it must also be transformational The foundation of curriculum reform is meaningful learning and teaching coupled with an awareness of the system s capacity to implement the reform stages as effectively as possible Curriculum reform is not a stand alone process Whether it s a learner centered spiral technology centered or curriculum for the twenty first century any curriculum that adheres to pedagogy is appreciated It is vital to plan and organise the shift so that it incorporates the core topics of reading and numeracy and also establishes a connection between the learner and his or her surroundings and culture By putting such strategies into practice the failure factors of curricular reform will be slowed down The idea that the present is the best predictor of the future will help support groups choose and create a curriculum that equips kids to deal with the fallout from challenging circumstances such as the pandemic and others of a similar nature Long term gains in children s learning

however depend on pre service teachers education being of higher quality Children s learning may be enhanced by strengthening the ICT environment for instruction but only if teachers ICT competencies are also improved To connect the learning of children with the professional development of teachers more study is required Students learning may benefit from increased teacher motivation brought about by certification programmes pay structure modifications improved school leadership and more transparent evaluation procedures As a result the book covers a wide range of important subjects pertaining to education in the post pandemic era such as how to establish a strong rapport between students and teachers systemic interventions that reframe teachers roles as edupreneurs the effects of digital technology on the teaching learning process techniques for filling in knowledge gaps in curricula pedagogy and assessments and safeguards for private school sustainability All those with an interest in the post pandemic recovery of schools with a focus on creating a fair inclusive and comprehensive national education system may find the book to be a useful resource

Community College Assessment

Trudy W. Banta, 2004-06-24 Good measures of student learning are scarce and all institutions are struggling with the challenge of effectively and reliably assessing student learning Nowhere is this challenge felt more strongly however than at the community college where students enter with diverse education goals and are more likely to transfer stop out or even drop out This makes the need for assessment methods of demonstrated value in the community college setting more critical than ever This new booklet is designed to address this need presenting for the first time between two covers some of the strongest illustrations of good practice that have appeared in the pages of the award winning newsletter Assessment Update Articles address such issues of concern to community college faculty and administrators as evaluating transfer success the community and technical college students perceptions of student engagement assessing learning communities assessing employer needs and the role of corporate partnerships in assessment Drawing on both faculty created and standard measures such as the Community College Student Experiences Questionnaire and the Community College Survey of Student Engagement the authors explore the effectiveness of various approaches and how they can be used to make the kind of curricular changes that can lead to improved student learning outcomes Other booklets in Assessment Update Collections Portfolio Assessment Uses Cases Scoring and Impact This booklet contains a wealth of information on portfolios made available for the first time in this convenient format The articles explore how portfolios including web based portfolios have been used at various institutions to assess and improve programs in general education the major advising and overall institutional effectiveness They describe ways portfolios can be scored students perspectives on portfolios how portfolios changed the faculty culture at one college and more Hallmarks of Effective Outcomes Assessment This booklet brings together the best guidance and practices that have appeared in Assessment Update to illustrate time tested principles for all aspects of assessment from planning and implementing to sustaining and improving assessment efforts over time Useful for those new to assessment as well as experienced practitioners it details the specific hallmarks required for the success of any assessment program from leadership and staff development to the assessment of processes as well as outcomes ongoing communication among constituents and more And it presents articles revealing what these hallmarks look like in practice

Exploring Research-Based Teaching Carolin Kreber,2006-11-10 Illustrates the scope of possibilities in interpreting and promoting research teaching synergies This book also looks more explicitly at what institutions can do to promote two distinct forms of research based teaching It construes research based teaching as student focused inquiry based learning

Designing Effective Assessment Trudy W. Banta,Elizabeth A. Jones,Karen E. Black,2009-07-14 Fifteen years ago Trudy Banta and her colleagues surveyed the national landscape for the campus examples that were published in the classic work Assessment in Practice Since then significant advances have occurred including the use of technology to organize and manage the assessment process and increased reliance on assessment findings to make key decisions aimed at enhancing student learning Trudy Banta Elizabeth Jones and Karen Black offer 49 detailed current examples of good practice in planning implementing and sustaining assessment that are practical and ready to apply in new settings This important resource can help educators put in place an effective process for determining what works and which improvements will have the most impact in improving curriculum methods of instruction and student services on college and university campuses

Collection of Covid-19 Induced Biases in Medical Research Reza Rastmanesh,Vasiliki Epameinondas Georgakopoulou,Martin Wolkewitz,2025-06-02 The spread of COVID 19 has changed many aspects of people s social lives individual s behaviors and healthcare procedures Furthermore it has changed many physiological responses and consequently it is expected that many medical studies are influenced by multiple hidden biases posed by Covid 19 pandemic mediated directly or indirectly by face mask wearing or by Covid 19 itself For instance face mask wearing has been reported to produce a drastic bias in studies of endocrinology ophthalmology particularly dry eye and ocular diseases sleep studies cognitive biases such as emotion recognition accuracy studies etc and sex bias differences just to mention a few It can be estimated that many of such biases have been left undiagnosed in other disciplines of medicine This Research Topic calls for papers reporting any type of unreported biases posed by Covid 19 pandemic and or face mask wearing It is expected that submitted manuscripts will help better and unbiased interpretation of clinical findings methodological developments registered clinical trials cohort studies and comparative studies pre and post Covid 19 pandemic
