Encounters In World History:

Encounters in World History: From 1500 Thomas Sanders, 2005 History is an encounter with the past and the past is a history of encounters Encounters in World History is designed to introduce students to both of these sorts of encounters Using primary and visual sources the authors employ the encounter theme as a fundamental organizing principle By nesting sources in thematically integrated chapters comparison and analysis of sources can be more substantive while also providing more internal structure for instructors At the same time this is a world history reader and it follows a chronological format The material has been presented in such a way that instructors can craft their own courses emphasizing the aspects they think most important Chapters are organized so that the general theme is presented in a chapter introduction and then revisited in the separate introductions to specific readings The readers can be used to highlight preferred eras cultural zones or themes or a unique mixture of all three

Encounters in the New World Jill Lepore, 2000 A collection of documents illustrating encounters between Native American peoples and a variety of European newcomers from the fifteenth to the eighteenth centuries Includes maps journals advertisements and letters

Places of Encounter, Volume 2 Aran MacKinnon, Elaine McClarnand MacKinnon, 2018-03-09 First Published in 2018 Using a place based approach by focusing on specific locations at critical historical moments of historical transformation Places of Encounter provides a unique alternative to world history anthologies or survey texts Students will experience the narrative of historic individuals as well as modern scholars looking back over documentation to offer their own views of the past providing students with the perfect opportunity to see how scholars form their own views about history This text can be purchased as two volumes providing a breadth of information for survey courses in world history
