Hagerstown Maryland:

Hagerstown Mary H. Rubin, 2003 Hagerstown Maryland's history is inextricably linked to the railroad Hagerstown's nickname of the Hub City comes from the wheel spoke effect that the many rail lines in and out of the city created The first train cars from the Baltimore Ohio Railroad reached the limits of Washington County on December 3 1834 where the line crossed into Harper's Ferry West Virginia The railroad was instrumental in transporting both goods and passengers and helped spell the demise of the C O Canal Through the years the railroads continued to ply the tracks through the county providing work for many and transportation of freight and passenger service from Baltimore in the east to the great expanse of the country to the west Today passenger service no longer runs through Hagerstown but freight service continues and trains are far from forgotten

Hagerstown Mary H. Rubin, 2001-07 Lying just north of the Potomac River in the heart of the fertile Cumberland Valley Hagerstown Maryland has been at the crossroads of history and commerce since its founding in 1762 Nestled between the Blue Ridge and Allegheny Mountains the city sits on a north south path that migration war and commerce have traveled for centuries while the nearby Potomac River carves out a natural path that served as a gateway to the American West This fortunate geography influenced the growth and development of Hagerstown the seat of Washington County and also earned it the nickname Hub City The unique story of Hagerstown captured in this volume of vintage photographs includes not only the tales of the Civil War the coming of the railroad and the C O Canal but of the men and women who built a community and made it home Through their perseverance and spirit the city took shape businesses were established schools hospitals and churches erected and neighborhoods formed From Alsatia Mummer's parades and the Great Hagerstown Fair to the bygone days when trolleys rolled through town the heritage of this singular city is recalled and honored in this engaging tribute
