Hellraiser Films and Their Legacy Paul Kane, 2015-05-07 Best selling horror novelist Clive Barker's 1987 film Hellraiser has become an undisputed horror classic spawning a movie franchise that to date includes eight films Exploring not only the cinematic interpretations of the Hellraiser mythos but also its intrusion into other artistic and cultural forms this volume begins by identifying the unconventional sources of Barker's inspiration and following Barker from his pre Hellraiser cinematic experience through the filming of the horror classic It examines various themes such as the undermining of the traditional family unit and the malleability of the flesh found throughout the film series and the ways in which the representation of these themes changes from film to film The religious aspects of the films are also discussed Characters central to the franchise and the mythos are examined in detail Coen Brothers - Virgin Film Eddie Robson, 2011-07-31 Joel and Ethan Coen make up one of the most original and unconventional movie making partnerships to come out of America at the end of the 20th century From their debut tour de force Blood Simple to the hugely acclaimed The Man Who Wasn't There the brothers films have attracted critical kudos and commercial success in equal measure due to their irreverent individual and technically virtuoso nature Each of their films defies categorisation yet you're never in any doubt you're watching a Coen brothers movie This exploration of the movie career of Hollywood's best loved outsiders charts their rise from cult favourites to box office contenders whilst combining indispensable reference material and critical analysis of their films Religion and Film Melanie Wright, 2006-10-27 From silent films to contemporary blockbusters religion has always proved a popular theme for the cinema However all too often religion and film are discussed from narrowly confessional perspectives with the result that the field has long been dominated by the question of a film's fidelity to a religious text or worldview or its value as a tool in ministry and mission. Religion and Film: An Introduction seeks to redress this balance and argues for a new holistic approach to the subject that draws on work from cultural studies, religious studies and film studies alike. Wright argues that the meanings of a film are not encoded by its textual organisation but are bound up with its interpretation by viewers in specific contexts. Focusing on religiously diverse films like The Ten Commandments, La Passion de Jeanne d'Arc, Kadosh, Lagaan, My Son the Fanatic, Keeping the Faith, The Wicker Man and Mel Gibson's The Passion of The Christ, the author looks at varied screen representations of religion at films shaped by strong convictions about the place of religion in society and at the roles that audiences play as consumers of film. The book will have strong appeal to students as well as general readers interested in all aspects of the inter-relationship of religion and the cinema. Animals in Film Jonathan Burt, 2004-02-03

From Salvador Dalí to Walt Disney, animals have been a constant yet little considered presence in film. Indeed it may come as a surprise to learn that animals were a central inspiration to the development of moving pictures themselves. In Animals in Film Jonathan Burt points out that the mobility of animals presented technical and conceptual challenges to early film makers, the solutions of which were an important factor in advancing photographic technology, accelerating the speed of both film and camera. The early filming of animals also marked one of the most significant and far-reaching changes in the history of animal representation and has largely determined the way animals have been visualized in the twentieth century. Burt looks at the extraordinary relationship between animals, cinema and photography, including the pioneering work of Eadweard Muybridge and Jules Etienne Marey and the technological developments and challenges posed by the animal as a specific kind of moving object. Animals in Film is a shrewd account of the politics of animals in cinema, of how movies and video have developed as weapons for animal rights activists and of the roles that animals have played in film from the avant-garde to Hollywood. Metamorphosing Dante Fabio Camilletti, Manuele Gagnolati, Fabian Lampart, 2010-12-01

After almost seven centuries, Dante endures and even seems to haunt the present. Metamorphosing Dante explores what so many authors, artists and thinkers from varied backgrounds have found in Dante's oeuvre and the ways in which they have engaged with it through rewritings, dialogues and transpositions. By establishing trans-disciplinary routes, the volume shows that along with a corpus of multiple linguistic and narrative structures, characters and stories, Dante has provided a field of tensions in which to mirror and investigate one's own time. Authors explored include Samuel Beckett, Walter Benjamin, André Gide, Derek Jarman, LeRoi Jones, Amiri Baraka, James Joyce, Wolfgang Iser, Jacques Lacan, Thomas Mann, James Merrill, Eugenio Montale, Pier Paolo Pasolini, Cesare Pavese, Giorgio Pressburger, Robert Rauschenberg, Vittorio Sereni, Virginia Woolf. Halliwell's Film & Video Guide 2004 Leslie Halliwell, 2003. This guide to the film industry from the 1900s to the present day has now been updated with John Walker's critiques of the films that have been turning heads in 2002. It delivers all the cast and crew credits, fun trivia and behind-the-scenes information you need on thousands of movies, over 23,000 including hundreds of new ones This perennial guide also includes plot synopses and critical evaluations as well as video cassette laser disc and DVD availability Reader friendly icons denote films suitable for family viewing Academy Award Winners and nominees soundtrack availability and video format compatibility The guide also contains lists of four star and three star films by title and year

Movies and the Church of Baseball Jonathan Plummer, 2024-12-25 Christian religious imagery and symbolism has a long history in American baseball cinema, from The Busher (1919) to Angels in the Outfield (1994) and present-day movies. This book examines The Natural, Field of Dreams, Bull Durham and other films exploring the frequency of Christian imagery and themes in the American baseball movie. From Babe Ruth's performance of a miracle to help a disabled boy walk again in The Babe to Ruth's performance of a miracle to help a disabled boy walk again in The Babe to Shoeless Joe Jackson's question to Ray Kinsella, "Is this heaven in Field of Dreams?" Christian themes and American baseball film are inextricably linked. This discussion encompasses symbolic imagery in mainstream film, Christian baseball movies directed by Christian filmmakers promoting their faith messages, and images of America as a prelapsarian paradise before The Fall.

Richard Matheson on Screen Matthew R. Bradley, 2010-10-04 Though innumerable biographies have been written about novelists, playwrights and poets, screenwriters are rarely granted this distinction, even ones as prolific and successful as Richard Matheson. Beginning with The Incredible Shrinking Man in 1957, Matheson has occupied a unique position in writing for television and cinema for more than fifty years. This biography documents his rise to prominence, his literary influences, and the role he played in the horror and science-fiction renaissance. The narrative examines each of Matheson's works in chronological order, with an index indicating where each can be found, from his early work in the 1950s through I Am Legend in 2007.

Hollywood's New Radicalism Ben Dickenson, 2005-11-25 Provides an up-to-date, insightful take on modern American cinema's relations with and influence on Reagan's, Clinton's and both Bush's administrations. George W. Bush, Clinton and Ronald Reagan's relations are revealed with radical celebrities like Sean Penn, Tim Robbins, Susan Sarandon and Warren Beatty. It contains unique behind-the-scenes stories and exclusive revealing interviews with Hollywood celebrities. Described by Tony Garnett as an ambitious and refreshing book, Hollywood's New Radicalism is a timely and contentious account of the last twenty-five years of American cinema. Ben Dickenson tells the story of the corporate take-over of the movies in the 1970s and the subsequent transformation of Hollywood into the dominant force in the global media industry. Writing from the intersection where politics, society and cinema meet, and using exclusive interviews with Hollywood personalities, he explores the radicalising effect of such changes on liberal filmmakers like Warren Beatty, Michael Moore and Sean Penn in the past decade. He demonstrates how left wing messages smuggled their way into 1980s movies found a fuller voice in independent American cinema during the 1990s and flirted with mainstream popularity at the start of the new millennium Bringing the story up to and through the 2004 Presidential election he reveals how important Hollywood figures have become key members of a vigorous left wing opposition to George W Bush s Presidency

The Theatre of Joseph Conrad Richard J. Hand,2005-09-08 Although the dramatic dimension to Joseph Conrad s fiction is frequently acknowledged his own experiments in drama have traditionally been marginalized However in all of Conrad s plays we see a distinct effort to investigate seriously the dramatic form and some of his plays are startlingly ahead of their time Furthermore all of the plays are adaptations and comprise One Day More based on Tomorrow Laughing Anne based on Because of the Dollars Victory A Drama and The Secret Agent The creation of these reveals much about the history theory and practice of this fascinating cultural process
