The Indian English Novel Priyamvada Gopal, 2009 The Oxford Studies in Postcolonial Literatures series offers stimulating and accessible introductions to definitive topics and key genres and regions within the rapidly diversifying field of postcolonial literary studies in English It is often claimed that unlike the British novel or the novel in indigenous Indian languages Anglophone fiction in India has no genealogy of its own Interrogating this received idea Priyamvada Gopal shows how the English language or Anglophone Indian novel is a heterogeneous body of fiction in which certain dominant trends and recurrent themes are nevertheless discernible It is a genre that has been distinguished from its inception by a preoccupation with both history and nation as these come together to shape what scholars have termed the idea of India Structured around themes such as Gandhi and Fiction The Bombay Novel and The Novel of Partition this study traces lines of influence across significant literary works and situates individual writers and texts in their historical context Its emergence out of the colonial encounter and nation formation has impelled the Anglophone novel to return repeatedly to the question What is India In the most significant works of Anglophone fiction India emerges not just as a theme but as a point of debate reflection and contestation Writers whose works are considered in their context include Rabindranath Tagore Mulk Raj Anand RK Narayan Salman Rushdie Nayantara Sahgal Amitav Ghosh Arundhati Roy and Vikram Seth

Novel Relations Alicia Mireles Christoff, 2022-05-17 The first comprehensive look at how Victorian fiction and British psychoanalysis shaped each other Novel Relations engages twentieth century post Freudian British psychoanalysis in an unprecedented way as literary theory Placing the writing of figures like D W Winnicott W R Bion Michael and Enid Balint Joan Riviere Paula Heimann and Betty Joseph in conversation with canonical Victorian fiction Alicia Christoff reveals just how much object relations can teach us about how and why we read These thinkers illustrate the ever shifting impact our relations with others have on the psyche and help us see how literary figures characters narrators authors and other readers shape and structure us too For Christoff novels are charged relational fields Closely reading novels by George Eliot and Thomas Hardy Christoff shows that traditional understandings of Victorian fiction change when we fully recognize the object

relations of reading It is not by chance that British psychoanalysis illuminates underappreciated aspects of Victorian fiction so vibrantly Victorian novels shaped modern psychoanalytic theories of psyche and relationality including the eclipsing of empire and race in the construction of subject Relational reading opens up both Victorian fiction and psychoanalysis to wider political and postcolonial dimensions while prompting a closer engagement with work in such areas as critical race theory and gender and sexuality studies The first book to examine at length the connections between British psychoanalysis and Victorian fiction Novel Relations describes the impact of literary form on readers and on twentieth and twenty first century theories of the subject Preromanticism Marshall Brown,1991 Using an outmoded term in an entirely new way Preromanticism seeks the common ground of British literature from 1740 to 1798 not in foreshadowings of Romanticism but in incomplete discoveries and in impediments to expression that Romanticism was to lift Featuring readings of masterpieces in all genres that draw widely on recent innovations in literary theory it highlights the variety of experimentation in a transitional epoch Red States Gina Caison,2018-10-01 Red States uses a regional focus in order to examine the tenets of white southern nativism and Indigenous resistance to colonialism in the U S South Gina Caison argues that popular misconceptions of Native American identity in the U S South can be understood by tracing how non Native audiences in the region came to imagine indigeneity through the presentation of specious histories presented in regional literary texts and she examines how Indigenous people work against these narratives to maintain sovereign land claims in their home spaces through their own literary and cultural productions As Caison demonstrates these conversations in the U S South have consequences for how present day conservative political discourses resonate across the United States Assembling a newly constituted archive that includes regional theatrical and musical performances pre Civil War literatures and contemporary novels Caison illuminates the U S South s continued investment in settler colonialism and the continued Indigenous resistance to this paradigm Ultimately she concludes that the region is indeed made up of red states but perhaps not in the way readers initially imagine Voices Roger Ladd Memmott,2014-04-06 VOICES A Gemstone Book TRADE PAPERBACK 250 pages When the World Conspires against you where do you turn Kala Westergaard sees herself as a modern day Joan of Arc with the unwarranted persecution but without a cause Orphaned at the age of four she is raised by her grandmother and aunt until the fateful night when she and her boyfriend coming back from a party are run off the road by a deer in the headlights Before morning breaks this simple accident leads to a series of murders and rape setting in motion the novel s chain of life altering passions passions that speak profoundly of the mysteries of human character and our own personal voices that dictate those passions VOICES is an utterly stirring erotically charged and morally complex tale of uncompromising honesty especially for those who can read between the lines those telltale white spaces where only the most naive think nothing resides Paris and the Fetish Alistair Rolls,2014-01-05 Freud s 1927 essay on the acquisition of a screen memory or fetish allows the subject to come to terms with the traumatic truth that for him dominates the present moment in Freud's scenario the truth of mother's sexuality by maintaining alongside and not in place of it a parallel story of the past the myth of the phallic mother In this book Freud's theory of the fetish and in particular this way of allowing two opposed and ostensibly mutually exclusive narratives to co exist is used to provide a number of Parisian crime texts with radical new solutions The fetishistic world view of Charles Baudelaire's poetics will be shown to provide the template for all overvalued instances of women passing by notably it will be seen how the famous assault on one of Christian Dior's models as she displayed the New Look for the first time in Montmartre in 1947 depends on a fetish erected in the poem une passante The same Paris streets allow red herrings to be raised to the status of truth in novels by Fred Vargas L o Malet and Fr d ric Cathala In these texts the discovery of a primal scene allows doubt to be cast over authorial solutions and new murderers or victims to be found In the case of Jean Paul Sartre's La Naus e the fetishism at work is shown to have harboured a serial killer where no crime was previously considered to have taken place In these analyses fetishism is mapped onto prose poetics intertextuality and deconstruction in order to challenge the way we read text More importantly rereading these texts allows us to see fetishism in a new light as a force for positive creative acts of meaning making Alistair Rolls is Associate Professor of French Studies at the University of Newcastle Australia He is the author of The Flight of the Angels Intertextuality in Four Novels by Boris Vian Rodopi 1999 and with Deborah Walker of French and American Noir Dark Crossings Palgrave Macmillan 2009
