McLean, 1936 Father Struck it Rich Evalyn Walsh McLean, 1981 Defender of the Underdog Harvey Ferguson, 2023-10-01 In 1932 the worst year of the Great Depression more than twenty thousand mostly homeless World War I veterans trekked to the nation's capital to petition Congress to grant them early payment of a promised bonus The Hoover Administration and the local government urged Washington DC police chief Pelham Glassford to forcefully drive this bonus army out of the city Instead he defied both governments for months and found food and shelter for the veterans until Congress voted on their request Glassford's efforts to persuade federal and local officials to deal sympathetically with the protesters were ultimately in vain but his proposed solutions though disregarded by his supervisors demonstrate that compassion and empathy could be more effective ways of dealing with radical protests than violent suppression Father

Sex and Race, Volume 2 J. A. Rogers, 2014-09-15 In the Sex and Race series first published in the 1940s historian Joel Augustus Rogers questioned the concept of race the origins of racial differentiation and the root of the color problem Rogers surmised that a large percentage of ethnic differences are the result of sociological factors and in these volumes he gathered what he called the bran of history the uncollected unexamined history of black people in the hope that these neglected parts of history would become part of the mainstream body of Western history Drawing on a vast amount of research Rogers was attempting to point out the absurdity of racial divisions Indeed his belief in one race humanity precluded the idea of several different ethnic races The series marshals the data he had collected as evidence to prove his underlying humanistic thesis that people were one large family without racial boundaries Self trained and self published Rogers and his work were immensely popular and influential during his day even cited by Malcolm X The books are presented here in their original editions
