Granges And Manors:

Manors and Markets Bas van Bavel, 2016-08-25 The Low Countries an area roughly embracing the present day Netherlands and Belgium formed a patchwork of varied economic and social development in the Middle Ages with some regions displaying a remarkable dynamism Manors and Markets charts the history of these vibrant economies and societies and contrasts them with alternative paths of development from the early medieval period to the beginning of the seventeenth century Providing a concise overview of social and economic changes over more than a thousand years Bas van Bavel assesses the impact of the social and institutional organization that saw the Low Countries become the most urbanized and densely populated part of Europe by the end of the Middle Ages By delving into the early and high medieval history of society van Bavel uncovers the foundations of the flourishing of the medieval Flemish towns and the forces that propelled Holland towards its Golden Age Exploring the Low Countries at a regional level van Bavel highlights the importance of localized structures for determining the nature of social transitions and economic growth He assesses the role of manorial organization the emergence of markets the rise of towns the quest for self determination by ordinary people and the sharp regional differences in development that can be observed in the very long run In doing so the book offers a significant contribution to the debate about the causes of economic and social change both past and present Great Western: Manor Class Laurence Waters, 2016-08-31 The 30 Manor class 4 6 0s were designed by CB Collett in 1938 and built by the Great Western and the Western Region at Swindon in two batches 20 in 1938 9 and 10 in 1950 In order to save money the first 20 members of the class were built using parts from withdrawn 4300 class 2 6 0s and were coupled to refurbished Churchward 3 500 gallon tenders The lighter 4 6 0s Manors were given blue route classification which allowed them to work over many secondary lines The construction of the Manors completed the final stage of Colletts plan to provide a full range of 4 6 0 tender locomotives for Great Western passenger services Over the years the Manors saw extensive use on services in the South West West Wales and ex Cambrian Lines in North Wales They provided motive power for both the Pembroke Coast Express and the Cambrian Coast Express Many of the class lasted to the end of steam traction on the Western Region with the last examples being withdrawn in November 1965 Remarkably of the original 30 members of the class no fewer than 9 have survived In this book author Laurence Waters charts the history of the class from their construction at Swindon in 1938 right through to the final withdrawals in 1965 Using many previously unpublished black and white and colour photographs accompanied by informative captions each member of the class is illustrated This book should appeal to those interested in the history of Great Western Locomotive development as well as modellers of the Great Western and Western Region An Introduction to Great Western Locomotive Development Jim Champ, 2018-02-28 The first thought when contemplating a new study of the Great Western Railway locomotive fleet must surely be to ask what can there be left to say But there is no single source which gives a general introduction to the Great Western locomotive fleet There are monographs on individual classes an excellent multi volume detail study from the RCTS and superb collections of photographs but nothing that brings it all together This work is intended to provide that general introduction The volume begins with a series of short essays covering general trends in design development whilst the main body of the volume covers individual classes For each class there is a small table containing some principal dimensions and paragraphs of text covering an introduction renumbering key changes in the development of the class and information on withdrawal The volume concludes with appendices covering the development and types of standard boilers the various numbering schemes used by the GWR the arcane subject of locomotive diagrams and lot numbers and a short reference on the many lines the GWR engulfed The majority of illustrations are new profile drawings to a consistent format Described as sketches they are drawn to a consistent scale but do not claim to be scale drawings Much minor equipment has been omitted and the author has certainly not dared to include rivets Although most are based around GWR weight diagrams they are not simple traces of the original drawings Detail has been added from other sources components copied from different drawings and details have been checked against historical and modern photographs One must also bear in mind that steam locomotives were not mass produced Minor fittings frequently varied in position and changes were made over the locomotives lifetimes Nevertheless this collection of drawings provides a uniquely consistent view of the GWR locomotive fleet

Great Western, Grange Class Locomotives David Maidment,2019-03-30
The renowned British railroad historian delivers a well illustrated account of the rationale behind Collett s construction of this 80 strong class West Somerset Railway Association English railway engineer George Jackson Churchward proposed a 5ft 8in wheeled 4 6 0 for mixed traffic duties in 1901 and it was seriously considered in 1905 but it took until 1936 before his successor Charles Collett realized the plan by persuading the GWR Board to replace many of the 43XX moguls with modern standard mixed traffic engines that bore a remarkable likeness to the Churchward proposal David Maidment has written another in his series of Locomotive Portfolios for Pen enthusiasts for whom these capable machines are favorites will definitely want this volume on the bookshelf Railway Modeller
