dark memories on the souls of America's young men who found themselves in the Battle of the Bulge. Their stories, many of them told after many decades of silence, will inspire Americans to realize that the human spirit can survive even the worst circumstances. The torturous experiences of that dedicated generation will remind both present and future generations that freedom from tyranny has come at a horrible price. Weekly Bulletin New York (N.Y.). Board of Health, 1916 Don't Get Too Comfortable David Rakoff, 2010-06-04 The Indignities of Coach Class the Torments of Low Thread Count the Never Ending Quest for Artisanal Olive Oil and Other First World Problems David Rakoff's collection of autobiographical essays Fraud established him as one of our funniest most insightful writers In Don't Get Too Comfortable Rakoff journeys into the land of plenty that is contemporary North America. Rarely have greed, vanity, selfishness, and vapidness been so mercilessly and wittily portrayed. Whether contrasting the elegance of one of the last flights of the supersonic Concorde with the good times and chicken wings of Hooters, Air portraying the rarified universe of Paris fashion shows where an evening dress can cost as much as four years of college, or traveling to a private island off the coast of Belize to watch a soft-core Playboy TV shoot where he is provided with his very own personal manservant, David Rakoff takes us on a bitingly funny grand tour of our culture of excess, delving into the manic getting and spending that defines the North American way of life. Somewhere along the line, our healthy self-regard has exploded into obliterating narcissism, and Rakoff is there to map that frontier. He sits through the grotesqueries of avant-garde vaudeville in Times Square immediately following 9/11. Twenty days without food allows him to experience firsthand the wonders of detoxification and the frozen world of cryonics, whose promise of eternal life is the ultimate status symbol, leaves him very cold indeed. Much to our good fortune, at once a Wildean satire of our ridiculous culture of overconsumption and a plea for a little human decency, Don't Get Too Comfortable is a bitingly funny grand tour of our special circle of gilded age hell. These People Are Us George Singleton, 2002 This compilation of smart, hilarious stories from one of the funniest, wisest, and most surprising Southern writers of his generation is peppered with unforgettable characters, people who are trying to make sense of modern absurdities. Gastronaut Stefan Gates, 2006 An irreverent journey through the culinary world of the exotic, the bizarre, and the truly extraordinary, Gastronaut is equal parts cookbook and quest book. This hilarious journey through some of the strangest food experiences past and present is divided into three levels of escalating difficulty. My Mother's Cookbook Bob Silverstein, 1991-10 Filled with delightful homespun kitchen wisdom and a wealth of easy and elegant recipes, My Mother's Cookbook offers step-by-step instructions for the preparation of unique appetizers, deep-dish dinners, savory soups, desserts to die for, and more. The book is a joy. Jeff Smith The Frugal Gourmet The Medical Clinics of North America, 1919 Handbook of Herbs and Spices K. V.
