Flying Adventurers David K. Vaughan, 2023-05-29 Aviation books were a unique and prolific subgenre of American juvenile literature from the early to mid 20th century drawing upon the nation's intensifying interest. The first books of this type Harry L. Sayler's series Airship Boys appeared shortly after the Wright brothers' first successful flight in 1909. Following Charles Lindbergh's solo flight across the Atlantic popular series like Ted Scott and Andy Lane established the golden age of juvenile aviation literature. This work examines the 375 juvenile aviation series titles published between 1909 and 1964. It weaves together several thematic threads including the placement of aviation narratives within the context of major historical events, the technical accuracy in depictions of flying machines and the ways in which characters reflected the culture of their eras. Three appendices provide publication data for each series, a list of referenced aircraft and an annotated bibliography; there is a full index. The Aeroplane, 1928 International Reference Service, 1948 International Reference Service United States. Office of International Trade, 1948 Flight, 1910 Flying, 1921 Flight, 1958

International Reference Service United States. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, 1948 The First World Flight Lowell Thomas, 1927 Flying Magazine, 1961-10 U.S. Air Services, 1924 Aviation Week, Including Space Technology, 1927 Includes a mid-December issue called Buyer guide edition Aviation, 1924 The Entomologist's Monthly Magazine, 1864 The Rise and Fall of the Japanese Imperial Naval Air Service Peter J. Edwards, 2020-01-31

This book describes in considerable detail the people, events, ships and aircraft that shaped the Air Service from its origins in the late 19th century to its demise in 1945. The formative years began when a British Naval Mission was established in Japan in 1867 to advise on the development of balloons for naval purposes. After the first successful flights of fixed-wing aircraft in the USA and Europe, the Japanese navy sent several officers to train in Europe as pilots and imported a steady stream of new models to evaluate. During World War One, Japan became allied with the UK and played a significant part in keeping the German fleets of ships and submarines at bay in the Pacific and Indian Oceans. However, in the international naval treaties that followed, they felt betrayed since the number of capital ships, battleships and cruisers that they were allowed was below those of the USA and the UK. Aircraft carriers were not included, so a program of carrier building was started and continued until World War Two. At the same time, they developed an aircraft industry and at the beginning of war, their airplanes were comparable and in some instances superior to those of the British and Americans. Much prewar experience was gained during Japan's invasion of China, but their continued anger with America festered and resulted in their becoming allied with Germany, Italy and Vichy France during World War Two. There followed massive successful attacks on Pearl Harbor, the Philippines, the Southern Islands, Port Darwin and New Guinea. The British were decimated and the USA recoiled at the onslaught, taking over a year to regroup and take the war to the Imperial Japanese forces. Throughout the conflict, many sea battles were fought and the name Zero became legendary. When Japan eventually capitulated after the Atomic bombs were dropped the Japanese Imperial Air Service was disbanded      Combat Lore:
