Raphals, 2018-09-05 For the Greeks the craft of Odysseus and the wisdom of Athena were examples of metis an elusive cast of mind that ranged from wisdom and forethought to craft and cunning Although it informed many aspects of Greek society metis was all but absent from the language of Greek philosophy Invoking Indigenous Chinese debates Lisa Raphals here examines the role and significance of metic intelligence in classical Chinese philosophy literature history and military strategy Raphals first examines the range of meanings of the Chinese word zhi As with the Greek metis the uses of zhi include wisdom knowledge intelligence skill cleverness and cunning Drawing on parallels between the two traditions she argues that in China as in Greece metic intelligence tacitly informed many aspects of cultural and social life In China these included views of the nature of knowledge and language standards of personal and social morality and theories of military strategy and statecraft After surveying representative texts from the Warring States period Raphals considers the function of metic intelligence as the dominant quality of central characters in two novels from the Ming dynasty the Romance of Three Kingdoms and Journey to the West Finally she compares the treatment of themes of heroism and recognition in the Chinese and Greek narrative traditions Knowing Words will be welcomed by sinologists classicists and scholars of comparative philosophy and literature

Appropriation and Representation Shuhui Yang, 2020-08-06 Feng Menglong 1574 1646 was recognized as the most knowledgeable connoisseur of popular literature of his time He is known today for compiling three famous collections of vernacular short stories each containing forty stories collectively known as Sanyan Appropriation and Representation adapts concepts of ventriloquism and dialogism from Bakhtin and Holquist to explore Feng's methods of selecting source materials Shuhui Yang develops a model of development in which Feng's approach to selecting and working with his source materials becomes clear More broadly Appropriation and Representation locates Feng Menglong's Sanyan in the cultural milieu of the late Ming including the archaist movement in literature literati marginality and anxieties the subversive use of folk works and the meiren xiangcao tradition appropriating a female identity to express male frustration

Against this background a rationale emerges for Feng's choice to elevate and promote the vernacular story while stepping back from an overt authorial role

Ming Erotic Novellas Richard G Wang, 2011-03-13 Richard Wang's Ming Erotic Novellas is path breaking in its attention to a virtually ignored body of literature that certainly influenced the writing of the Jin Ping Mei, the Sanyan vernacular stories and most likely Li Yu's fiction. Compared to other titles in the field, this is the first scholarly monograph in any language to contextualize the erotic novellas of late imperial China. Moreover, existing studies in this area have tended to concentrate on a limited number of works of Chinese erotic fiction or have only brushed up against these works tangentially during more general discussion of Ming and Qing literature. Ming Erotic Novellas adopts a provocative approach to fiction, moving beyond the traditional textual analyses of gender politics and the Qing cult and examining these erotic novellas as a new genre within the contexts of print culture, readership, consumption patterns, as well as religious dimensions. Ming Erotic Novellas focuses on a group of mid to late Ming literary wenyan novellas, which are all stories of erotic romance. These novellas include a profusion of poems mixed with prose narratives that are characterized by simple literary Chinese with a tendency toward the vernacular. Their plots are complex, with some running 20,000 characters or more, allowing for nuanced character development, rich dialogue, and psychological description. Circulated widely during the Ming, the novellas had a significant impact on later erotic and scholar-beauty (caizi jiaren) novels. This particular group of novellas was of great importance in the development of Chinese fiction, functioning as a transitional link between the classical tale and the vernacular novel. By approaching these works through the lens of a cultural study, Wang is able to explore the social functions of the novellas as well as their significance in the development of Chinese fiction in the Ming cultural context.

Going to the People Chang-tai Hung, 2020-03-17 It is generally believed that Mao Zedong's populism was an abrupt departure from traditional Chinese thought. This study demonstrates that many of its key concepts had been developed several decades earlier by young May Fourth intellectuals including Liu Fu, Zhou Zuoren, and Gu Jiegang. The Chinese folk literature movement begun at National Beijing University in 1918 changed the attitudes of Chinese intellectuals toward literature and toward the common people. Turning their backs on high culture and Confucianism, young folklorists began going to the people, particularly peasants, to gather the songs, legends, children's stories, and proverbs that Chang tai Hung here describes and analyzes. Their focus on rural culture, rural people, and rural problems was later to be expanded by the Chinese Communist revolutionaries.
