American Gothic Art and Architecture in the Age of Romantic Literature Kerry Dean Carso,2014-11-15 American Gothic Art and Architecture in the Age of Romantic Literature analyses the impact British Gothic novels and historical romances had on American art and architecture in the Romantic era Key figures include Thomas Jefferson Washington Allston Alexander Jackson Davis James Fenimore Cooper Washington Irving Thomas Cole Edwin Forrest and Nathaniel Hawthorne Hawthorne articulated the subject of this book when he wrote that he could understand Sir Walter Scott s romances better after viewing Scott s Gothic Revival house Abbotsford and he understood the house better for having read the romances This study investigates this symbiotic relationship between the arts and Gothic literature to reveal new interpretative possibilities Contents Introduction Chapter One Gothic Monticello Thomas Jefferson s Garden Narratives Chapter Two Banditti Mania The Gothic Haunting of Washington Allston Chapter Three Arranging the Trap Doors The Gothic Revival Castles of Alexander Jackson Davis Chapter Four Old Dwellings Transmogrified The Homes of James Fenimore Cooper and Washington Irving Chapter Five Gothic Castles in the Landscape Thomas Cole Sir Walter Scott And the Hudson River School of Painting Chapter Six The Theatrical Spectacle of Medieval Revival Edwin Forrest s Fonthill Castle Conclusion Clap It Into a Romance Nathaniel Hawthorne s Gothic Houses Make a Way Somehow Kathryn Grover,1995-01-01 In a groundbreaking book Kathryn Grover reconstructs from their own writings the lives of African Americans in Geneva New York virtually from its beginning in the 1790s to the time of the community s first civil rights march in 1965 She weaves together demographic evidence and narratives by black Americans to recount their lives within a white controlled society

Make a Way Somehow which reflects the tenor of the gospel song whence it came is a complete and meaningful history of black Genevans with a moving focus on the individual experience The author traces five principal migrations of African Americans to northern cities the forced migration of slaves from the East and South before 1820 the antebellum fugitive slave farm to town movement the postwar migration of emancipated people the so called Great Migration between the two World Wars and the last movement that began around 1938 and ended in 1960 which was precipitated by the need for workers in large scale commercial agriculture and the war mobilization effort Grover pieces together the lives of generations of African Americans in Geneva and delineates the local system of race relations from the city s social and economic standpoint Black Genevans were kept at the fringes of society and worked in jobs that were temporary and scarce While antislavery and suffrage work was common it represented but a small portion of reform in towns whose broader sentiments opposed racial equality In a work that spans more than a hundred years the author establishes a context for understanding both the persistence of a small group of blacks and the transience of a great many others Tinged with Gold Michael A. Tomlan,2013 Tomlan explores all aspects of hop culture in the United States and provides a background for understanding the buildings devoted to drying baling and storing hops The work considers the history of these structures as it illustrates their development over almost two centuries the result of agrarian commercialism and technological improvement

Houses from Books Daniel D. Reiff,2010-11-01 Many homes across America have designs based on plans taken from pattern books or mail order catalogs In Houses from Books Daniel D Reiff traces the history of published plans and offers the first comprehensive survey of their influence on the structure and the style of American houses from 1738 to 1950 Houses from Books shows that architectural publications from Palladio s I Quattro Libri to Aladdin s Ready Cut Homes played a decisive role in every aspect of American domestic building Reiff discusses the people and the firms who produced the books as well as the ways in which builders and architects adapted the designs in communities throughout the country His book also offers a wide ranging analysis of the economic and social conditions shaping American building practices As architectural publication developed and grew more sophisticated it played an increasingly prominent part in the design and the construction of domestic buildings In villages and small towns which often did not have professional architects the publications became basic resources for carpenters and builders at all levels of expertise Through the use of published designs they were able to choose among a variety of plans styles and individual motifs and engage in a fruitful dialogue with past and present architects Houses from Books reconstructs this dialogue by examining the links between the published designs and the houses themselves Reiff s book will be indispensable to architectural historians architects preservationists and regional historians Realtors and homeowners will also find it of great interest A catalog at the end of the book can function as a guide for those attempting to locate a model and a date for a particular design Houses from Books contains a wealth of photographs many by the author that enhance its importance as a history and guide Report of the State Librarian to the Legislature of Pennsylvania ,1897
