Landscapes Of Fear:

Landscapes of Fear Yi-fu Tuan, 1979 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1981-06 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin's iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world Landscapes of Fear Vito Fumagalli, 1994 This is a brilliant and original study of the attitudes of town dwellers in the Middle Ages to nature their surroundings and the human body Fumagalli describes the natural landscape of Italy in the early Middle Ages as a sinister wilderness of dense forest and ruined towns destroyed in the barbarian invasions or abandoned after a long decline He shows how in a period of growth in the ninth century Italian towns became significant centres of power and their populations set out to restore their sense of superiority over the wild countryside and its peasant inhabitants He describes how the draining and massive forest clearance which they subsequently undertook led to a catastrophic ecological imbalance devastating floods and violent uprisings Fumagalli describes the living conditions of townspeople peasants priests and the nobility during this time of upheaval he examines their behaviour in a hierarchy as well as among peers their fear of death and of the adverse forces of nature What was it he asks that made people in the Middle Ages fear solar eclipses more than wars Drawing on a rich variety of literary and visual sources including paintings frescoes and sculpture Fumagalli analyses medieval attitudes to the body and its relationship to the spirit arguing that from the sixteenth century onwards these changed profoundly depending on a combination of economic political and cultural factors

Landscapes of Dread in Classical Antiquity Debbie Felton, 2018-04-27 Over the last two decades research in cultural geography and landscape studies has influenced many humanities fields including Classics and has increasingly drawn our attention to the importance of spaces and their contexts both geographical and social how spaces are described by language what spaces are used for by individuals and communities and how language use and the passage of time invest spaces with meaning In addition to this spatial turn in scholarship recent years have also seen an emotive turn an increased interest in the study of emotion in literature Many works on landscape in classical antiquity focus on themes such as the sacred and the pastoral and the emotions such spaces evoke such as respectively feelings of awe or tranquillity in settings both urban and rural Far less scholarship has been generated by the locus terribilis the space associated with negative emotions because of the bad things that happen there In short the recent emotive turn in humanities studies has so far largely neglected several of the more negative emotions including anxiety fear terror and dread The papers in this volume focus on those neglected negative emotions especially dread and they do so while treating many types of space including domestic suburban rural and virtual and while covering many genres and authors including the epic poems of Homer Greek tragedy Roman poetry and historiography medical writing paradoxography and the short story Routledge Handbook of Ecocriticism and Environmental Communication Scott Slovic, Swarnalatha Rangarajan, Vidya Sarveswaran, 2019-02-01 Ecocriticism and environmental communication studies have for many years co existed as parallel disciplines occasionally crossing paths but typically operating in separate academic spheres These fields are now rapidly converging and this handbook aims to reinforce the common concerns and methodologies of the sibling disciplines The Routledge Handbook of Ecocriticism and Environmental Communication charts the history of the relationship between ecocriticism and environmental communication studies while also highlighting key new paradigms in information studies diverse examples of practical applications of environmental communication and textual analysis and the patterns and challenges of environmental communication in non Western societies Contributors to this book include literary film and religious studies scholars communication studies specialists environmental historians practicing journalists art critics linguists ethnographers sociologists literary theorists and others but all focus their discussions on key issues in textual representations of human nature relationships and on the challenges and possibilities of environmental communication The handbook is designed to map existing trends in both ecocriticism and environmental communication and to predict future directions This handbook will be an essential reference for teachers students and practitioners of environmental literature film journalism communication and rhetoric and well as the broader meta discipline of environmental humanities

The SAGE Handbook of Social Geographies Susan Smith, 2010

With clarity and confidence this vibrant volume summons up the social in geography in ways that will excite students and scholars alike Here the social is populated not only by society but by culture nature economy and politics Kay Anderson University of Western Sydney This is a remarkable collection full of intellectual gems It not only summarises the field of social geography and restates its importance but also produces a manifesto for how the field should look in the future Nigel Thrift Vice Chancellor University of Warwick The book aims to be accessible to students and specialists alike Its success lies in emphasizing the crossovers between geography and social studies The good editorial work is evident and the participating contributors are well established scholars in their respective fields Miron M Denan Geography Research Forum An excellent handbook that will attract a diversity of readers It will inspire undergraduate postgraduate students and stimulate lecturers researchers interested in the complexity and diversity of the social realm As the first of its kind in the sub discipline it is a book that is enjoyable to read and will definitely add value to a personal or library collection Michele Lobo New Zealand Geographer The social relations of difference from race and class to gender and inequality are at the heart of the concept of social geography This handbook reconsiders and redirects research in the discipline while examining the changing ideas of individuals and their relationship with structures of power Organised into five sections the SAGE Handbook of Social Geographies maps out the connections anchored in social geography Difference and Diversity builds on enduring ideas of the structuring of social relations and examines the ruptures and rifts and continuities and connections around social divisions Geographies and Social Economies rethinks the sociality subjectivity and placement of money markets price and value Geographies of Wellbeing builds from a foundation of work on the spaces of fear anxiety and disease towards newer concerns with geographies of health resilience and contentment Geographies of Social Justice connects ideas through an examination of the possibilities and practicalities of normative theory and frames the central notion of Social geography that things always could and should be different Doing Social Geography is not exploring the how to of research but rather the entanglement of it with practicalities moralities and politics This will be an essential resource for academics researchers practitioners and postgraduates across human geography

Landscape and Power in Geographical Space as a Social-Aesthetic Construct Olaf Kühne,2018-02-13 This book examines the power definiteness of landscape from a social constructivist perspective with a particular focus on the importance of aesthetic concepts of landscape in development It seeks to answer the question of how societal notions of landscape emerge how they are individually updated and how these ideas affect the use and design of physical space It also analyzes how physical manifestations of societal activity impact on understandings of individual and societal landscapes and addresses the essential aspect of the social construction of landscape cultural specificity which in turn is discussed in the context of the expansion of a western landscape concept The book offers an unprecedented comprehensive and detailed examination of societal power relations in the context of landscape development The numerous case studies from the physical manifestation of modern spatial planning in the United States the power discourses concerning the design of model railway landscapes and the medial production of stereotypical landscape notions shed light on the complex and multilayered interactions of collective and individual landscape references It is a valuable resource for geographers sociologists landscape architects landscape planners and philosophers

Histories of the Self Penny Summerfield,2018-07-04 Histories of the Self interrogates historians work with personal narratives It introduces students and researchers to scholarly approaches to diaries letters oral history and memoirs as sources that give access to intimate aspects of the past Historians are interested as never before in how people thought and felt about their lives This turn to the personal has focused attention on the capacity of subjective records to illuminate both individual experiences and the wider world within which narrators lived However sources such as letters diaries memoirs and oral history have been the subject of intense debate over the last forty years concerning both their value and the uses to which they can be put This book traces the engagement of historians of the personal with notions of historical reliability and with the issue of representativeness and it explores the ways in which they have overcome the scepticism of earlier practitioners It celebrates their adventures with the meanings of the past buried in personal narratives and applauds their transformation of historical practice Supported by case studies from across the globe and spanning the fifteenth to twenty first centuries Histories of the Self is essential reading for students and researchers interested in the ways personal testimony has been and can be used by historians

The Urban Political Economy and Ecology of Automobility Alan Walks,2014-07-25 Just how resilient are our urban societies to social energy environmental and or financial shocks and how does this vary among cities and nations Can our cities be made more sustainable and can environmental economic and social collapse be staved off

through changes in urban form and travel behaviour How might rising indebtedness and the recent series of financial crises be related to automobile dependence and patterns of urban automobile use To what extent does the system and economy of automobility factor in the production of urban socio spatial inequalities and how might these inequalities in mobility be understood and measured What can we learn from the politics of mobility and social movements within cities What is the role of automobility and auto dependence in differentiating groups both within cities and rural areas and among transnational migrants moving across international borders These are just some of the questions this book addresses This volume provides a holistic and reflexive account of the role played by automobility in producing reproducing and differentiating social economic and political life in the contemporary city as well as the role played by the city in producing and reproducing automobile inequalities The first section titled Driving Vulnerability deals with issues of global importance related to economic social financial and environmental sustainability and resilience and socialization The second section Driving Inequality is concerned with understanding the role played by automobility in producing urban socio spatial inequalities including those rooted in accessibility to work migration status and ethnic concentration and new measures of mobility based inequality derived from the concept of effective speed The third section titled Driving Politics explores the politics of mobility in particular places with an eye to demonstrating both the relevance of the politics of mobility for influencing and reinforcing actually existing neoliberalisms and the kinds of politics that might allow for reform or restructuring of the automobile city into one that is more socially politically and environmentally just In the conclusion to the book Walks draws on the findings of the other chapters to comment on the relationship between automobility neoliberalism and citizenship and to lay out strategies for dealing with the urban car system

Extreme Landscapes of Leisure Patrick Lavolette, 2016-04-15

In recent years there has been an increased engagement throughout the social sciences with the study of extreme places and practices Dangerous games and adventure tours have shifted from being marginal exotic or mad to being more than merely acceptable They are now exemplary mainstream even there are a variety of new types increasing numbers of people are doing them and they are being appropriated and have infiltrated more and more contexts This book argues that hazardous sports and adventure tourism have become rather paradoxical As a set of activities where players and holidaymakers are closer to death or danger than they would otherwise be they are the complete opposite of normal games or vacations Adventure sports and tours reverse the general definition of a holiday as being an escape from the seriousness of everyday life as in most cases they are innately serious requiring as they do life or death decision making Beginning with the rise in colonial explorations and moving on to consider the Dangerous Sports Club of Oxford this book examines the increasing phenomena of adventure sports such as bungee jumping cliff jumping or tomb stoning surfing and parkour within a framework of positive risk It explores how certain assumptions about knowledge agency the body and nature are beginning to coalesce around newly developing spheres of social relations Additionally extreme games have become activities that are germane to the dawning of green social thought and so the book also addresses issues that deal with the intimate connections that exist between pleasure and the moral responsibility towards the environment

Movement Ecology of Afrotropical Forest Mammals Rafael Reyna-Hurtado, Colin A. Chapman, Mario Melletti, 2023-04-24 This book brings a unique perspective to animal movement studies because all studies come from African tropical environments where the great diversity either biological and structural trees shrubs vines epiphytes present the animals with several options to fulfil their basic needs These conditions have forced the evolution of unique movement patterns and ecological strategies The book follows on our previous book Movement Ecology of Neotropical Forest Mammals but focuses on tropical African forests Movement is an essential process in the life of all organisms Animals move because they are looking for primary needs such as food water cover mating and to avoid predators Understanding the causes and consequences of animal movement is not an easy task for behavioural ecologists Many animals are shy move in secretive ways and are very sensible to human presence therefore studying the movements of mammals in tropical environments presents logistical and methodological challenges However researchers have recently started to be solved these challenges and exciting new information is emerging In this book we are compiling a set of extraordinary studies where researchers have used new technology and the strongest methodological approaches to understand movement patterns in wild African forest mammals This second book should inspire early career researchers to investigate wild mammal s movements in some of the most amazing forest in the world African tropical forests

Exploring Interstitiality with Mangroves Kate Judith, 2022-12-15 Mangroves thrive in intertidal zones where they gather organisms and objects from land river and ocean They develop into complex ecologies in these dynamic in between spaces Mobilising resources drawn from semiotic materialism and the environmental humanities this book seeks a form of social theory from the mangroves that is to think interstitiality from the perspective of mangroves themselves exploring the crafty and tenacious world making they are engaged in Three sections weave together theory science and close observation responding to calls within the environmental humanities for detailed attention to interactions in marginal spaces and those of interpretative tension It examines interstitiality by considering theories of difference relationality and reflexivity in the context of mangrove socioecological materialities drawing on influential writers such as Michel Serres Jacques Derrida Deborah Bird Rose Donna Haraway Brian Massumi and Maurice Merleau Ponty as theoretical touchstones Exploring Interstitiality with Mangroves is a lyrically crafted philosophical analysis that will appeal to scholars researchers and students interested in the developing frontiers of more than human post anthropocentric writing theory and methodologies It will be of interest to readers in ecocriticism environmental humanities cultural geography place studies and nature writing The Open Access version of the Introduction available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9781003286493> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license The funder for this chapter is the Australian Academy of the Humanities via the Australian Academy of the Humanities Publication Subsidy Scheme

How Primates Eat Joanna E. Lambert, Margaret A. H. Bryer, Jessica M. Rothman, 2024-07-26 Exploring everything from nutrients to food acquisition and research methods a comprehensive synthesis of the study of diet and feeding in nonhuman primates What do we mean when we say that a diet is nutritious Why can some animals get all the energy they need from eating leaves while others would perish on such a diet Why don't mountain gorillas eat fruit all day as chimpanzees do Answers to these questions about food and feeding are among the many tasty morsels that emerge from this authoritative book Informed by the latest scientific tools and millions of hours of field and laboratory work on species across the primate order and around the globe this volume is an exhaustive synthesis of our understanding of what why and how primates eat State of the art information presented at physiological behavioral ecological and evolutionary scales will serve as a road map for graduate students researchers and practitioners as they work toward a holistic understanding of life as a primate and the urgent conservation consequences of diet and food availability in a changing world Place, Nature and Spirit - A Lake District Experience Nigel Hammett, 2012-05-01 This book uses some of the poetry of William Wordsworth to examine the changed aesthetic of landscape at the heart of the Romantic Era Wordsworth was the greatest figure of the English Lake District and his work looked forward to the conservationist and environmental movement of the modern era Essentials of Landscape Ecology Kimberly A. With, 2019 Presents the principles theory methods and applications of landscape ecology and is supplemented by numerous examples and case studies from a variety of systems Visual Representations of the Arctic Markku Lehtimäki, Arja Rosenholm, Vlad Strukov, 2021-03-30 Privileging the visual as the main method of communication and meaning making this book responds critically to the worldwide discussion about the Arctic and the North addressing the interrelated issues of climate change ethics and geopolitics A multi disciplinary multi modal exploration of the Arctic it supplies an original conceptualization of the Arctic as a visual world encompassing an array of representations imaginings and constructions By examining a broad range of visual forms media and forms such as art film graphic novels maps media and photography the book advances current debates about visual culture The book enriches contemporary theories of the visual taking the Arctic as a spatial entity and also as a mode of exploring contemporary and historical visual practices including imaginary constructions of the North Original contributions include case studies from all the countries along the Arctic shore with Russian material occupying a large section due to the country's impact on the region The Spatial Dimension of Risk Hans-Detlef Müller-Mahn, 2013 Through its exploration of the spatial dimension of risk this book offers a brand new approach to theorizing risk and significant improvements in how to manage tolerate and take risks A broad range of risks are examined including natural hazards climate change political violence and state failure Case studies range from the Congo to Central Asia from tsunami in Japan and civil war affected areas in Sri Lanka to avalanche hazards in Austria In each of these cases the authors examine the importance and role of space in the causes and differentiation of risk in how we can conceptualize risk from a spatial perspective and in the relevance of space and locality for risk governance This new approach endorsed by Ragnar L. Fstedt and Ortwin Renn two of the world's leading and most prolific risk analysts is essential reading for those charged with studying, anticipating and managing risks

Ecocritical Geopolitics Elena dell'Agnese, 2021-05-26 What is the role of popular culture in shaping our discourse about the multifaceted system of material things, subjects and causal agents that we call environment? Ecocritical Geopolitics offers a new theoretical perspective and approach to the analysis of environmental discourse in popular culture. It combines ecocritical and critical geopolitical approaches to explore three main themes: dystopian visions, the relationship between the human, post-human and nature, and speciesism and carnism. The importance of popular culture in the construction of geopolitical discourse is widely recognized. From ecocriticism, we also appreciate that literature, cinema or theatre can offer a mirror of what the individual author wants to communicate about the relationship between the human being and what can be defined as non-human. This book provides an analysis of environmental discourses with the theoretical tools of critical geopolitics and the analytical methodology of ecocriticism. It develops and disseminates a new scientific approach defined as ecocritical geopolitics to offer an idea of the power of popular culture in the realization of environmental discourse. Referencing sources as diverse as The Road, The Shape of Water, Lady and the Tramp and TV cooking shows, this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of geography, environmental studies, film studies and environmental humanities.

Foraging David W. Stephens, Joel S. Brown, Ronald C. Ydenberg, 2007-09 Foraging is fundamental to animal survival and reproduction yet it is much more than a simple matter of finding food; it is a biological imperative. Animals must find and consume resources to succeed and they make extraordinary efforts to do so. The book discusses the mechanics of foraging, modern foraging theory and foraging ecology. The fourteen essays cover all the relevant issues including cognition, individual behaviour, caching behaviour, parental behaviour, antipredator behaviour, social behaviour, population and community ecology, herbivory and conservation.

Ecology of Predation and Scavenging and the Interface Marcos Moleón, 2021-07-01 Predation and scavenging are pervasive ecological interactions in both terrestrial and aquatic environments. The ecology, evolution and conservation of predators and scavengers have received wide scientific attention and public awareness. However, the close connection that exists between predation and scavenging has not been emphasized until very recently. The recognition that carnivorous animals may obtain meat by either hunting prey or scavenging their carcasses has profound implications from individual behavior to population, community and ecosystem levels. However, many relevant questions still remain unexplored. This book deals with some of these questions with the final aim to definitively dismiss the traditional view that predation and scavenging are disconnected ecological processes. This compendium of science may help to inspire ecologists, evolutionary biologists, paleontologists, anthropologists, epidemiologists, forensic scientists, anatomists and, of course, conservation biologists in their stimulating and promising endeavor of achieving a more comprehensive understanding of carnivory in a rapidly changing world.
