Schneider, Elly Ifantidou, 2020-08-24 This handbook provides a comprehensive and up to date survey of a wide range of developmental and clinical issues in pragmatics Principally the contributions to this volume deal with pragmatic competence in a native language in a second or foreign language and in a selection of language disorders The topics which are covered explore questions of production and comprehension on the utterance and discourse level Topics addressed concern the acquisition and learning teaching and testing assessment and treatment of various aspects of pragmatic ability knowledge and use These include for example the acquisition and development of speech acts implicatures irony story telling and interactional competence Phenomena such as pragmatic awareness and pragmatic transfer are also addressed The disorders considered include clinical conditions pertaining to children and to adults Specifically these are among others autism spectrum disorders Down syndrome and Alzheimer s disease Corpus and Sociolinguistics Bróna Murphy,2010 Age is by far the most underdeveloped of the sociolinguistic variables in terms of research literature To date research on age has been patchy and has generally focused on the early life stages such as childhood and adolescence ignoring for the most part healthy adulthood as a stage worthy of scrutiny This book examines the discourse of adulthood and accounts for sociolinguistic variation with regards to age and gender through the exploration of a 90 000 word age and gender differentiated spoken corpus of Irish English The book explores both the distribution and use of a number of high frequency pragmatic features of spoken discourse that appear as key items in the corpus Part 1 of the book provides an introduction a theoretical overview of age as a sociolinguistic variable and a description on how to compile a small spoken corpus for sociolinguistic research Part 2 consists of five chapters which investigate and explore key features such as hedges vague category markers intensifiers boosters and high frequent items of taboo language in relation to the variables age and gender The book is of interest to undergraduates or postgraduates taking formal courses in sociolinguistics applied linguistics pragmatics or discourse analysis It is also of interest to students and researchers interested in using corpus linguistics in sociolinguistic research Aphasiology Patrick Doyle,2002-05-02 The First Annual Clinical Aphasiology Conference CAC was convened in Albuquerque in 1971 It was attended by a small group of primarily practicing clinicians dedicated to meeting the human service needs of their clients while recognizing the importance of contributing to the collective knowledge base of their discipline by providing empirical evidence supporting the links between their clinical interventions and outcomes Thirteen years later Barlow Hays and Nelson 1984 would describe in their now seminal publication The Scientist Practitioner an integrated model of applied behavioral research its strategies and methods and the role of the practitioner in the acquisition of knowledge directed toward improving clinical procedures and outcomes By this time 13 Volumes of CAC publications had already been published and comprised the single largest source of applied clinical data addressing the nature of aphasia and its clinical management These documents represented the product of the scientist practitioner model in action prior to its formalization by Barlow et al and provide a rich source of evidence supporting the efficacy of aphasia rehabilitation Unfortunately these and subsequent CAC publications remain unavailable to the larger clinical and scientific community due to their limited distribution Much has changed in the ensuing years Indeed many of the healthcare delivery systems in which aphasia rehabilitation is now practiced in 2002 severely restrict the frequency and duration of clinical services Increasingly practitioners are required to be more accountable for their clinical outcomes and to measure behavioral change in units that represent meaningful differences to consumers Now more than ever it is critical that the scientist practitioner model be promoted in order to better serve individuals with aphasia and to further advance the collective knowledge and evidence base of the discipline Now more than ever the available evidence needs to be disseminated as broadly as possible These goals are in keeping with the mission of CAC as envisioned by its founding members and remain the focused commitment of its many participants steering committee and publication board In keeping with these goals the papers that appear in this special edition of Aphasiology were selected based upon their theoretical importance clinical relevance and scientific merit from among the many platform and poster presentations comprising the 31st Annual Clinical Aphasiology Conference held in Santa Fe New Mexico in 2001 Each paper was peer reviewed by the Editorial Consultants and Associate Editors acknowledged herein consistent with the standards of Aphasiology and the rigours of merit review that represent this indexed archival journal that is accessible to clinicians and scientists all over the world
