Language and Development Professor Christopher N. Candlin, 2014-09-19 Language and Development Teachers in a Changing World comprises twenty one case accounts contributed by language education professionals working in the context of international development. Frank and stimulating the contributions explore the implementation of interactive educational approaches in ten Asian countries. The accounts draw on real life experiences from countries which collectively have been under represented in the literature to date: Cambodia, China, India, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Papua New Guinea, the Philippines, Singapore and Vietnam. The issues discussed will be familiar to those working in similar situations throughout the world as many questions are raised and answered in the lively depictions of classroom practice, project management and funding relationships. The editors' introductory and concluding sections provide a descriptive conceptual framework for the practice based accounts while allowing the reader the freedom to interpret the meanings and the theoretical implications of each account for themselves.

Technology and English Studies James A. Inman, Beth L. Hewett, 2020-07-24 In scholarship about technology and English studies, there are a number of first person narratives that suggest what may be termed traditional professional paths. That is, they chronicle the positive influence of a particular technology class, professor, or publication and suggest that it inspired a distinct and rewarding professional path. What is missing is the rest of the story: alternate ways that individuals have come to do work in technology and English studies and analysis of what this means for paths others might pursue. Technology and English Studies: Innovative Professional Paths meets this need. The volume begins with definitions of its three central terms: technology, English studies, and professional paths. Chapters are organized in four sections reflecting both a chronological progression and thematic professional development: The Past as the Future, Searching the Academy, Pushing Boundaries, and Forging Beyond. As a forerunner in addressing professionalization across the domains that comprise technology and English studies, it will prove foundational for many readers with non-traditional or otherwise alternate backgrounds who are working out what professional paths might be available to them. Technology and English Studies: Innovative Professional Paths is an important professional development resource for professors, instructors, and graduate students across the field of English studies, including rhetoric and composition, computers and writing, computer-assisted language learning, literary and linguistic computing, literary studies, English education, technical communication, linguistics, writing centers, second language education, ESL, and creative writing.

Language and Education M.A.K. Halliday, 2009-03-31

Supporting Multilingual Learners' Academic Language Development Luciana C. de Oliveira, 2023-04-13 A practical and comprehensive resource, Supporting Multilingual Learners' Academic Language Development: A Language-Based Approach to Content Instruction introduces an accessible language-based approach to teaching academic language to multilingual learners across the content areas. Luciana C. de Oliveira provides elementary school teachers with everything they need to know to successfully teach grade-level content to multilingual learners. Chapters are organized by subject, addressing the specific language demands of teaching English language arts, social studies, mathematics, and science. Each chapter features examples of implementation in grades K-5, practical strategies, and a wealth of tables, figures, and other resources. The Language-Based Approach to Content Instruction (LACI) in this book provides teachers with a ready-to-use framework of six scaffolding elements that serves as a guide to enable multilingual learners to meet the grade-level standard of their peers without simplification. Aligned with WIDA and CCSS standards, this resource provides the tools and methods teachers need to support multilingual learners' academic language development in the content area classroom.

Handbook of Home Language Maintenance and Development Andrea C. Schalley, Susana A. Eisenclas, 2020-06-22 Even a cursory look at conference programs and proceedings reveals a burgeoning interest in the field of social and affective factors in home language maintenance and development To date however research on this topic has been published in piecemeal fashion subsumed under the more general umbrella of bilingualism Within bilingualism research there has been an extensive exploration of linguistic and psycholinguistic perspectives on the one hand and educational practices and outcomes on the other In comparison social and affective factors which lead people to either maintain or shift the language have been under researched This is the first volume that brings together the different strands in research on social and affective factors in home language maintenance and development ranging from the micro level family language policies and practices to the meso level community initiatives and the macro level mainstream educational policies and their implementation The volume showcases a wide distribution across contexts and populations explored Contributors from around the world represent different research paradigms and perspectives providing a rounded overview of the state of the art in this flourishing field
