The Language of Word

Meaning Pierrette Bouillon, Federica Busa, 2001-01-15 This volume is a collection of original contributions from outstanding scholars in linguistics philosophy and computational linguistics exploring the relation between word meaning and human linguistic creativity The papers present different aspects surrounding the question of what is word meaning a problem that has been the centre of heated debate in all those disciplines that directly or indirectly are concerned with the study of language and of human cognition The discussions are centred around a view of the mental lexicon as outlined in the Generative Lexicon theory Pustejovsky 1995 which proposes a unified model for defining word meaning The individual contributors present their evidence for a generative approach as well as critical perspectives which provides for a volume where word meaning is not viewed only from a particular angle or from a particular concern but from a wide variety of topics each introduced and explained by the editors

Language - Meaning - Social Construction, 2016-09-12 This uniquely interdisciplinary collection of essays derives in part from a two day international conference held at Heriot Watt University in November 1999 and conceived as a critical forum for the discussion of the concept of interaction The collection satisfies a continuing need for interdisciplinary and multi disciplinary research in the humanities and stems from an awareness of the growing currency of interactionist theories in several fields and the need to make a critical contribution to such theories and related concepts such as intersubjectivity and dialogism Rather than advancing an apologetic view of interaction as something given the contributors carefully consider and challenge commonly held epistemological and theoretical assumptions relating to the interaction concept Interaction if it is to be a meaningful concept must be seen in terms of its modes e g linguistic media based units language logic communication objectives understanding consensus stability and fields of operation face to face interaction translation social codification This collection is intended to offer a provisional response to the question posed by one of its contributors What does it mean today that communication as the mechanism of social coordination has itself become complex It means that erstwhile certainties of meaning transmission stability duality or dichotomy identity and difference can be challenged and theoretically modelled in new contexts Interdisciplinarity is one means by which to illuminate this complexity from several sides in the pursuit of theoretical blind spots in the field of critical communication studies The book will be of particular interest to researchers and students in communication theory linguistics translation studies logic social psychology discourse studies European Studies philosophy and semiotics

Philosophy of Language: Meaning, Truth, and Linguistic Critique Boreas M.L. Saage, Philosophy of Language Meaning Truth and Linguistic Critique offers a comprehensive exploration of how language shapes our understanding of reality and mediates our access to truth This thoughtfully structured work navigates the complex terrain where language thought and world intersect The book begins by tracing the historical development of philosophy of language from ancient Greek considerations by Plato and Aristotle through medieval debates on universals to modern linguistic turns It systematically addresses fundamental questions about the relationship between language and reality competing theories of meaning and the persistent problem of reference Readers will discover how different methodological approaches analytical phenomenological and hermeneutical provide complementary insights into linguistic phenomena The text carefully examines how language both enables and constrains human knowledge with particular attention to the Sapir Whorf hypothesis and the cognitive role of metaphors A substantial portion is devoted to various conceptions of truth in language comparing correspondence coherence and pragmatic theories while exploring how linguistic categorization systems structure our understanding of the world The critique of language emerges as a central theme examining logical critiques in the tradition of Frege and Russell ideological analysis of linguistic structures and Wittgenstein s therapeutic approach These theoretical frameworks are applied to practical concerns identifying manipulative language clarifying vague concepts and developing more precise specialized vocabularies The social dimensions of language receive thorough treatment through Foucauldian discourse analysis speech act theory and examination of communicative patterns in media politics and science The book concludes with reflections on language ethics the structure of philosophical dialogue and the importance of linguistic self awareness This volume will appeal to students and scholars interested in the philosophy of language critique of language and the intersection of linguistic analysis with broader philosophical and social questions
