Language And Time:

Meaning, Language, and Time Kevin J. Porter, 2006-03-11 Given the history of concepts like meaning time language and discourse any serious attempt to understand them must be interdisciplinary so MEANING LANGUAGE AND TIME draws on a wide range of important work in the history of philosophy rhetoric and composition In this groundbreaking work Porter joins these conversations with the aim of breaching the traditional disciplinary walls and opening new areas of inquiry

Language in Time Peter Auer, Elizabeth Couper-Kuhlen, Frank Muller, 1999-08-26 The authors here promote the reintroduction of temporality into the description and analysis of spoken interaction They argue that spoken words are in fact temporal objects and that unless linguists consider how they are delivered within the context of time they will not capture the full meaning of situated language use Their approach is rigorously empirical with analyses of English German and Italian rhythm all grounded in sequences of actual talk in interaction

The Spatial Language of Time Kevin Ezra Moore, 2014-05-15 The Spatial Language of Time presents a crosslinguistically valid state of the art analysis of space to time metaphors using data mostly from English and Wolof Africa but additionally from Japanese and other languages Metaphors are analyzed in terms of their most direct motivation by basic human experiences Grady 1997a Lakoff Johnson 1980 This motivation explains the crosslinguistic appearance of certain metaphors but does not say anything about temporal metaphor systems that deviate from the types documented here Indeed we observe interesting culture and language specific metaphor phenomena Refining earlier treatments of temporal metaphor and adapting to temporal experience Levinson's 2003 idea of frames of reference the author proposes a contrast between perspective neutral and perspective specific frames of reference in temporal metaphor that has important crosslinguistic ramifications for the temporal semantics of FRONT BEHIND expressions This book refines the cognitive linguistic approach to temporal metaphor by analyzing the extensive temporal structure in what has been considered the source domain of space and showing how temporal metaphors can be better understood by downplaying the space time dichotomy and analyzing metaphor structure in terms of conceptual frames This book is of interest to linguists psychologists anthropologists philosophers and others who may have wondered about relationships between space and time

Language in Time of Revolution Benjamin Harshav, 2023-04-28 This book deals with two remarkable events the worldwide transformations of the Jews in the modern age and the revival of the ancient Hebrew language It is a book about social and cultural history addressed not only to the professional historian and a book about Jews addressed not only to Jewish readers It tries to rethink a wide field of cultural phenomena and present the main ideas to the intelligent reader or better present a family picture of related and contiguous ideas Many names and details are mentioned which may not all be familiar to the uninitiated their function is to provide some concrete texture for this dramatic story but the focus is on the story itself This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact

Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1993 This book deals with two remarkable events the worldwide transformations of the Jews in the modern age and the revival of the ancient Hebrew language It is a book about social and cultural history addressed not only to the professional historian and a Time and TAME in Language Ana Maria Tramunt Ibaños, Karina Veronica Molsing, 2014-09-26 This book presents a collection of papers on various syntactic and semantic aspects of temporal expression in language The articles included in this volume were presented at the I International Meeting on Syntax and Semantics and their Interfaces with the main theme of the event being time The authors include well renowned researchers as well as new contributors to the field who present cutting edge research on a variety of topics ranging from the fundamental nature of time to formal approaches to specific tense aspect structures as well as their interaction with other grammatical categories This volume represents a valuable contribution to the field and will be of interest to scholars studying the representation of time in language as well as to syntacticians and semanticists in general

Time, Metaphor and Language Sarah E. Duffy, Michele I. Feist, 2023-11-23 This book explores how metaphoric conceptualizations of time arise from an interplay between space context and individual characteristics Time and Language Ori Sela, Zvi Ben-Dor Benite, Joshua A. Fogel, 2023 China's past and present have been in a continuous dialogue throughout history one that is heavily influenced by time and language the temporal orientation and the linguistic apparatus used to express and solidify identity ideas and practices Presenting a host of in depth case studies Time and Language New Sinology and Chinese History argues for and demonstrates the significance of New Sinology by restoring the role of language philology in the research and understanding of how modern China emerged Reading the modern as a careful and ongoing conversation with the past renders the new in a different perspective This volume is a significant step toward a new historical narrative of China's modern history one wherein ruptures can exist in tandem with continuities The collection accentuates the deep connection between language and power one that spans well across China's long past and hence the immense consequences of linguistic related methodology to the comprehension of power structures and identity in China Each of the essays in this volume tackles these issues the methodological and the thematic from a different angle but they all share the Sinological prism of analysis and the basic understanding that a much longer timeframe is required to make sense of Chinese modernity The languages examined are diverse including modern and classical Chinese as well as Manchu and Japanese Taken together they bring a spectrum of linguistic perspectives and hence a spectrum of power relations and identities to the forefront While the essays focus on late Qing and early twentieth century eras they refer often to earlier periods which are necessary to making real sense of later eras The methodological and the thematic do not only converge but also generate a plea for fostering and expanding this approach in current and future studies Time in Language Wolfgang Klein, 2013-09-13 This book looks at the various ways in which time is reflected in natural language All natural languages have developed a rich repertoire of devices to express time but linguists have tended to concentrate on tense and aspect rather than discourse principles Klein considers the four main ways in which language expresses time the verbal categories of tense and aspect inherent lexical features of the verb and various types of temporal adverbs Klein looks at the interaction of these four devices and suggests new or partly new treatments of these devices to express temporality Time: Language, Cognition & Reality Kasia M. Jaszczolt, Louis de Saussure, 2013-05-02 This book considers linguistic and mental representations of time Prominent linguists and philosophers from all over the world examine and report on recent work on the representation of temporal reference the interaction of the temporal information from tense aspect modality temporal adverbials and context and the representation of the temporal relations between events and states as well as between facts propositions sentences and utterances They link this to current research on the cognitive processing of temporal reference linguistic and philosophical semantics psychology and anthropology The book is divided into three parts Time Tense and Temporal Reference in Discourse Time and Modality and Cognition and Metaphysics of Time It will interest scholars and advanced students of time and temporal reference in linguistics philosophy anthropology psychology and cognitive science

Thinking, Childhood, and Time Walter Omar Kohan, Barbara Weber,2020-10-06 Thinking Childhood and Time Contemporary Perspectives on the Politics of Education is an interdisciplinary exploration of the notion of childhood and its place in a philosophical education Contributors consider children s experiences of time space embodiment and thinking By acknowledging Hannah Arendt s notion that every child brings a new beginning into the world they address the question of how educators can be more responsive to the Otherness that childhood offers while assuming that most educational models follow either a chronological model of child development or view children as human beings that are lacking The contributors explore childhood as a philosophical concept in children adults and even beyond human beings Childhood as a forgotten dimension of the world Contributors also argue that a pedagogy that does not aim for an exodus of childhood but rather responds to the arrival of a new human being responsibly dialogically fosters a deeper appreciation of the newness that children bring in order to sensitize us for our own Childhood as adults as well and allow us to welcome other forms of childhood in the world As a whole this book argues that the experience of natality such as the beginning of life is not chronologically determined but rather can occur more than once in a human life and beyond Scholars of philosophy education psychology and childhood studies will find this book particularly useful Scalable Compatibility for Embedded Real-time Components Via Language Progressive Timed Automata Stefan Neumann, Holger Giese,2013 The proper composition of independently developed components of an embedded real time system is complicated due to the fact that besides the functional behavior also the non functional properties and in particular the timing have to be compatible Nowadays related compatibility problems have to be addressed in a cumbersome integration and configuration phase at the end of the development process that in the worst case may fail Therefore a number of formal approaches have been developed which try to guide the upfront decomposition of the embedded real time system into components such that integration problems related to timing properties can be excluded and that suitable configurations can be found However the proposed solutions require a number of strong assumptions that can be hardly fulfilled or the required analysis does not scale well In this paper we present an approach based on timed automata that can provide the required guarantees for the later integration without strong assumptions which are difficult to match in practice The approach provides a modular reasoning scheme that permits to establish the required guarantees for the integration employing only local checks which therefore also scales It is also possible to determine potential configuration settings by means of timed game synthesis

About Time Tim Aldrich, 2017-09-08 Where does all the time go Despite the burgeoning army of machines designed to save us time from cars and aeroplanes to dishwashers and microwaves we don't seem to have any more of it on our hands We simply fill the space we clear with more things to do consuming more spending more and then look around for new ways of saving time And so we spiral onwards upwards ever faster Being busy has become a habit and a habit that gives us high status busy people are important people The business of business is busy ness We are moving from a world in which the big eats the small to a world where the fast eats the slow But the fallout from a society hooked on speed is everywhere It's affecting our health 60 per cent of the adult population in the UK report that they suffer from stress and more than half of these say that this has worsened over the last 12 months It's affecting our family life with a quarter of British families sharing a meal together only once a month And it affects our environment too air travel is a major source of carbon dioxide emissions accelerating climate change as we speed around the world And the faster we live the faster we consume the faster we waste energy and the faster we pollute the planet The faster we seem to be running out of time Is there something fundamentally wrong with the structure and values of this high speed society What are we running from and what are we running towards Sustainable development is all about time It's about trying to safeguard the health of the planet and the people it supports indefinitely unconstrained by time The idea of time offers a novel perspective on what sustainable development is all about Looking at issues affecting society and the environment through the prism of time conveys the urgency of the challenge and leads us to solutions we might not have thought of before About Time edited by the think tank Forum for the Future brings together ten of the world's leading thinkers and writers including Will Hutton Baroness Mary Warnock Sir Martin Rees Ghilleen Prance Jay Griffiths the author of the bestselling Pip Pip and Jonathon Porritt from disciplines including biology business sociology ethnography astronomy philosophy politics history and sustainability in a collection of intriguing essays exploring the issue of time and how it relates to the environment economy and society The first half of this collection looks at different dimensions of time from the history of time as a social phenomenon and cultural notions of time to cosmological time and the difference between human and machine time These think pieces are followed by a series of more practical solutions oriented contributions looking at how we deal with time in different contexts from the slow food movement and time banks to long term thinking in politics and what we can individually do to cope with the speed society Contributions are liberally interspersed with boxes and brief pieces offering bite sized facts figures and insights relating to time and our everyday lives About Time is a high profile collection aimed at creating debate about where the values of our contemporary society are taking us It will foster reflective thinking about different aspects of time using the concept of time to communicate and illuminate the idea of sustainable development and question our idolatry of speed In doing so it aims to inspire and help decision makers in business government and elsewhere to appreciate the challenges of sustainable development and inspire individuals to create change in their own lives For readers of No Logo and Longitude this book provides a thought provoking twist bringing together time and sustainability in a refreshing provocative and accessible way

Specification and Compositional Verification of Real-Time Systems Jozef Hooman,1991-11-27 The research described in this monograph concerns the formal specification and compositional verification of real time systems A real time programming language is considered in which concurrent processes communicate by synchronous message passing along unidirectional channels To specify functional and timing properties of programs two formalisms are investigated one using a real time version of temporal logic called Metric Temporal Logic and another which is based on extended Hoare triples Metric Temporal Logic provides a concise notation to express timing properties and to axiomatize the programming language whereas Hoare style formulae are especially convenient for the verification of sequential constructs For both approaches a compositional proof system has been formulated to verify that a program satisfies a specification To deduce timing properties of programs first maximal parallelism is assumed modeling the situation in which each process has its own processor Next this model is generalized to multiprogramming where several processes may share a processor and scheduling is based on priorities The proof systems are shown to be sound and relatively complete with respect to a denotational semantics of the programming language The theory is illustrated by an example of a watchdog timer

examines the topic of time in the life and works of Augustine of Hippo Adopting a global perspective on time as a philosophical and theological problem the volume includes reflections on the meaning of history the mortality of human bodies and the relationship between temporal experience and linguistic expression As Augustine himself once observed time is both familiar and surprisingly strange Everyone s days are structured by temporal rhythms and routines from watching the clock to whiling away the hours at work Few of us however take the time to sit down and figure out whether time is real or not or how it is we are able to hold our past present and future thoughts together in a straight line so that we can recite a prayer or sing a song Divided into five sections the essays collected here highlight the ongoing relevance of Augustine s work even in settings quite distinct from his own era and context The first three sections organized around the themes of interpretation language and gendered embodiment engage directly with Augustine s own writings from the Confessions to the City of God and beyond The final two sections meanwhile explore the afterlife of the Augustinian approach in conversation with medieval Islamic and Christian thinkers like Avicenna and Aquinas as well as a broad range of Buddhist figures like Dharmakirti and Vasubandhu What binds all of these diverse chapters together is the underlying sense that regardless of the century or the tradition in which we find ourselves there is something about the puzzle of temporality that refuses to go away Time as Augustine knew demands our attention This was true for him in late ancient North Africa It was also true for Buddhist thinkers in South and East Asia And it remains just as true for humankind in the twenty first century as people around the globe continue to grapple with the reality of time and the challenges of living in a world that always seems to be to be speeding up rather than slowing down
