Macmillan Language Arts Today ,1990 How Black and Working Class Children Are Deprived of Basic Education in Canada Bairu Sium,2014-04-03 This book is the culmination of twenty four years of research It explores the thematic intersections of race class immigration and the potential of building student centered classrooms Of course the building of a truly student centered is itself a slow and contested process Over the years progressive changes towards more inclusive education made by some governments were dismantled by others and have left disadvantaged children where they were before the study was launched In the meantime the system has perfected the process of streaming minority children to dead end courses that betray the social and economic mobility advertised to them This book examines the moments and positions of educational betrayal in which racialized and working class students disproportionately find themselves For many at that point the only option is to drop out of school and engage in the drug trade or other lifestyles that put them at further risk This is a longitudinal study of a kind with respect to reform and changes retained in education It started with eight months observation of a split level grade five and six classroom in September 1986 That was instrumental in identifying the uphill battle that black working class and new immigrant children and their parents were facing to secure the education they deserved Through continued reviews observation and follow up interviews change or lack of it was traced The results call for urgent overhaul of the way education is provided to all children The book ends with suggestions to effect change

Secondary Education Aubrey Augustus Douglass,1927 Language Arts for the Filipino Learners , Being Fair with Kids Jim Dueck,2020-02-10 The current practice of having children begin school within a twelve month cohort is unfair but can be ameliorated by incorporating a dual entry system Such a reform effort will dramatically reduce failure improve student achievement at all levels while reducing expenditures Many students are penalized from maximizing their academic potential simply by being born at the wrong time of the year Not only is there a significant decline in achievement for students born in the second half of the year but they also experience higher rates of failure which negatively impacts self esteem and reduces future success Meanwhile more capable students experience unfairness because of the school s extraordinary effort at helping their failing students With so much focus on the weak many strong students are held back from achieving their potential Parents agonize over when to begin their child s formal education but lack data for making
