Lansing Sallie Mossman Manassah, David Thomas, James F. Wallington, 1986 R.E. Olds and Industrial Lansing Michael J. Rodriguez, 2004 Upon the dedication of a new Capitol building in 1879 the city of Lansing was just beginning to emerge from the swampy wilderness of its recent past As industry began to take root along the banks of the Grand River Ransom Eli Olds brought his father's motor shop to national prominence with advancements in gasoline and steam engines and then horseless carriages By the early 20th century Oldsmobile became the world's first mass producer of automobiles and Olds had moved on to found a second car company making Lansing the first Auto City Through these efforts Olds rose to become one of the nation's greatest industrialists and entrepreneurs Using primary documents and historical images this book traces the industrial history of the Capital City within the context of one of the 20th century's greatest entrepreneurs R E Olds Michigan Encyclopedia Jennifer Herman, 1999-01-01 MICHIGAN ENCYCLOPEDIA is the definitive reference work on Michigan ever published The noted Michigan historian Dr Matthew Lawrence Daly Assistant Professor of History at Grand Valley State University has authored articles on Introduction to Michigan History Early History of Michigan and Michigan History These articles cover the history of Michigan from the early explorers to twenty first century events Other major sections in this reference work are Michigan Symbols and Designations Geography and Topography of Michigan Profiles of Michigan Governors Chronology of Michigan Historic Events Dictionary of Michigan Places Michigan Constitution Bibliography of Michigan Books Pictorial Scenes of Michigan State Executive Offices State Agencies Departments and Offices Michigan Senators Michigan Assembly Members U S Senators and U S Congress members from Michigan Directory of Michigan Historic Places and Index MICHIGAN ENCYCLOPEDIA contains stunning photographs and portraits to compliment the expertly written text Population charts are arranged alphabetically by city or town name and by county This allows students easy access to find population figures for their area of interest Other population charts list all places in Michigan by largest populated places to least populated places by city or county Directories contain the information on elected state and federal officials along with their contact information including mail and email addresses phone and fax numbers Easy to use reference maps are included to find your elected state or federal officials The Directory of State Services lists the head officials and full contact information on state agencies and departments some of which were just newly created by the legislature The Directory of Michigan Historic Places contains all the latest up to date information on every Michigan historic place The Bibliography includes that latest books published on Michigan A detailed Index makes the work thoroughly referential MICHIGAN ENCYCLOPEDIA offers librarians teachers and students a single source reference work that provides the answers to the most frequently asked questions about Michigan and its history Story Of Reo Joe Lisa Fine, 2008-11-20 A collision of history and memory Nothin' but Blue Skies Edward McClelland, 2013-05-21 The Upper Midwest and Great Lakes region became the arsenal of democracy the greatest manufacturing center in the world in the years during and after World War II thanks to natural advantages and a welcoming culture. Decades of unprecedented prosperity followed memorably punctuated by riots, strikes, burning rivers and oil embargoes. A vibrant quintessentially American character bloomed in the region's cities, suburbs and backwaters. But the innovation and industry that defined the Rust Belt also helped to hasten its demise. An air conditioner invented in Upstate New York transformed the South from a sweaty backwoods to a nonunionized industrial competitor. Japan and Germany recovered from their defeat to build fuel efficient cars in the stagnant 1970s. The tentpole factories that paid workers so well also filled the air with soot and poisoned waters and soil. The jobs drifted elsewhere and many of the people soon followed suit. Nothin but Blue Skies tells the story of how the country's industrial heartland grew, boomed, bottomed and hopes to be reborn. Through a propulsive blend of storytelling and reportage, celebrated writer Edward McClelland delivers the rise, fall and revival of the Rust Belt and its people. Motor, 1910

Let the Record Show Richard Frazier, David Thomas, 1997. Let the Record Show is an insightful historical examination of the practice of law in Ingham County, Michigan, home of the state's capital in Lansing. It traces the evolution and development of the Ingham County Bar Association (ICBA) beginning with a review of how European law shaped and influenced Michigan's legal system in the nineteenth century. Early chapters introduce some of Ingham County's first settlers: the Lowes, Tuttle, Montgomerys, Lindermans, Cases, Burchards, Danforths, Kilbournes and Longyears, names that would become synonymous with Michigan's legal history and court system. Richard Frazier analyzes the practice of law in Ingham County, highlighting celebrated criminal trials including the famous nineteenth century Marble murders, weaves in accounts of the lives of prominent Lansing area attorneys and judges and discusses ongoing legal changes that occurred in the twentieth century, including the reorganization of the ICBA in 1909, the end of a male dominated court and legal system, the impact of automobiles on legal proceedings as well as a discussion of the 1995 decision to relocate the Detroit School of Law to Michigan State University. Let the Record Show unravels the complex history of one of Michigan's most important legal communities. Included are histories of Lansing area legal firms and appendices containing significant original documents and several orations. Numerous photographs included in the volume add to its appeal. This timely work fills a gap in our understanding of jurisprudence in Michigan. For the Benefit of All Sandy Fugate, 1997. Michigan State College David Thomas, 2008.
