One of 'The Few' John Shipman,2008-07-15 Ted Shippy Shipman was one of The Few who flew with 41 Squadron in the Battle of Britain He left his father s farm in 1930 and enlisted in the RAF as a driver ACII He flew for thirteen years of his thirty years service achieved the highest grade of flying instructor and retired as a Wing Commander This book is based on the copious notes that Shippy wrote in the 1970s and bring a firsthand insight into the life of an RAF Spitfire pilot during the early war years and then his remaining wartime and postwar service until 1959 His career as a senior instructor included No 8 Service Flying Training School Montrose and the Central Flying School at Upavon He then went on to teach at the Flying Instructors School at Hullavington in 1942 and the Rhodesian Air Training Group between 1943 and 1945 After the war he did tours in Germany and Cyprus He was Commanding Officer at RAF Sopley Hampshire and RAF Boulmer in Northumberland until his retirement in 1959 During retirement he actively supported the Air Training Corps Battle of Britain Fighter Association and the RAF Benevolent Fund

Battle for the Channel Brian Cull,2017-08-19 10 July the official first day of the Battle of Britain witnessed increased aerial activity over the English Channel and along the eastern and southern seaboard of the British coastline The main assaults by ever increasing formations of Luftwaffe bombers escorted by Bf 109 and Bf 110 fighters were initially aimed at British merchant shipping convoys plying their trade of coal and other materials from the north of England to the southern ports These attacks often met with increasing success although RAF Spitfires and Hurricanes endeavoured to repel the Heinkel He 111s Dornier Do 17s and Junkers Ju 88s frequently with ill afforded loss in pilots and aircraft Within a month the English Channel was effectively closed to British shipping Only a change in the Luftwaffe s tactics in mid August when the main attack changed to the attempted destruction of the RAF s southern airfields allowed convoys to resume sneaking through without too greater hindrance

Aces High, Volume 2 Christopher Shores,2008-07-15 Second in the Aces High series an updated military reference of the fighter pilots who had five or more confirmed victories while serving in the RAF This volume updates the information in the first volume and adds some new names Information has been added on the pilots who gained success against the V 1 flying bombs during 1944 45 Detail is also provided on those units in which virtually all the fighter pilots served at some time or another the fighter Operational Training Units and of specialist units such as the Central Gunnery School Fighter Leader s School and Fighter Experimental Units There is also coverage of the only other conflicts in which British pilots have been able to claim victories since 1945 Korea and the Falklands Conflict There are some authors whose name alone is sufficient reason to buy a book and Christopher Shores is surely one of these By profession a chartered surveyor he served in the Royal Air Force in the 1950s so his writing bears the stamp of authenticity HistoryNet

Ben Bennions DFC Nick Thomas,2012-02-29 Ben Bennion enlisted in the pre war RAF serving first as an erk ground crew before being selected for pilot training His first posting led to service in the Middle East and Bennions s passport and other travel documents had to be rushed through A clerical error led to his name being recorded as Bennions Ben served in 41 Squadron and following their overseas tour he returned to the UK and Catterick Patrols and scrambles were common throughout the early months of the war but it was in May 1940 that 41 Squadron first saw the enemy in any number providing air cover for the retreating BEF The Dunkirk operations saw Bennions record his first combat victory he was to damage or destroy 20 plus enemy aircraft during the following months earning the DFC and becoming one of the RAF s top scorers The squadron alternated between Catterick and Hornchurch and although Bennions was afforded some rest between operational periods the front line the sorties came thick and fast particularly during the latter phases of the Battle of Britain when Bennions was flying several patrols and scramble every day His tally grew steadily His much deserved DFC was promulgated on 1 October 1940 the day he was due to begin a short period of leave However he decided to have one last crack at the enemy and during this engagement adding another Messerschmitt BF 109 to his total he was hit and forced to bale out Badly wounded in the head Bennions lost an eye and became a member of Sir Archibald McIndoe s famous Guinea Pig Club Fleet Air Arm Boys Steve Bond,2022-09-08

Helicopters have been going to sea with the Royal Navy s Fleet Air Arm for over 70 years Initially used for search and rescue SAR duties from aircraft carriers the rapid development of both the helicopters and service experience resulted in them taking on the vital anti submarine and later anti ship attack roles The 1956 Suez campaign saw the first operational use of Whirlwind helicopters for the insertion of troops by air into a battle zone a capability which was expanded with more helicopters such as the Wessex Sea King and today s Merlin Through their vital role in the 1960s Indonesian Confrontation the Commando helicopter force became universally referred to as the Junglies It is often said that if either of the 1982 Task Force aircraft carriers had been lost the Falklands War could not have been won The same would surely have been true without helicopters Their vital tasks including inserting Special Forces behind enemy lines protecting the Task Force from Exocet missile attack and recovering wounded troops whilst under enemy fire are rightly hailed as being instrumental At home the essential SAR effort by both the Royal Navy and their RAF counterparts has resulted in incredible stories of saving lives against the odds Royal Navy destroyers and frigates have also long since benefitted from having their own helicopter Flight aboard Frequently operating in extremes of weather flying a Wasp Lynx or today s Wildcat from and back to a heaving deck is every bit as risky as flying fixed wing aircraft off the carriers of old Once dismissed as a novelty the helicopter has more than proved itself Indeed for ten years until the arrival of the Queen Elizabeth class aircraft carriers the Fleet Air Arm s operational force was entirely rotary wing Today s Merlins and Wildcats with their dedicated aircrew maintenance and support staff continue to demonstrate just how vital an asset the helicopter has become Here are the words of the men and women themselves skillfully brought to life by Steve Bond and profusely illustrated in color and b w Tenderness and

Sweetness in the Shura Field. Ryan Cooper,2019-10-14 The streets are bustling neon lights flicker in the night and the electronic screenschange pictures from time to time The night view of the city is beautiful butunfortunately even if I walk through these noisy streets every day I still understandthat these superficial glammers do not belong to me The bicycle I bought from thesecond hand market has been with me for three years The jingle sound that never stopsis my only companion when I travel far away I don t feel lonely so even if it canbe repaired maybe I can t bear to let this sound disappear The place where I wentto work today is far away There is no way The salary for tutoring in this companyis very good It pays 60 yuan an hour and meals are provided I go twice a week andteach for three hours each time so I can earn 360 yuan a week So since I took thisjob I quit all other part time jobs I am already a junior If I don t study hard learn more and enhance my personal competitiveness it will be difficult to find agood job and stay in the city after graduation Especially since I am studying medicine If you want to enter a good hospital or pharmaceutical factory you must havestrong strength without connections After a big downhill the street graduallydarkened I rode my bike through a small road There were almost no pedestrians orvehicles here at night It was very quiet Every time I passed by here I felt a littledepressed Think about the family where I tutored Both parents were senior white collarworkers Needless to say the family was well off The food clothes and food of thechild were all high end goods but he just didn t study hard His parents were almostworried to death They spent a lot of money to buy him books and CDs and hired tutors

Had a Good Time Robert Olen Butler,2007-12-01 Gloriously imaginative and utterly hypnotizing short stories inspired by vintage twentieth century postcards from a Pulitzer Prize winning author Booklist starred review For many years author Robert Olen Butler has collected picture postcards from the early twentieth century not so much for the pictures on the fronts but for the messages written on the backs little bits of the captured souls of people long since passed away Using these brief messages of real people from another age Butler here creates fully imagined stories that speak to the universal human condition In Up by Heart a Tennessee miner is called upon to become a preacher and then asked to complete an altogether more sinister task In The Ironworkers Hayride a young man named Milton embarks on a romantic adventure with a girl with a wooden leg From the deeply moving Carl and I in which a young wife writes a postcard in reply to a card from her husband who is dying of tuberculosis to the eerily familiar The One in White in which a newspaper reporter covers an incident of American military adventurism in a foreign land these short stories are intimate and fascinating glimpses into the lives of ordinary people in an extraordinary age A wonderful collection The Atlantic Monthly
