The book has a broad sweep covering all facets of the Samoan arts including canoe and house building, siapo, tapa, weaving, tattooing, oratory, adornment, all forms of performance art, the visual arts, and literature. An important feature of the book is the inclusion of profiles of living practitioners both from Samoa and the large Samoan communities in other Pacific countries. This edited volume, including contributions from scholars with different areas of specialization, investigates a broad range of methodologies, ideologies, and pedagogies focusing on the study of the art of Africa using theoretical reflections and applications from primitivism to metamodernism. Chapters break the externally imposed boundaries of Africa-related works beyond the conventional fragments of traditional, contemporary, and diaspora. The contributions are significantly broad in their methodologies, ideologies, and pedagogical coverage, yet they all address various aspects of African artistic creativity, demonstrating the possibilities for analytical experiments that art history presents to scholars of the discipline today. The character of each approach is unique; nevertheless, each is useful toward a fuller understanding of African art studies as an independent aspect of art historical research that is a branch or bud of the larger family of art history. The volume respects, highlights, and celebrates the distinctiveness of each methodical approach, recognizing its contribution to the overall character or work of African art studies. The book will be of interest to students in undergraduate or graduate intermediate or advanced courses, as well as scholars in art history and African studies. Becoming Art Howard Morphy, 2020-08-28. Thirty years ago, Australian Aboriginal art was little more than a footnote to world art. Today, it is considered to be an important contemporary art movement, often promoted as being connected to a deep cultural past. Becoming Art provides a new analysis of the shifting cultural and social contexts that surround the production of Aboriginal art Transcending the boundaries between anthropology and art history the book draws on arguments from both disciplines to provide a unique interdisciplinary perspective that places the artists themselves at the centre of the argument Western art history has traditionally regarded Aboriginal art as distanced from time and place Becoming Art uses the recent history of Aboriginal art to challenge some of the presuppositions of western art discourse and western art worlds It argues for a more cross cultural perspective on world art history Ibss: Anthropology: 1975 International Committee for Social Scien,1978-08-24 First published in 1978 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company
