The Bonds of Inequality Destin Jenkins,2022-05-02 Cities require infrastructure as they grow and persist infrastructure requires funding typically from the bond market But the bond market is not a neutral player In this groundbreaking book Destin Jenkins suggests that questions of urban infrastructure are inherently also questions of justice because infrastructure requires financial mechanisms to come into being Moreover these mechanisms abstract cities into investments controlled from afar which exacerbates local inequalities of race wealth and power Ultimately Jenkins opens up far larger questions such as why it is that American social welfare is predicated on the demands of finance capitalism in the first place

The Limits of Knowledge Nancy Arden McHugh,2015-07-16 The Limits of Knowledge provides an understanding of what pragmatist feminist theories look like in practice combining insights from the work of American pragmatist John Dewey concerning experimental inquiry and transaction with arguments for situated knowledge rooted in contemporary feminism Using case studies to demonstrate some of the particular ways that dominant scientific and medical practices fail to meet the health needs of marginalized groups and communities Nancy Arden McHugh shows how transactionally situated approaches are better able to meet the needs of these communities Examples include a community action group fighting environmental injustice in Bayview Hunters Point California one of the most toxic communities in the US gender race age and class biases in the study and diagnosis of endometriosis a critique of Evidence Based Medicine the current effects of Agent Orange on Vietnamese women and children and pediatric treatment of Amish and Mennonite children
