The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies Peter Howard, Ian Thompson, Emma Waterton, Mick Atha, 2013-02-15
Landscape is a vital synergistic concept which opens up ways of thinking about many of the problems which beset our contemporary world such as climate change social alienation environmental degradation loss of biodiversity and destruction of heritage As a concept landscape does not respect disciplinary boundaries Indeed many academic disciplines have found the concept so important it has been used as a qualifier that delineates whole sub disciplines landscape ecology landscape planning landscape archaeology and so forth In other cases landscape studies progress under a broader banner such as heritage studies or cultural geography Yet it does not always mean the same thing in all of these contexts The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies offers the first comprehensive attempt to explore research directions into the many uses and meanings of landscape The Companion contains thirty nine original contributions from leading scholars within the field which have been divided into four parts Experiencing Landscape Landscape Culture and Heritage Landscape Society and Justice and Design and Planning for Landscape Topics covered range from phenomenological approaches to landscape to the consideration of landscape as a repository of human culture from ideas of identity and belonging to issues of power and hegemony and from discussions of participatory planning and design to the call for new imaginaries in a time of global and environmental crisis Each contribution explores the future development of different conceptual and theoretical approaches as well as recent empirical contributions to knowledge and understanding Collectively they encourage dialogue across disciplinary barriers and reflection upon the implications of research findings for local national and international policy in relation to landscape This Companion provides up to date critical reviews of state of the art perspectives across this multifaceted field embracing disciplines such as anthropology archaeology cultural studies geography landscape planning landscape architecture countryside management forestry heritage studies ecology and fine art It serves as an invaluable point of reference for scholars researchers and graduate students alike engaging in the field of landscape studies

Tourism Encounters and Controversies Gunnar Thór Jóhannesson, Carina Ren, van der Duim René, 2016-03-09 The multiplicity of tourism encounters provide some of the best available occasions to observe the social world and its making s Focusing on ontological politics of tourism development this book examines how different versions of tourism are enacted how encounters between different versions of tourism orderings may result in controversies but also on how these enactments and encounters are entangled in multiple ways to broader areas of development conservation policy and destination management Throughout the book encounters and controversies are investigated from a poststructuralist and relational approach as complex and emerging seeing the roles and characteristics of related actors as co constituted Inspired by post actor network theory and related research the studies include the social as well as the material but also multiplicity and ontological politics when examining controversial matters or events      The World Multiple Keiichi Omura, Grant Jun Otsuki, Shiho Satsuka, Atsuro Morita, 2018-11-06 The World Multiple as a collection is an ambitious ethnographic experiment in understanding how the world is experienced and generated in multiple ways through people's everyday practices. Against the dominant assumption that the world is a single universal reality that can only be known by modern expert science, this book argues that worlds are worlded; they are socially and materially crafted in multiple forms in everyday practices involving humans, landscapes, animals, plants, fungi, rocks, and other beings. These practices do not converge to a singular knowledge of the world but generate a world multiple, a world that is more than one integrated whole yet less than many fragmented parts. The book brings together authors from Europe, Japan, and North America in conversation with ethnographic material from Africa, the Americas, and Asia in order to explore the possibilities of the world multiple to reveal new ways to intervene in the legacies of colonialism, imperialism, and capitalism that inflict damage on humans and nonhumans. The contributors show how the world is formed through interactions among techno-scientific, vernacular, local, and indigenous practices and examine the new forms of politics that emerge out of them. Engaged with recent anthropological discussions of ontologies, the Anthropocene, and multi-species ethnography, the book addresses the multidimensional realities of people's lives and the quotidian politics they entail.

Unfamiliar Landscapes Thomas Aneurin Smith, Hannah Pitt, Ria Ann Dunkley, 2022-06-16 This book critically interrogates how young people are introduced to landscapes through environmental education, outdoor recreation, and youth-led learning, drawing on diverse examples of green, blue, outdoor, or natural landscapes. Understanding the relationships between young people and unfamiliar landscapes is vital for young people's current and future education and wellbeing, but how landscapes and young people are socially constructed as unfamiliar is controversial and contested. Young people are constructed as unfamiliar within certain landscapes along lines of race, gender, or class; this book examines the cultures of outdoor learning that perpetuate exclusions and inclusions and how unfamiliarity is encountered, experienced, constructed, and reproduced. This interdisciplinary text, drawing on Human Geography, Education, Leisure and Heritage Studies, and Anthropology, challenges commonly held assumptions about how and why young people are educated in unfamiliar landscapes. Practice is at the heart of this book, which features three conversations with practitioners who draw on their personal and professional experiences. The chapters are organised into five themes: 1. The unfamiliar outdoors, 2. The unfamiliar past, 3. Embodying difference in unfamiliar landscapes, 4. Being well and being unfamiliar, and 5. Digital and sonic encounters with unfamiliarity. Educational practitioners, researchers, and students will find this book essential for taking forward more inclusive outdoor and youth-led education.

The Place of Landscape Jeff Malpas, 2011-05-27 Interdisciplinary perspectives on landscape from the philosophical to the geographical, with an emphasis on the overarching concept of place. This volume explores the conceptual topography of landscape. It examines the character of landscape as itself a mode of place, as well as the modes of place that appear in relation to landscape. Leading scholars from a range of disciplines explore the concept of landscape, including its supposed relation to the spectatorial, its character as time-space, its relation to indigenous notions of country and its liminality They examine landscape as it appears within a variety of contexts from geography through photography and garden history to theology and more specific studies look at the forms of landscape in medieval landscape painting film and television and in relation to national identity The essays demonstrate that the study of landscape cannot be restricted to any one genre cannot be taken as the exclusive province of any one discipline and cannot be exhausted by any single form of analysis What the place of landscape now evokes is itself a wide ranging terrain encompassing issues concerning the nature of place of human being in place and of the structures that shape such being and are shaped by it

The Solace of Fierce Landscapes: Exploring Desert and Mountain Spirituality Belden C. Lane, 2007-01-25 In the tradition of Kathleen Norris Terry Tempest Williams and Thomas Merton The Solace of Fierce Landscapes explores the impulse that has drawn seekers into the wilderness for centuries and offers eloquent testimony to the healing power of mountain silence and desert indifference Interweaving a memoir of his mothers long struggle with Alzheimers and cancer meditations on his own wilderness experience and illuminating commentary on the Christian via negativa a mystical tradition that seeks God in the silence beyond language Lane rejects the easy affirmations of pop spirituality for the harsher but more profound truths that wilderness can teach us There is an unaccountable solace that fierce landscapes offer to the soul They heal as well as mirror the brokenness we find within It is this apparent paradox that lies at the heart of this remarkable book that inhuman landscapes should be the source of spiritual comfort Lane shows that the very indifference of the wilderness can release us from the demands of the endlessly anxious ego teach us to ignore the inessential in our own lives and enable us to transcend the false self that is ever obsessed with managing impressions Drawing upon the wisdom of St John of the Cross Meister Eckhardt Simone Weil Edward Abbey and many other Christian and non Christian writers Lane also demonstrates how those of us cut off from the wilderness might make some desert in our lives Written with vivid intelligence narrative ease and a gracefulness that is itself a comfort The Solace of Fierce Landscapes gives us not only a description but a performance of an ancient and increasingly relevant spiritual tradition
