the usual emphasis on strategic and national issues of war in the interest of theorizing aspects of war from the point of view of individual experience be the individual a combatant a casualty a supporter opponent recorder veteran distant viewer an international lawyer an ethicist or other intellectual This volume presents essays that push the boundaries of war studies and war thinking without promoting one kind of theory or methodology for studying war as experiential politics but with an eye to exploring the possibilities and encouraging others to take up the new agenda It includes new and challenging thinking on humanitarianism and war new wars in the Third World gender and war thinking and the sense of the body within war that inspires recent UN resolutions It also gives examples that can change our understanding of who is located where doing what with respect to war women warriors in Sierra Leone war survivors living with their memories and even an artist drawing something seemingly intangible about war the arms trade The unique aspect of this book is its purposive pulling together of foci and theoretical and methodological perspectives from a number of disciplines on a variety of contemporary wars Arguably war is an activity that engages the attention the politics and the lives of many people To theorize it with those lives and perspectives in mind recognizing the political contexts of war is long overdue This inter disciplinary book will be of much interest to students of war studies critical security studies gender studies sociology and IR in general Journals of the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the State of New Hampshire New Hampshire. Made strange ,1993 The Age of Spectacle Tom Dyckhoff,2017-04-20 A great storyteller you would be hard pushed to find a more knowledgeable or entertaining guide Icon Such an interesting book I cannot recommend it enough Lauren Laverne In Dubai a luxury apartment block is built in the shape of a giant iPod In China President Xi Jinping denounces the trend of constructing bizarre new buildings in wacky shapes and colours In Cincinnati celebrity architect Zaha Hadid is paid millions to design a single iconic structure with the hope of single handedly transforming the region s ailing fortunes These incidents are all part of the same story the rise of the age of spectacle Over the last fifty years there has been a revolution in how our cities operate In The Age of Spectacle Tom Dyckhoff tells the story of how architecture became obsessed with the flashy the monumental and the ostentatious and how we all have to live with the consequences Exploring cityscapes from New York to Beijing and from Bilbao to Portsmouth Dyckhoff shows that we are not just witnessing a new kind of building we are living through a fundamental transformation in how our urban spaces work The corporate explosion of the last few decades has fundamentally shifted the relationship between architects politicians and cities inhabitants fostering innovative new kinds of engineering and design but also facilitating ill conceived vanity projects and commercial power grabs Timely passionate and bursting with new ideas The Age of Spectacle is both an examination of how twenty first century cities work and a manifesto for a radically new kind of urbanism Our cities Dyckhoff shows can thrive in the age of spectacle but only if they engage us not just with dazzling structures but by responding to the needs of the people who inhabit them Engaging The iconic building is the most obvious architectural phenomenon of our age yet somehow no one has quite done what Tom

Dyckhoff does with The Age of Spectacle which is to tell its story clearly and plainly Rowan Moore Observer First class Finally a book that nails the iconic movement Tom Dyckhoff's The Age of Spectacle is the book that I wish I had written Simon Jenkins Unusually accessible and well argued Evening Standard

Cases Decided in the Court of Session, Teind Court, Court of Exchequer and House of Lords Scotland. Court of Session, 1825 Exploring Site-specific Art Judith Rugg, 2010-02-28 Over recent years a greater diversity of spaces has opened up worldwide for the making and display of art beyond the gallery A new space consciousness has developed with an emphasis on the significance of the spatial Judith Rugg takes up a range of site specific artworks internationally located in countries ranging from China to France Italy and the UK Argentina and Canada to Australia Poland and the Netherlands to explore the relationships between site specific art and space set within its globalising contexts Through close inspection of works such as artists as Doris Salcedo Langlands and Bell Phyllida Barlow and Vong Phaophanit Rugg considers how an interdisciplinary spatial theory can inform many elements of contemporary art In clear illustrated chapters she engages with very contemporary spatial issues including those of the environment cultural identity and belonging as well as experiences of displacement migration and marginalisation and the effects of urbanization and tourism For students and practitioners of fine arts art theory and history as well as those who are fascinated by site specific art this is an original and challenging exploration

Blueprint, 1999 A Digest of the Law of Scotland with special reference to the office and duties of a justice of the peace Hugh BARCLAY, 1852 The Artist at Home Imogen Racz, Jill Journeaux, 2024-01-11 Artists have worked from home for many reasons including care duties financial or political constraints or availability and proximity to others From the home studios of Charles and Ray Eames to the different photographic representations of Robert Rauschenberg's studio this book explores the home as a distinct site of artistic practice and the traditions and developments of the home studio as concept and space throughout the 20th and into the 21st century Using examples from across Europe and the Anglophone world between the mid 20th century and the present each chapter considers the different circumstances for working at home the impact on the creative lives of the artists their identities as artists and on the work itself and how sometimes these were projected and promoted through photographs and the media Key themes include the gendered and performative aspects of women practising at home collaborative studio communities of the 1970s 90s including the appropriation of abandoned spaces in East London and the effects of Covid on artistic practices and family life within the spaces of home The book comprises full length chapters by artists architects art and design historians each of whom bring different perspectives to the issues interwoven with short interviews with artists to enrich and broaden the debates At a time when individual relationships to home environments have been radically altered The Artist at Home considers why some artists in previous decades either needed to or chose to work from home producing work of vitality and integrity Tracing this long tradition into the present the book will provide a deeper understanding of how the home studio has affected the practices and identity of artists working in different countries and in different circumstances from the mid 20th century to the present Constructing Communities in Vergil's Aeneid Tedd A. Wimperis, 2024-01-03 Constructing Communities in Vergil's Aeneid: Cultural Memory, Identity, and Ideology presents a new examination of memory, ethnic identity, and politics within the fictional world of this Roman epic, drawing previously unexplored connections between Vergil's characters, settings, and narrative and the political context of the early Roman Empire. This book investigates how the Aeneid's fictive ethnic communities—the Trojans, Carthaginians, Latins, and Arcadians—who populate its poetic world are shown to have identities, myths, and cultural memories of their own. And much like their real-life Roman counterparts, they engage in the politics of the past in such contexts as royal iconography, diplomacy, public displays, and incitements to war. Where previous studies of identity and memory in the Aeneid have focused on the poem's constructions of Roman identity, Constructing Communities turns the spotlight onto the characters themselves to show how the world inside the poem is replicating, as if in miniature, real forms of contemporary political and cultural discourse reflecting an historical milieu where appeals to Roman identity were vigorously asserted in political rhetoric. The book applies this evidence to a broad literary analysis of the Aeneid as well as a reevaluation of its engagement with Roman imperial ideology in the Age of Augustus.
