Language Awareness in the Classroom Carl James,Peter Garrett,Christopher N. Candlin,2014-06-06 Language Awareness in the Classroom addresses the central educational question of the impact that explicit language knowledge has on learning and language learning A substantial Introduction defines the issues and key concepts and relates them to contemporary educational policy and practice in Europe and internationally The papers are organised into four thematic sections the extent and nature of language awareness in teacher education school based language awareness programmes tertiary education initiatives and modes of evaluation of language awareness programmes

The Routledge Handbook of African Linguistics Augustine Agwuele,Adams Bodomo,2018-03-09 The Handbook of African Linguistics provides a holistic coverage of the key themes subfields approaches and practical application to the vast areas subsumable under African linguistics that will serve researchers working across the wide continuum in the field Established and emerging scholars of African languages who are active and current in their fields are brought together each making use of data from a linguistic group in Africa to explicate a chosen theme within their area of expertise and illustrate the practice of the discipline in the continent

Education and Ethno-Politics Kelsey Shanks,2015-11-19 The Iraqi Disputed Territories consist of 15 districts stretching across four northern governorates While an administrative solution for the disputed territories remains evasive minority groups across the region have been pulled into a clash over demographic composition as each disputed district faces ethnically defined claims Meanwhile inter ethnic communal tensions are rising and questions of identity increasingly overshadow day to day life There has been little research on the impact of heightened identity politics on the everyday lives of citizens Regardless of the final administrative outcome the multi ethnic population of the region requires services and systems of co existence and in the fragile ethno political environment of the disputed territories the way in which the education system manages ethnic diversity is crucial. It is within this context that Education and Ethno Politics examines the development of education systems across the region post 2003. Drawing on over 50 interviews with regional education officials and community representatives, the book presents the impact of amplified ethno politics on the reconstruction of education in Iraq. It provides the first academic exploration into education in the region, exploring the significance of cultural reproduction and the link between demands for ethnically specific education, societal security, and the wider political contestation over the territory. A comprehensive analysis of the powerful role of education in identity-based conflicts, this book offers a highly insightful examination of Iraq's past and present, as well as formulating policy recommendations for its future. It is an essential resource for students, scholars, and policy makers with focus on the Middle East, specifically Iraqi and Kurdish studies, as well as those interested in Education policy and Conflict studies.

Narrative, Identity, and Academic Community in Higher Education Brian Attebery, John Gribas, Mark K McBeth, Paul Sivitz, Kandi Turley-Ames, 2017-03-16

Grounded in narrative theory, this book offers a case study of a liberal arts college's use of narrative to help build identity, community, and collaboration within the college faculty across a range of disciplines including history, psychology, sociology, theatre, and dance, literature, anthropology, and communication. Exploring issues of methodology and their practical application, this narrative project speaks to the construction of identity for the liberal arts in today's higher education climate. Narrative Identity and Academic Community focuses on the ways a cross-disciplinary emphasis on narrative can impact institutions in North America and contribute to the discussion of strategies to foster bottom-up, faculty-driven collaboration and innovation.

Communicating Across Cultures, First Edition Stella Ting-Toomey, 2012-04-11

From high-level business negotiations to casual conversations among friends, every interpersonal interaction is shaped by cultural norms and expectations. Seldom is this more clearly brought to light than in encounters between people from different cultural backgrounds, when dissimilar communication practices may lead to frustration and misunderstanding. This thought-provoking text presents a new framework for understanding the impact of culture on communication and for helping students build intercultural communication competence. With illustrative examples from around the globe, the book shows that verbal and nonverbal communication involves much more than transmitting a particular message; it also reflects each participant's self-image, group identifications, and values, and privacy and relational needs. Readers learn to move effectively and appropriately through a wide range of transcultural situations by combining culture-specific knowledge with mindful listening and communication skills. Throughout, helpful tables and charts and easy-to-follow guidelines for putting concepts into practice enhance the book's utility for students.

Comparing Cultures, 2004-04-01

Culture explains much of the behavioral and institutional differences around the globe. In social science, there are many ways of framing cultural diversities. This book brings together authors with a classic status in the field of comparative cultural studies on one overarching theme: what are the relevant differences and similarities of contemporary cultural dimensions with which countries, organizations, and people can be compared This book is the first publication available in which the cultural divisions of the world are compared and confronted In the first part of the book classic authors reflect on each others key work and assess the main overlap and distinction The book next provides insight in frontline academic work from a wide range of countries and social science disciplines dealing with the classic status cultural dimensions aimed at addressing contemporary key issues Culture and Group Processes Masaki Yuki, Marilynn Brewer, 2014 Patterns of group behavior and underlying psychological processes are shaped within specific cultural contexts and cultures emerge in group based interactions Culture and Group Processes the inaugural volume of the Frontiers of Culture and Psychology series is the first edited book on this rapidly emerging topic

More and More Equal Nancy E. Berg, 2005-01-01 More and More Equal examines the works of Sami Michael the most significant Israeli writer who has made the transition from Arabic to Hebrew Born in Baghdad Michael fled in 1948 to Iran and later to Israel to escape imprisonment or execution due to his involvement with the Iraqi Communist Party Early in his career Michael was deemed merely an ethnic writer but his incredible popular success and indelible influence on his Israeli audience have forced critics to consider his writings anew Nancy E Berg sheds light on Michael s belated canonization and traces his development as a storyteller Berg offers fresh readings of each of Michael s major novels She shows us that by questioning and exploring Israeli and Jewish identity via characters otherwise rare in Hebrew literature non European immigrants Sephardis and Arabs Michael has recast the Zionist master narrative Berg notes that Michael s rise to literary prominence owes not only to his growing sophistication as a writer but also to changing norms and attitudes in Israeli society

Mendoza, 2002 First Published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Social Production of Indifference Michael Herzfeld, 1993-10 In this fascinating book Michael Herzfeld argues that modern bureaucratically regulated societies are no more rational or less symbolic than the societies traditionally studied by anthropologists Drawing primarily on the example of modern Greece and utilizing other European materials he suggests that we cannot understand national bureaucracies divorced from local level ideas about chance personal character social relationships and responsibility He points out that both formal regulations and day to day bureaucratic practices rely heavily on the symbols and language of the moral boundaries between insiders and outsiders a ready means of expressing prejudice and of justifying neglect It therefore happens that societies with proud traditions of generous hospitality may paradoxically produce at the official level some of the most calculated indifference one can find anywhere Words on the Web Simon Shurville, Lynn Pemberton, 2000-12-01 Recent developments in technology have made this a crucial moment for those people studying language behaviour This book places the reader at the heart of the investigations into what happens when people use language to communicate via computers New communication technologies video conferencing email and the World Wide Web have provided a whole new range of ways to interact with others and students can now observe the emergence and rapid development of linguistic and social conventions for using these media The studies in this volume consider what people say when interacting with others via new technologies and the ways in which we mould and combine the written the spoken and the non verbal in order to express ourselves effectively within the confines of the new media available to us The breadth of activities covered here is extensive including informal activities such as email and chat room use educational uses of CMC for collaborative learning and language practice integration of CMC into formal work practice for instance in an ambulance dispatch centre The scope of the book ranges from Conversation Analysis to Genre Theory and from Social Psychology to Politeness Theory There is much to contemplate for both designers of new communication as well as those commissioning and buying these technologies for our homes schools and workplaces The collection of work here has been edited to recognise the range of disciplines looking to this field and is of direct interest to any linguist psychologist or other social scientist working in the study of human communication
