Language In The Blood:

The Language of Blood Jane Jeong Trenka, 2003 An adoptee's search for identity takes her on a journey from Minnesota to Korea and back as she seeks to resolve the dualities that have long defined her life Korean born American raised never fully belonging to either For years Korean adoptee Jane Jeong Trenka tried to be the ideal daughter She was always polite earned perfect grades and excelled as a concert pianist She went to church with her American family in small town Minnesota and learned not to ask about the mother who had given her away Then while she was far from home on a music scholarship living in a big city for the first time one of her fellow university students began to follow her his obsession ultimately escalating into a plot for her murder In radiant prose that ranges seamlessly from pure lyricism to harrowing realism Trenka recounts repeated close encounters with her stalker and the years of repressed questions that her ordeal awakened Determined not to be defined by her stalker's twisted assessment of her worth she struck out in search of her own identity free of western stereotypes of geishas and good girls Doing so however meant confronting her American family and fighting the bureaucracy at the agency that had arranged for her adoption
