PLA Influence on China's National Security Policymaking Phillip C. Saunders, Andrew Scobell, 2015-09-09 In recent years there have been reports of actions purportedly taken by People's Liberation Army PLA units without civilian authorization and of Chinese Communist Party CCP civilian leaders seeking to curry favor with the military suggesting that a nationalistic and increasingly influential PLA is driving more assertive Chinese policies on a range of military and sovereignty issues To many experienced PLA watchers however the PLA remains a party army that is responsive to orders from the CCP PLA Influence on China's National Security Policymaking seeks to assess the real relationship between the PLA and its civilian masters by moving beyond media and pundit speculation to mount an in depth examination and explanation of the PLA's role in national security policymaking After examining the structural factors that shape PLA interactions with the Party State the book uses case studies to explore the PLA's role in foreign policy crises It then assesses the PLA's role in China's territorial disputes and in military interactions with civilian government and business exploring the military's role in China's civil military integration development strategy The evidence reveals that today's PLA does appear to have more influence on purely military issues than in the past but much less influence on political issues and to be more actively engaged in policy debates on mixed civil military issues where military equities are at stake
