Adult Learning Disabilities and ADHD: Research-Informed Assessment Robert L. Mapou, 2009 What is a disability What is a learning disability Research on learning disabilities in adults Research on ADHD in adults Research informed assessment of learning disabilities and ADHD Client feedback and documentation Accommodations and interventions Case illustrations

Language Handicaps in Adults William Hughes Perkins, 1983 Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), Language Handicaps in Adults William H. Perkins, 1983-01-01 The Health and Social Needs of Young Adults with

Physical Disabilities Andrew Thomas, Martin Bax, Diane Smyth, 1989 This book addresses a topic that has received surprisingly little attention to date the health and social needs of young adults with physical disabilities Following an extensive review of the contemporary literature on the subject the authors report an in depth study on a large sample of physically disabled 18 to 25 year olds living in two survey areas one urban and one semirural The study which included pediatric examinations and interviews by a social psychologist found that a large proportion of subjects face social and medical problems for instance They have serious health needs that are not being met by the statutory services they left school with less than adequate skills to enable them to lead an independent adult life they are without a daytime occupation or attend day centers that are described as unstimulating places they do not receive all the financial benefits to which they are entitled they are isolated from their peers and lack the social skills to interact with others in a positive and successful way Parents and guardians were also found to receive little physical or emotional support These findings underline the need for a better system of providing and coordinating services for this client group and the authors call for the formation within each local health authority area of an Adult Disability Service that would have a clinical and planning role in terms of health care and that would act as a linchpin in the coordination of health educational social and voluntary services Although this work relates specifically to service provision in the United Kingdom it is felt that the conclusions and recommendations are also broadly applicable to the situation in other countries

Working with Bilingual Language Disability Deirdre M. Duncan, 2013-12-20 The decision to write this book was taken by a group of practising speech therapists who worked with bilingually language handicapped children in the UK They formed a professional interest group called the Specific Interest Group in Bilingualism because of the need felt by speech therapists to have some forum for discussing the challenges posed by the assessment and treatment of the bilingually language handicapped In these regular discussion groups it became clear that similar experiences were encountered by all speech therapists working with these client populations up and down the country They centred on managing the linguistic diversity the need for developmental language information the need for appropriate assessment protocols the recruitment of bilingual staff and appreciating the positive perspective of working in this field In the UK the range of languages is extensive Italian Spanish Portuguese Greek Turkish Polish Ukrainian Hong Kong Chinese Vietnamese Chinese Creole Black English Bengali Gujarati and Panjabi cover the main ethnolinguistic groups In the

1987 ILEA language census over 140 languages were recorded as being spoken in London      Community Occupational Therapy with Mentally Handicapped Adults Debbie Isaac, 2013-12-20 The philosophy of normalization and promotion of the plight of children and adults with mental handicaps has drawn more public attention in recent years Governments in a number of countries have embarked upon policies involving the closure of institutions movement of people with mental handicaps back into the community and development of community orientated programmes although their reasons for this may be economically rather than ideologically motivated Occupational therapists have moved into the community along with other health professionals in order to set up community services for people with mental handicaps My own experience of working in a multidisciplinary team in Central London for 2V2 years helping adults with mental handicaps to move out of an institution has been a source of motivation to write this book The amount of written material available on the occupational therapy approach to resettlement and deinstitutionalization is limited in comparison with the massive amount of information written by and for other practitioners Additionally the number of texts written by and for occupational therapists with this client group are few Despite excellent support from OT colleagues I experienced considerable frustration trying to define and perform my role not helped by a shortage of texts to draw on      Adult Learning Edward Lee Thorndike, Elsie Oschrein Bregman, John Warren Tilton, Ella Woodyard, 1928      Intervention Planning for Adults with Communication Problems Harriet B. Klein, Nelson Moses, 1999 This adult centered book meets the demand for the problem solving and decision making process involved with clinical intervention planning for adult communication problems Readers are introduced to theories of learning rehabilitation that apply specifically to treatment of adult communication problems The book also offers suggestions on how to make management decisions at three major points in the intervention      National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1984      Handbook of Neurodevelopmental and Genetic Disorders in Adults Sam Goldstein, Cecil R. Reynolds, 2005-08-24 While neurodevelopmental and genetic disorders are often diagnosed in childhood understanding and managing the impact of these conditions is a lifelong challenge This authoritative handbook presents cutting edge knowledge to guide effective assessment and treatment throughout the adult years Illuminated are the neurobiological bases and clinical characteristics of a broad range of conditions that affect learning and behavior as well as physical functioning and health Following a consistent format chapters comprehensively describe the developmental course of each disorder the changing needs of adults and ways to help them harness their strengths      The Annual Review of Adult Learning and Literacy, Volume 3 John Comings, Barbara Garner, Cristine Smith, 2002-02-07 This unique publication is written for practitioners in the field of adult learning and literacy This third volume in the series from the National Center for the Study of Adult Learning and Literacy NCSALL This is a collection of the best new knowledge and practice in the field and includes an introduction by the editors and six articles by distinguished writers and practitioners as well as reviews of the best books and key journal articles published in the past year      Special Report , 1979      Departments of Labor and Health,
