

LANGUAGE VERSUS LITERATURE

Language is an abstract system of symbols and meanings governed by grammatical rules.

Language is both spoken and written.

Language was the first to come into being.

Language studies rules and structure; it is more technical than literature.

Literature refers to written works, especially those considered to be of superior or lasting artistic value.

Literature mostly studies written work.

Literature cannot exist without language.

Literature studies the work and styles of different authors; it is a more aesthetic subject.

Language Literature:

Language, Literature and Education in Multicultural Societies Kenneth Harrow, Kizitus Mpoche, 2009-10-02 This book presents a vivid overview of linguistic literary and educational issues in a multicultural context from various perspectives. These range from large scale surveys to specific analyses on aspects of language literature and education. Contributions are very original and based on a common denominator Multiculturalism. Despite the numerical dominance of contributions from Cameroon, one of the most multilingual countries in the world, this book brings together views from specialists in the different domains from several parts of the world: Africa, Europe and the United States of America. These contributions exhibit not theoretical issues that underpin current academic debates in linguistic and literary research but also empirical and interesting data that can further be exploited to other ends. Critical views on literature and postcolonialism, the fears of language death with the advent of globalisation and the spread of English language, the educational significance or influence of the internet, the wealth of Cameroon African literature and the education of the Cameroonian African child and theoretical issues in language and literary education are themes handled here in an accessible manner to readers without previous knowledge of language science, literature and education.

Literature in Language Education Geoff Hall, 2015-07-06 A state of the art critical review of research into literature in language education of interest to teachers of English and modern foreign languages. Includes prompts and principles for those who wish to improve their own practice or to engage in projects or research in this area. The Language of Literature McDougal Littell, 2001

Sub-Saharan Political Cultures of Deceit in Language, Literature, and the Media, Volume I Esther Mavengano, Isaac Mhute, 2023-11-18 This two volume set charts a cross disciplinary discursive terrain that proffers rich insights about deceit in contemporary postcolonial Sub Saharan African politics. In an attempt to produce a nuanced and multi faceted academic dialoguing platform, the two volumes have a particular focus on the aspects of treachery, fear of difference, oppositional politics and discourses, semiotics of mis self representation. The major aim of the proposed volumes is to contribute toward the often problematised conversations about the unfolding post colonial Sub Saharan world which is topical in decolonial and Pan African studies. The volumes seek to place political thinking and postcolonial political systems under the scholarly gaze with the view to highlight and enhance the participation of African cross disciplinary scholarship in the postcolonial political processes of the continent. Most significantly, it is through such probing of the limitations of our own disciplinary perspectives which can help us appreciate the complexity of the postcolonial Sub Saharan African politics. The first volume uses Zimbabwe as a case study while the second volume broadens to examine postcolonial politics in Sub Saharan Africa more broadly.

Language Acts and Worldmaking, 2022-02-17 Collectively authored by the Language Acts and Worldmaking team, this defining volume offers reflective narratives on research theory and practice over the course of the flagship project of the same name funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council's Open World Research Initiative.
